VILLA FORCES GROW

Bandit Establishes a New Base to Recruit His Army

SAYS HERRERA HAS NOT JOINED VILLA

Rumored Desertion of Carranza Commander With 2,000 Troops Flatly Denied from Mexico City.

TORREON REVOLT ADDS TO GRAVE SITUATION

Galveston, Tex., March 23.—Gen. Luis Herrera is conducting active military operations against the Villa forces and has not gone over to the bandit leader, according to a cablegram from Mexico City, received by the Mexican consulate here today.

SITUATION VERY GRAVE.

El Paso, Texas, March 23.—Francisco Villa has established a base to the west of Nampiqua to organize his command and recruit new men for his army, it was reported here today.

At this new base it was said Villa would lay plans to operate with the force of Gen. Luis Herrera, who is understood to have renounced the de facto government. The American army has at Columbus has had no news of Villa for more than two days.

Occasions Grave Concern.

Gen. Luis Herrera, until recently in command of the Carranza garrison at Chihuahua City, is said to be moving northwestward to effect a juncture with Villa and this, in connection with the report that the Carranza garrison at Torreon had revolted, has occasioned grave concern among the American army officers in El Paso.

Villa men augmented by the command of Gen. Herrera said to number 2,000 might be in a position to interrupt the line of communication between the advanced base of American forces at Casas Grandes and the base at Columbus. An early agreement with the Carranza government for permission to use Mexican railway lines is greatly desired by army officers. The main base would then be transferred from Columbus to El Paso, and the Mexican Northwestern railway could be used to ship men and supplies to Casas Grandes.

No Confirmation of Report.

There is no confirmation of a report that Colonel Cano, of Carranza's army, has joined forces with Villa. All was quiet in Juarez early today and street car service, which was suspended last night, for fear of trouble in that Mexican city, was resumed. The "road bridges, however, are still under guard.

Not only was it accepted here as definite that Herrera had declared against both Carranza and the United States but it was asserted with equal confidence that Torreon is also in the hands of the Villa forces and that all northern Mexico is seething with open rebellion against the de facto government.

Drastic Steps Planned.

So grave was the situation regarded here that the military authorities planned today drastic steps to relieve all Mexicans in El Paso of any arms they might have concealed in their homes and enforce what would be practically martial law in "little" Chihuahua, the heart of El Paso's Mexican section.

All night long El Paso waited for the warning whistles which would tell that the expected outbreak had occurred. Three hundred soldiers with machine gun detachments waited under arms for any emergency and the police reserves equipped with rifles, were also held ready. Again and again rumors ran through the town that shooting had been heard in Juarez, but each time they proved baseless.

It is understood that government officials here have sent to Washington a recommendation couched in the strongest terms urging that steps be taken to disarm all Mexicans along the border, taking the right of forcible entry and search if necessary.

Up to the present, it is said the Washington authorities opposed such a step on the ground that it would

BULLETIN.

Washington, March 23.—Elesio Arredondo, General Carranza's ambassador here, presented to Secretary Lansing today a dispatch from Consul Garcia, at El Paso, denying entirely that General Herrera had revolted with the Chihuahua garrison and joined Villa.

BULLETIN.

Washington, March 23.—General Funston today asked for eight more aeroplanes. He wants four to go to Columbus to fly with Brigadier General Pershing's column, and four others to be sent to his headquarters at Fort Sam Houston to be held for emergency.

misinterpreted by the Mexicans as violation against them and in violation of their rights. It is now insisted by the local authorities that the time has passed for any delicacy in handling the situation. It is pointed out that no American is permitted to enter Mexico armed and there has been a far greater laxity on this side of the border than was desirable.

Very Sinister Aspect.

The situation in Juarez remains mostly a subject of conjecture with such information as is obtainable bearing a decidedly sinister aspect. It is known that a bitter feud exists between the mayor, Manuel Prieto, and the military commander, Gen. Gavira. Prieto is a staunch Carranza supporter, while Gavira is devoted to the interests of Gen. Obregon, Carranza's minister of war, but who at the same time is known to be bitterly hostile to the first chief's program especially as it relates to cooperation with Americans. Gavira troops are divided between Obregonistas and former Villistas.

Whatever may happen in Juarez there is no supposition here that any attack would be made on El Paso from the other side of the river, but there is the greatest apprehension that an outbreak on one side would be followed by an outbreak on the other. There are about 35,000 Mexicans in this city out of a total population of 71,000.

Try to Forestall Trouble.

The military and civil authorities have made vigorous efforts to forestall trouble by arresting every Mexican who was suspected of inciting their fellow-countrymen against Americans. That such a system, apparently organized, has been carried on for some time has been well known. Numerous arrests have been made, especially among the Villista colony, which is quite large.

The most important arrest made last night was that of Melchor Herrera, brother of Gen. Luis Herrera. Herrera was arrested as he crossed the international bridge after a conference with Gen. Gavira at Juarez. According to the police they have proof that a plot had virtually been perfected by Herrera and his associates to start

DISTANCES GREAT EVEN IN MEXICO

El Paso, March 23.—American soldiers may find there are some great distances in Mexico. Here are figures on some: Brownsville to Laredo, 225 miles; Laredo to Del Rio, 150 miles; Del Rio to El Paso, 350 miles; El Paso to Bixbee, 225 miles; Bixbee to Yuma, 300 miles. Distances by railroad: El Paso to Chihuahua, 472 miles; Chihuahua to Torreon, 735 miles; from Mexico City to Vera Cruz, 264 miles.

BOTH BRITISH AND NEUTRALS HARD HIT French Still Clinging to Little Hill in the Verdun Region.

Today's War News Given in Summary

The French are still clinging to a part of the little hill of Haucourt, southwest of Malancourt, on which the Germans gained a footing last night in an attack along the front between Avocourt wood and Malancourt, northwest of Verdun.

Paris announced today that the German infantry attacks in this sector were not resumed during the night and even the fire of heavy artillery diminished in violence. The bombardment east of the Meuse was continued with undiminished intensity. The persistence with which the Germans are pounding the French positions near Vaux and Dambloup, in this region, indicates they probably are preparing for new attempts to break through in the sector where their lines have been pushed nearest to the heart of the stronghold. Besides striving hard against German positions along the Drina and below Dvinsk, on the northern end of the Russian line, where Petrograd declares some successes have been scored, the Russians are displaying notable activity in Galicia. The Austrians report lively artillery fire along the front there, with infantry advances at some points. These are declared to have been repulsed.

Sinking of the Norwegian bark Lindfield, of 2,276 tons, bound from Portland, Ore., for United Kingdom ports, is announced from London. Thirty members of the crew were rescued. Another vessel sunk was the French bark Bougainville, of 2,248 tons. From this ship 23 of the crew were picked up.

London, March 23.—(4:02 p. m.)—The British steamship Sea Serpent has been sunk. She was a vessel of 902 tons gross and was built in 1898. She was 225 feet long, 33 feet beam and 12 feet deep. The vessel was owned by C. F. Leach and company, of London.

Lloyds reports that the French bark Bougainville has been sunk. Twenty-three members of her crew were picked up. The Bougainville sailed from San Francisco, August 21 last, for London and was last reported as having sailed from Falmouth in February. She was owned in Nantes, where she was built in 1902. Her gross tonnage was 2,248.

The Norwegian steamship Kannik was sunk Wednesday night, according to a dispatch to Lloyds from Havre. The crew was saved. It is reported unofficially that the Gallipoli light ship at the mouth of the Thanes was not torpedoed as was reported yesterday by Lloyds, but has been withdrawn from its station.

The Norwegian bark Lindfield has been rescued and aboard the Norwegian bark Sivas, which is approaching Queenstown. The Lindfield was of 2,276 tons gross and owned by the Lindfield Steamship

PRESIDENT GOES TO SEE OCULIST

Philadelphia, Pa., March 23.—President Wilson paid a brief visit to Philadelphia today to consult his oculist. His eyes have been troubling him slightly recently. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson.

The president's arrival here was delayed by a hot box on the engine of his special train, which developed at Perryville, Md., and caused a wait of thirty minutes on a siding while another engine was being hurried from Havre de Grace.

While the president's plans were surrounded with secrecy, a fair sized crowd recognized him at the Bay street station here and applauded as he stepped into an automobile with Mrs. Wilson. He went to the office of Dr. J. J. ...

WILL RE-NAME OLD OFFICERS

Ten Directors Are Also to Be Chosen by Commercial Club.

ANNUAL MEETING THIS EVENING Secretary Again Proposes Organization of Holding Company.

That there will be no changes made in the personnel of the officers at the annual meeting of the Commercial club Thursday evening is the general opinion, the disposition of the members seeming to be that these men have served the club most efficiently and for that reason should be re-elected. The officers are: Van B. Perrine, president; Ward Wilt, first vice-president; Frank E. Dohn, second vice-president; J. R. McCulloch, treasurer, and Charles B. Biedervolf, secretary and manager. All but the last named will be elected from the floor, while the secretary-manager is named by the directors.

Ten directors are to be elected out of a list of twenty-five members who have been nominated. Secretary's Report.

One of the features of the annual meeting will be the report of Secretary Biedervolf, who will review the work of the year and enumerate a few of the things that the club hopes to accomplish during the ensuing year.

Mr. Biedervolf will deal at some length upon the duties of a commercial club and the part it should take in the upbuilding of the city. Convention Hall Proposition. The report urges every member to push the convention hall proposition to be voted upon at the general election in November. The law provides that the city may construct an auditorium or that the city may provide two-thirds of the required fund and that the other one-third be derived through private subscription, providing the people so declare themselves at the general election. The report points out that it is just as important that every member of the Commercial club work as hard for the convention hall as for the election of Smith or Brown.

Good Roads Situation. Mr. Biedervolf points out that Allen county is one of the foremost counties in this section in the matter of good roads due to the activities of the Commercial club. Reference is also made to the Yellowstone trail, another national highway similar to the Lincoln highway, which is to be extended east from Chicago and which will pass through Fort Wayne.

Proposes a Holding Company. In connection with the securing of new industries, Mr. Biedervolf again proposes the establishment of a holding company and on which proposition he hopes to secure favorable action. The purpose of the holding company would be to bring new industries to Fort Wayne, to sell stock and to nurse smaller institutions that might be induced to locate here.

The report urges a more strenuous campaign for new members during the coming year. The club now has a membership of 800 and is in the best financial condition since its organization.

BRINGS TORNADO'S DEATH LIST TO SIX

Storm Damage in Indiana Expected to Reach $2,000,000.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—The death of the infant child of Albert Irwin, of Monon, brought the death toll taken by the tornado which swept northern Indiana early yesterday morning to six. The child was carried a distance of more than 100 feet by the wind and its injuries and exposure caused its death.

The property loss was estimated at upwards of $2,000,000. Several localities in the storm area were still cut off from communication today.

Reports from rural districts coming in today indicate that the farmers were heavy losers. Farm buildings and fences were blown down and much livestock was killed.

Telephone and telegraph companies said they expected to have most of their lines cleared up during the day.

HARRY NEW'S PRIMARY EXPENSE ABOUT $3,000

Washington, March 23.—Harry New, republican candidate for the United States senatorial nomination in Indiana, who received the highest vote in the recent primary, filed his last account of the money he had spent in the campaign today. He paid $3,000 for his campaign expenses.

Marshall Averts Debate on Call for Volunteers

Washington, March 23.—An opportunity to consider Senator Sherman's resolution directing the president to call for 50,000 volunteers for Mexican service was sought by Senator Kenyon, republican, who inquired if Senator Sherman intended to bring it up for discussion. Senator Stone said he hoped it would not be called up for general discussion and the vice president recognized Senator Works, who made a long prepared speech on preparedness for peace.

Senator Sherman thus cut off from speaking on his resolution expressed his views by issuing a formal statement in which he warned against the dangers of being unprepared to deal with a large situation. "We are thrusting our men into unknown dangers without safeguarding them by prompt preparation," said he. "We have no assurance at this time that we have not sent our forces into Mexico to meet their death before we can reach them with reinforcements. It is against this possibility that my resolution would provide. If the blood of our soldiers hereafter cries out to us from the sands and alkali deserts of Mexico let it be remembered that the complainant self-assurance of those charged with primary responsibility hindered or delayed the action contemplated by this resolution."

In the house Representative Scott, republican of Pennsylvania, introduced a joint resolution to appropriate a $50,000 reward for the delivery of Villa's body to the United States military authorities. No action was taken.

PROTESTS CASE OF TERRE HAUTE MAN

Ambassador Page Takes Up Complaints Made by Americans.

Rome, March 23.—Thomas Nelson Page, American ambassador to Italy, today visited Baron Sonnino, the Italian minister of foreign affairs to make representations regarding cases of Americans who complained of ill treatment in Italy. Since the beginning of the war several Americans have been arrested on suspicion, two cases of arrest occurring at Como, where difficulty was experienced in communicating with American consuls and the arrested Americans were held for several days before being able to prove their identity. Other Americans have been expelled from Italy.

Special attention was drawn to the case of Harry Montagnier, formerly of Terre Haute, Ind., who was denounced by the military authorities, and whose expulsion was decreed and insisted upon, despite the efforts of the American ambassador to have it revoked. Prominent Americans and Italians have testified that Mr. Montagnier is a distinguished student of Italian history; that he has been noted for his Italianophile sentiments and that he had organized a celebration of Alpine clubs on one of the mountain peaks.

Baron Sonnino promised that all the cases mentioned by the ambassador would be examined again in the most friendly spirit, as Italy rejoices in the continuances of the best relations with the United States.

PROF. J. N. STUDY TO ATTEND BOARD MEET

Prof. Justin N. Study left Thursday afternoon for Indianapolis, where he will attend the regular meeting of the state board and also to attend the vocational school conference which opens in that city Thursday evening. The conference will continue until Saturday and Prof. Study expects to remain until that time. The printers' apprentice class which has met in the new Harmer school building since its completion on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, held its last session at that building Wednesday evening. The equipment will be moved to the old high school building and the first session will be held next Monday evening. There are no more classes that meet in the evenings at the Harmer school.

The quarantine on the James H. Smart school was lifted Wednesday, but it still remains on the Hanna school. However, nearly all the scholars in the latter school have returned with doctors' certificates.

FIRST FORT WAYNE MEN JOIN RESERVES

Gotthold Holden, 307 Greenwood avenue, and Jesse R. Corbin, 825 Madison avenue, have the distinction of being the first Fort Wayne citizens to join the naval reserves established some months ago by the navy department. Both Holden and Corbin made application at the local naval recruiting station on the third floor of the federal building and were accepted. To be eligible it is necessary to have previously served in the navy. Members of the naval reserve will not be called into service unless in the event of war.

FIND DOCTOR IN A STUPOR

New York Dentist Wanted in Poisoning Case Had Taken Opiate.

ARREST OF DOCTOR WAITE IS ORDERED

Death of Wealthy Grand Rapids Man and Wife is Under Inquiry.

New York, March 23.—Detectives sent today to arrest Dr. Arthur Warren Waite in connection with the death of John E. Peck, millionaire druggist, of Grand Rapids, Mich., found him in a condition of stupor as a result of an opiate, self administered. Physicians at noon today were working on him to save his life.

District Attorney Swann soon after that hour arrived at Dr. Waite's apartment and went in, accompanied by a stenographer. It was given out that Dr. Waite had taken the opiate to induce sleep and it was believed that he would recover.

Charge Will Be Murder. District Attorney Swann, emerging from Dr. Waite's apartment shortly before 2 o'clock, made this announcement: "I shall charge Dr. Waite with murder in the first degree."

The district attorney previously examined Dora Heiler, a maid employed in Dr. Waite's home at the time of the deaths there of Mr. and Mrs. Peck. It was given out by the district attorney's office Miss Heiler had said that on two occasions she had seen Dr. Waite pour out something from a bottle into Peck's soup.

Peck complained of the taste and Dr. Waite, she is said to have said, blamed the cook. On another occasion the maid was declared to have said she saw Dr. Waite pour something also into Peck's tea.

Decides on Arrest. The order for Dr. Waite's apprehension was decided upon by the district attorney following the receipt of information from Grand Rapids indicating that Peck may have been poisoned. This information was received last night from representatives of his office, who went to Grand Rapids, including Dr. Otto H. Schultze, medical examiner, who performed an autopsy on Peck's body, which had been sent there soon after his death here on March 12. Today the district attorney is understood to have received further information bearing on the case, which led to his decision to take the man into custody.

MAY ELECT NINDE NATIONAL PRESIDENT

The name of Lee J. Ninde, president of the Indiana Real Estate association and former president of the Fort Wayne exchange, will be presented by the Fort Wayne delegates for the presidency of the national association in convention next week in New Orleans. Mr. Ninde has taken an active part in the affairs of the national association and is well known in the real estate circles of the country. He is not a candidate, however, and says he has no aspirations for the national presidency at this time. The local delegation will include: W. P. Walsh, E. J. Rieke, Chester S. Kitch, Frank J. Smitley, Victor V. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton R. Wilson, Mrs. L. F. Curdes, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Blitt, Kinner Blitt, Herman Sigrist, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sigrist, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rastetter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Scheidman, A. H. Schaaf, P. C. Guild, J. D. Hamann, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mays and Mrs. M. J. Mays.

OFFERS POOL TO Y. W. C. A.

W. E. Mossman Makes Generous Tender of Swimming Equipment.

CONTINGENT UPON PROVIDING PLACE

Matter of Funds is Under Consideration by Executive Committee.

William E. Mossman has generously offered to provide at his own expense a complete swimming pool and equipment for the Fort Wayne Young Women's Christian Association, contingent alone upon the provision that the association erect a suitable building in which it may be located.

The matter was formally taken up at a meeting of the association's executive committee Thursday morning. The question of funds to enable the organization to take advantage of Mr. Mossman's offer is confronting the committee. It is being made very clear that the Y. W. C. A. desires to do nothing that will in any way interfere with the proposed campaign for a Y. M. C. A. building in this city, and the outcome of the session Thursday was a resolution for the appointment of a special committee to confer with the Y. M. C. A. committee regarding this phase of the situation.

Mr. Mossman, in response to inquiries by The Sentinel, was reluctant to discuss the matter for the reason, he said, that it could not yet be told whether the association would accept the offer, but he admitted that the tender had been made. His desire, he said, is to furnish a swimming pool of the most modern type, with all the necessary equipment and apparatus to make it complete.

The expense of the pool proper, and the equipment, it is estimated, will be from $5,000 to $6,000, and a building to properly house it will cost approximately the same sum. The association has no funds with which to erect the building. There is no room in the present structure for the pool, but the Y. W. C. A. owns ground on the west side of its home square for the installation of such a pool as is in contemplation by the office of Mr. Mossman.

ADDITION TO BE BUILT TO CHURCH

Many Members of Congregational Congregation Favor New Building.

Because of the rapidly growing membership of the Plymouth Congregational church either an addition or a new church will be erected this summer, depending entirely upon the action that will be taken at a meeting of the congregation to be held within the next two weeks. The trustees of the church met with Architects Mahurin & Mahurin, Wednesday evening, when plans were submitted for proposed changes in the edifice. The plans call for an addition extending to the alley on the south, the construction of a balcony around the Sunday school room and the enlargement of the basement. The addition would be two stories high, the proposed work costing between $15,000 and $20,000.

The present church edifice was constructed about twenty-five years ago and the congregation has entirely outgrown it, making either a new structure or an addition imperative. The finances of the church are in splendid condition, the congregation being practically out of debt.

Chicago Banker, Broker and Grain Dealer Passes Away.

Chicago, March 23.—A. O. Slaughter, prominent in Chicago financial circles as a grain dealer, stock broker and banker, died today after a short illness.

BURNED ARM OUTCOME OF A SPRAINED WRIST

Decatur, Ill., March 23.—H. R. Dutton, Wabash baggage man at Litchfield, is in a hospital here suffering from a burned right arm, the outcome of a sprained wrist. When Dutton sprained his wrist he applied a bandage and treated it with turpentine. Dutton lighted a cigar when on his way to see a doctor and a spark fell on the turpentine-soaked bandage. In an instant his coat sleeve was burned as well as the skin of his right arm and hand.

MORE THAN ONE "WIZARD" IN EDISON FAMILY; SON HAS GIFTS OF HIS OWN.

CHARLES A. EDISON

Will Charley Edison be a "wizard," too? The question is often asked in Orange, N. J.

The wizardry of the "wizard's" son is not following the trail of the lightning. He gives more time to fine arts than crafts that are useful. In an attic studio in New York's literary colony, Greenwich village, Edison expresses his wizard-like genius writing fantastic verse, composing music, and in directing a unique theater.

In his playhouse, the Thimble theater,

New York, he is trying to give the American drama a friendly boost. On this tiny stage—the theater seats only 140—American singers and playwrights have opportunity to be heard without box office risk.

Two or three days in each week Edison works as repairman in his father's laboratories. His official title in the shop is efficiency expert.

Edison is 26. Besides his verse and plays he has to his credit a valuable electrical invention.

Dr. Waite's home, on Riverside drive, was under surveillance last night and today by a squad of detectives, who guarded the exits of his apartment to prevent any attempt to escape. Both Peck and his wife died here recently while visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. Waite.

Two autopsies performed in Grand Rapids after the body of Mr. Peck had been exhumed discovered arsenic in the stomach and intestines. The body of Mrs. Peck could not be examined because it had been cremated.

Mrs. Peck died here suddenly on January 29. Her husband came to New York a short time after her death to console his daughter and died on March 12. Until a day or two before his death he had seemed to be in excellent health. Mr. Peck left an estate valued at more than $1,000,000 divided equally between his daughter, Mrs. Waite, and his son, Percy Peck, of Grand Rapids.

Telegram Arouses Suspicion. The New York district attorney has in his possession a telegram signed "E" addressed to Percy Peck, which first caused suspicions that Mr. Peck did not die from natural causes. The message said:

"Suspicious aroused. Demand autopsy. Examine body."

The authorities have not announced the senders of this telegram if they have discovered it.

According to information received by the district attorney from Grand Rapids, effects of the arsenic found in Mr. Peck's stomach were noticeable in the brain tissue, proof that the poison was administered before death. The undertaker who embalmed the body in this city asserted that there was no arsenic in his embalming fluid. Dr. Waite and his wife took Mr. Peck's body back to Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Waite Also Ill. Mrs. Waite remained there at the home of relatives, and reports from Grand Rapids say that she has been ill for several days, a physician attributing her condition to hysteria. Dr. Waite returned to New York and yesterday he had a long talk with the district attorney regarding the case. He declined to make any statement for publication.

Dr. Waite told the district attorney that he had studied dentistry at the University of Michigan and taken a course in dentistry for one year in a university in Scotland. He declared that he had been told that the police were in event this country and the defacto government of Mexico would face a situation fraught with serious possibilities. Herrera's troops are said to be the best equipped in northern Mexico and many of them have been led to victory by Villa. A wholesale revolt in Carranza's army would render the position of the American troops now on Mexican soil so perilous that every available soldier in the United States would be rushed to the border. Not more than 15,000 trained men would be available without calling out the national guard. While developments in the tense situation were being awaited a draft of the protocol asked for by Carranza to govern the operations of the American expeditionary forces was on its way to the first chief for his approval. It was agreed to by Acting Secretary of State Polk and Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate. It is expected to be in effect within a few days.

Confirmation Was Lacking. Confirmation of the report that the Carranza garrison of 2,000 under Luis Herrera, at Chihuahua had revolted and joined Villa was still lacking today at the war department, although a dispatch to that effect was passed last night by the United States army censor at Columbus. The war department insisted that Gen. Funston's message last night stated merely that "it is reported" that the revolt had occurred, adding that there was no confirmation. No new advices had reached the department officials said and it was declared there was no indication in any message received since the American expedition started into Mexico that the troops had fired a shot or been fired upon.

Funston's Problem. General Funston's problem is to dispose of the troops at his command in such fashion as to insure the line of communication behind the force in Mexico. Secretary Baker when asked today if General Funston had asked for more reinforcements since the Fifth cavalry and Twenty-fourth infantry were ordered to join him, said: "I think I will not answer that question." A message from Gen. Funston last night said the motor truck trains had satisfactorily solved the problem of getting supplies to the advance column. Gen. Funston had been under the impression over the supply situation but had reported no shortage. The navy department was without advices from Tampico, where a disquieting situation had been indicated in unofficial reports. A message from Admiral Winslow on the west coast said quiet prevailed at Ensenada, Lower California.

Secretary Lansing returning from a week's vacation took personal charge of the situation so far as it concerns the state department. He conferred with Eliseo Arredondo, Gen. Carranza's ambassador, who presented a dispatch from Consul Garcia, at El Paso, denying entirely that Gen. Herrera had revolted with the Chihuahua garrison and joined Villa. Counselor of State Mr. Arredondo discussed with Secretary Lansing the proposed protocol for joint action in the pursuit of Villa. The preliminary negotiations had been taken up during Mr. Lansing's absence and today he was fully informed of them.

rioting on a large scale in El Paso. Two hundred men were said to have been enlisted as a nucleus, having been won over by promises of the booty they would gain. According to the police, plans of Herrera anticipated that as soon as the rioting started large numbers of Mexicans would join them.

Whatever be the outcome the nervous tension along the border has increased to such an extent that many Americans frankly admit that they would prefer a definite ending of relations between Washington and the de facto government to a continuance of the existing situation.

SEE SERIOUS POSSIBILITIES.

Washington Authorities Much Disturbed By New Developments.

Washington, March 23.—Official confirmation of a report reaching General Funston that two thousand Carranza soldiers at Chihuahua, under Gen. Luis Herrera had revolted and aligned themselves with Francisco Villa, was anxiously awaited in Washington today. Some officials believe that if Herrera and his men have joined Villa, other Carranza troops may follow. In such an

GIVES ILLUSTRATED LECTURE.

Second Last of a Series of Talks Given Friday By Rev. Paul Miller.

The second, last of a series of illustrated lectures, which have been given during the course of the winter in the St. Paul auditorium, will be delivered by Rev. Paul Miller tomorrow evening. The subject treated will be "The Persecutions of Christians During the Early Centuries." The lecture touches briefly upon the incidents connected with the establishment of the Christian church and the wonderful success of the apostles' preaching. It dwells at some length upon the opposition of Jew and Gentile, which the gospel met with and especially makes mention of the various cruelties used by oppressors to induce Christians to renounce their faith. One hundred and twenty stereoscopic views will be thrown on the screen to illustrate the lecture and in addition the motion picture, "Nero and the Burning of Rome," will be shown. Following is the complete program:

Victrola selections—J. L. Mueller.
"The Lord is My Light"—Alletson.
Miss Luella Feiertag.
Lecture—Part I.....Rev. Paul Miller.
Illustrated song—"The Holy City."
Miss Luella Feiertag.
Lecture—Part II.

MANY DELEGATES EXPECTED.

Disciples of Christ Hold County Conference in This City.

The annual Allen county conference of the Disciples of Christ will be held in this city at the West-Crofton Avenue Church of Christ tomorrow evening. The conference will be held from 7 to 9 p. m.

various churches in the county. Rev. O. E. Tomes will lead in the devotion and Rev. M. L. Buckley, pastor of the convention church, will deliver the address of welcome. Rev. A. L. Martin, state evangelist, will deliver the main address of the evening on the theme, "Success and Failure." The state secretary, C. W. Canble, will also give an address. The conference will continue Friday morning at 9:15 o'clock and the business session with the election of officers will take place Friday afternoon. William N. Ballou appears on the program Friday morning. The officers will give their reports at the Friday morning session.

HOLD TEMPERANCE RALLY. A. C. W. Has Planned Interesting Program for Meeting Tonight.

The officials of the Associated Christian Workers of Fort Wayne have planned an interesting program for the big temperance rally to be held Thursday evening, March 23, at the First M. E. church, Wayne and Lafayette streets. The feature of the program will be the motion picture entitled, "The Trial of Joseph." Much interest has been aroused for this meeting and it is anticipated that a large audience will be present.

MEETING FOR RAILROAD MEN. Special Services Planned by Rev. E. Q. Laudeman of First Evangelical.

In the series of meetings planned by the Women's Christian Temperance Union now being held in this city, a special service will be held Sunday morning at the First Evangelical church devoted to railroad men and their families. Rev. E. Q. Laudeman, pastor of the church, will deliver a sermon on the theme, "The Moral Influence of Railroad Men on American Citizenship." All railroad men, shopmen and employees of railroads are asked to attend.

Father Noll to Repeat Lecture. Rev. John F. Noll will repeat the lecture which he gave last Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church this coming Sunday evening. Many people were turned away on account of the lack of space and therefore it has been requested that he repeat the sermon on "What the Catholic Church Believes." The church will open at 6:30 o'clock and the services will begin at 7:30.

Social Side of Churches. The members of the Anti-Cant class of St. John Reformed church will hold their regular monthly meeting Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Nora Hesser, 417 Ross street. The Young Men's Bible class of Crescent Avenue Evangelical church will meet at the home of C. O. Lathouse, 1117 Crescent avenue, Thursday evening. The Ladies' Social circle of Crescent Avenue Evangelical church will serve a chicken supper at the church Friday evening.

Accessions to Church. Several accessions were made to the membership of the church at the evangelistic services at East-Crofton Avenue Church of Christ Wednesday evening. Rev. O. E. Tomes in commenting upon excuses declared that every excuse we make has in it the element of falsity. He will speak Thursday evening on "The Valley of Decision."

Will Elect Officers. The Women's League of the Wayne Street M. E. church will hold a meeting Friday afternoon in the church parlors for the election of officers. The various chairmen and officers will give reports. The meetings begin at 2:30 o'clock and an apron sale will be held in connection with the meeting.

MISS IRENE MUELLEN DIES.

Relatives in Fort Wayne of Miss Irene Muellen, daughter of Mrs. Kato Muellen, who formerly resided in this city, received word Thursday morning informing them of the death of the daughter which occurred Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. Death followed an operation which she underwent several days ago. The mother is well known in Fort Wayne.

DR. SYD COLLINS WANTED IN IOWA

Warrant There for Man Sued Here for Annulment of Marriage.

After Mrs. Katherine M. Breodon, a widow, had been married February 3, in Kentucky, to Dr. Sydney Collins, and had been taken by him to Iowa, where he has a professional practice, she learned for the first time that he already had a lawful wife. She at once left her putative husband and hastened back to Fort Wayne and through Attorney Robert B. Dreibleiss has begun action in the superior court for annulment of the marriage. Dr. Collins had a practice in Kentucky, but abandoned it to go to Iowa after his marriage to Mrs. Breodon, who is the widow of Homer Breodon, a trainman on the Baltimore and Ohio road who was killed some years ago. Mrs. Breodon came to Fort Wayne about three years ago from Garrett, Ind., and has been employed here as a bookkeeper.

After Mrs. Breodon's complaint had been filed County Clerk D. C. Stout received a letter written by E. A. Leigh, chief of police at Waterloo, Iowa, to W. H. Favinger, clerk of the Noble court at Albion, Ind., and by circuit clerk the latter forwarded to this city, as follows: "Will you kindly advise whether or not your records show the marriage of Syd Collins to Katherine Breodon. This department holds a warrant for the arrest of Collins on the charge of adultery and we understand that he is wanted at or near your city on the charge of bigamy." Clerk Favinger, in forwarding the letter to Clerk Stout, says: "I think the above license was issued by your office." This, however, is not true. The license was not issued in this county.

Jury Breaks Fetter Will. It took three days in the circuit court to present the testimony and arguments in the suit of George Bennett et al. vs. Elizabeth Fritz et al., an action to set aside the last will and testament of the late Henry A. Fetter, for many years an employee of the Fort Wayne Traction company, and it took the jury that heard the case but eight minutes to break the testament. Mrs. Fritz, a daughter, was the chief beneficiary of the testator's will, by which a $5,000 estate was disposed of. It was charged that the aged man was of unsound mind and unduly influenced when he executed his will.

Sues Traction Company. Nathaniel B. Kennedy, a United States mail carrier in this city, has begun action in the circuit court against the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company for $500 for personal injuries alleged to have been received April 2, 1915, when the rig he was driving was run into by a street car at the intersection of Calhoun and Wayne streets. The plaintiff charges that the car was running at an unlawful speed, was not equipped with brakes and was not under the control of a driver.

The case of the Seavey Hardware company vs. William L. Meyers will be tried in the circuit court June 2 and the suit of August Bux vs. the National Market company will be heard in the same court April 7.

The circuit court has granted a change of venue to DeKalb county in the suit of Emma Feltner vs. James A. Graham for $200 damages.

The circuit court has dismissed the suit of Mary J. Scherer vs. Frances McDonald.

Wayne township, and a premium of $121.75 for the $5,000 issue on the Flaugher road.

NEW CORPORATION. Peter J. Moran, John G. Bothner, Lawrence Bauer, Gustave L. Scheffler, Frederick C. Koch, Bernard A. Morgan and Frank J. Callahan are the incorporators and directors of the Standard Realty and Investment company, which has just filed articles of incorporation with County Recorder Allen Hursli. The capital stock is $25,000 and the object of the corporation is a general real estate business.

PASSENGERS SLAYEN AS CAR HITS JITNEY

West Main street car No. 180, in charge of Motorman Tipple, struck a West Main jitney bus operated by J. Rolver just west of the St. Mary's bridge at 1:15 Thursday afternoon, causing the machine and slaying up, but not seriously hurting several passengers. Rolver reported the smash-up to the police.

Tipples is the motorman arrested by Traffic Officer Krueckeburg several weeks ago for running past a closed block at Wayne and Calhoun streets. Rolver brought several witnesses in with him to testify that the motorman was responsible for the smash.

BOY OF TEN KILLS HIMSELF. Hammond, Ind., March 23.—One fatality and four serious accidents have kept the police busy in the Calumet region. Richard Keriger, aged twenty-three, colored, of West Hammond, was shot through the abdomen in a revolver battle over a poker game, and Shelli Davis, age twenty-three, of West Hammond, was shot in the leg. Frank Kutilla, age twenty-two, of Hammond, was caught between two cars in the freight department of the Standard Steel Car company and suffered internal injuries. Mike Reuch, age nineteen, of East Chicago, was thrown from a motorcycle. He was injured about the head. George Hartman, of Hegewisch, age ten, killed himself with a revolver at the Omalley home early yesterday. He had been threatened with punishment, but whether his death was intentional or accidental has not been determined.

Notes of the Courts. Albert E. Hutchinson has begun action in the superior court against Monroe W. Fitch, Eugene M. Fitch, Delbert C. Fitch and Sheriff A. C. Gladieux to quiet title to real estate. Colerick & Hogan appear for the plaintiff.

The superior court has dismissed the divorce suit of Mary C. Heliker vs. William H. Heliker.

In the suit of Walter A. Thomas and Frank Bowser vs. Archie L. Sheehan, the superior court has given the plaintiff's judgment for $43.60 and ordered the sale of the property involved.

The suit of Florence A. Thomas vs. the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company for $5,000 has been set for trial in the superior court before a jury June 7.

The suit of Fred W. and Anna L. Keil vs. the city of Fort Wayne and August Hensch for $7,500 damages has been sent to Adams county for trial on change of venue.

County Treasurer William F. Rake has just sold for the highest premiums ever commanded by road improvement bonds in Allen county the securities covering three new highways. The average premium was 2 1/2 cents, whereas the average heretofore has been 1 1/2 cents. The $13,000 issue of bonds for the Fogel road in Ellettsburg township was bought by J. WILL SOON RETURN TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Congressman Adair Plans Active Canvass All Over Indiana.

By Willis Thompson.

Indianapolis, March 23.—It is expected that Congressman John A. M. Adair will soon be able to return to Indiana and resume his campaign as the democratic candidate for governor. As the result of his strenuous work of traveling and speaking day and night during the final weeks of the primary contest, he contracted a severe cold which threatened pneumonia and was forced to his bed at Portland several days before he returned to Washington. When he reached the capitol to resume his duties in the congress his physicians ordered him to the hospital. He is improving rapidly and regaining his strength.

Congressman Adair is anxious to get into the state campaign. He has expressed his purpose to go to every city, town, hamlet, community and cross roads to meet the people and make speeches. It is his belief that where two or three people can be gathered together to reason on matters political it is worth the while of the candidate to be here. The two or three are sure to go and tell it to others.

That John Adair is an effective campaigner is shown in his several congressional fights in the eighth district. When he was first nominated by the democrats of his district as their candidate for congress he did not know the people to whom his name must be presented. He had always had the highest regard for the opinions of the American people, however, and he believed that if a man had a message and would go to these people and let them know he could usually be assured that their verdict would be right. He believed he had a message, he went and told the people, met them at large and small meetings, and when he concluded his campaign he had transformed one of the strongest republican districts of the state into a democratic majority.

He has been elected five successive times to that seat in congress and has made the eighth such a strong democratic district that it is always sure to return a democratic majority for the whole state ticket. It is so strong that Auditor of State Dale Crittenberger always refers to it as the militant democratic district of Indiana. Challenging even some of those districts where the republicans do not count votes to make it worth while wasting a tally sheet to count.

John Adair is especially interested and enthusiastic over the outlook for success of the democratic party in Indiana this year.

OSSIAN NEWS.

Ossian, Ind., March 23.—J. J. Gorrell, of Vincennes, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Swaim, of Bluffton, spent Monday in Ossian with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miliken.

Meredith C. Aldred is home from a few days' visit at Lapel with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Aldred. Mrs. Aldred and little daughter, Roberta, remained for a longer visit.

Mrs. William E. Hunter and son, William, left today for their home in Columbia City after spending a week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Roe.

The Standard Bearers are arranging to hold a parcel post sale in the M. E. church parlors on Friday evening, April 7. The young ladies are also preparing a special program of music and playlets.

Mrs. Dale Elzey was hostess for the E. T. C. club Monday evening. The time passed pleasantly in a social way and the girls were busy with their fancy work. Mrs. Elzey served a delicious repast to all. Those attending were Misses Mary Roe, Emma Bowman, Ruth Bailey, Marjory Nill, How Elzey and Mrs. Gerald Beatty.

Miss Nellie Gibson will entertain the Daphne Girls on Friday evening.

Mrs. Alex. White accompanied her grandson, Alex. Sutton, to his home in Decatur the first of the week and will spend most of the week visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. Sutton.

About thirty of the Eastern Stars from the Ossian chapter went to Poe Monday night, where they did the work of initiating two new members into the Poe lodge. After finishing the initiatory work all enjoyed a pleasant social time and the Poe ladies served a splendid two course lunch. The Ossian people motored to Poe and those who went were Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Weirich, Mr. and Mrs. William Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Somers, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Dyer, Mesdames Margaret Munt, Isaac Glass, Marie Poffenberger, Margaret Weaver, Anna Gibson, Susie Caston, Anna Trevey, Lillian Spencer, Euphemia Chaffant, Ellen Gibson, D. C. Wyburn, Messrs. John Spencer and Will Hoopengardner, and Misses May Glass, Jennie and Dell Allen.

Miss Nita Wagner entertained the Junior Philatheas Tuesday evening most pleasantly at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wagner. Each member took an invited guest. After the chess meeting several couples were enjoyed and Mrs. Wagner served very nice refreshments. Those present were their teachers, Miss May Morton and Miss Augusta Yager and the following members and guests: Misses May Weaver, Ida Kreigh, Helen Roe, Alta Allen, Lucina White, Gretchen Hoopengardner, Emma and Ruby Glass, Hazel Bird, Levita Hanna, Ruth Turner, Viola Mahnensmith, Dorothy Spencer, Vada Woodward, Avis Rector, Marguerite Turner, Florence Hatfield, Gretchen Allen, Dorothy Osborn, Hallie Jennings and Pauline Hawley.

Samuel Miliken, who is suffering from uremia, continues in much the same condition. Mrs. Miliken, who has been ill with the grip, is again able to go about the house and sit by her husband's bed.

The Friendship circle, the Sunday school class of the M. E. church taught by Jacob Osborn, was quite nicely entertained Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Goshorn. Interesting talks were made by Messrs. A. S. Elzey, J. V. Osborn and E. T. Hawley. The circle elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: M. E. Spencer, president; Mrs. W. T. Bailey, vice president; George M. Way, secretary; Frank Quackenbush, treasurer. All enjoyed a social time and the hostess served nice eats to the following: Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Roe, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. HEIRESS TO $130,000 KILLS SELF IN AUTO

Chicago, March 23.—Despondent because her babe was dead at birth, Mrs. Anis Clemens, $130,000 heiress and wife of Austin A. Clemens, a waiter, ended her life by shooting in an automobile while her husband was repairing a tire at Hurley avenue and Eighty-second street, yesterday afternoon.

It was with an automatic pistol her husband had been carrying for several months that Mrs. Clemens fired a bullet into her brain which caused her death before her husband could reach her.

A few days ago Mrs. Clemens came out of the hospital where she had been taken after a fall on the street which brought about the premature birth of her child. Yesterday her husband took her to Wolf Lake for a fish dinner and it was on the return trip that she killed herself.

CAN'T SUPPLY DEMAND.

The free employment bureau is unable to supply the demand for women to do housework. With the opening of spring the demand for help especially for women to assist during the housecleaning season, is always greater than at any other time of the year.

Cupid Helped Her to Find Soulmate

MR. AND MRS. A. O. WARD

"There is no sense in your hatching any longer."

That's the way Miss Vesta Ludington, of Seattle, Wash., started her proposal to the boy she loved and became a long-year bride.

She is now Mrs. A. O. Ward, the marriage having been performed publicly in a theater on Feb. 29, before 3,500 people.

Vesta, 18 years old, says it's easy and simple for a girl to marry the man she likes, and that the actual proposal isn't at all embarrassing when love shows the way. "She met her 'intended' on Christmas day, and frankly acknowledged that she helped the courtship along."

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 59 E. Marquette Avenue, Marquette, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Advertisement.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING

John 6:35-47.

35 And Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst.

36 But I said unto you, That ye also have seen me, and believe not.

37 All that the Father giveth me shall come to me; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out.

38 For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me.

39 And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day.

40 And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life; and I will raise him up at the last day.

41 The Jews then murmured at him, because he said, I am the bread which came down from heaven.

42 And they said, Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? how is it then that he saith, I came down from heaven?

43 Jesus therefore answered and said unto them, Murmur not among yourselves.

44 No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him: and I will raise him up at the last day.

45 It is written in the prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me.

46 Not that any man hath seen the Father, save he which is of God, he hath seen the Father.

47 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life.

The Call for Arbitration.

With the railroad brotherhoods awaiting a reply after the submission of their plea for an advance in wages, and the railroad managements proclaiming that the demands are unreasonable and cannot be met without losses that come near spelling disaster, civic and commercial bodies of the country are rapidly falling into line in voicing an urgent request for arbitration of the differences. This is inspired by a regard for the interests of the general public and without presuming to indicate a belief that either party to the controversy is either right or wrong. Indeed, we have noted from no source outside the immediate factions concerned any attempt to analyze the situation in the interest of either the railroads or their trainmen. There is, however, a very general realization of the seriousness that would follow an open breach in the railroad world.

It is a case in which arbitrary action on the part of either side must inevitably be followed by very severe industrial prostration in which the public will be the chief sufferer, and as a part of the public the railroad stockholders and the railroad employees must bear a share of the burden. As a matter of very evident fact, neither the railroad men nor the railroad managers want a strike. Each is anxious for an amicable adjustment, and it has become reasonably certain the only avenue to such an outcome lies through arbitration. The problem must be taken up and solved by some impartial and disinterested body which will play fair with the roads and fair with the men. With the opposing factions each standing steadfast the deadlock promises to endure. Each is confident he is right and reasonable, and that the other is clinging to a wholly untenable and unjustifiable position. The interests of the whole public are much more vital than those of either of the opposing contenders. It is very vital that a just and fair arbitration proceeding bring the factions amicably together in an agreement for peace.

Cole Younger, who a quarter of a century and more ago figured largely as a notorious bandit, outlaw and robber, and whose career supplied the basis for many of the dime-novel thrillers of those days, has just died in a little Missouri town at the age of 72 years. Justice overtook Younger as it is almost certain to overtake all of his ilk, and he paid the penalty of his crimes by a long term in prison. The noteworthy fact in the case, however, is that Younger lived long enough to see the error of his ways and to make plain by preachment and by practice his conviction that there is nothing but woe in the life of lawlessness that often lures the impressionable youngster. Cole Younger in his last years became devoutly religious and sought so far as possible to atone for his earlier lawlessness. His estimate of the futility of a life of crime may well be accepted as authoritative.

There should be cheerful acquiescence by parents in Police Chief Lenz's order for the enforcement of the curfew ordinance to keep children of tender years off the streets at night unless properly accompanied or engaged in a legitimate mission. Recent months have supplied several instances that emphasize the necessity for parents knowing absolutely the whereabouts of their boys and girls during the evening hours. They can be assured of this only by the exercise of precisely the precaution the police chief is aiming at in his order to patrolmen to enforce the curfew law. After the youngsters have been picked up and certified to the juvenile court will be too late to take the matter in hand. The proper time to do it is right now.

Internal revenue officials in the Sixth district of Indiana say the income tax returns for the new year will show an increase numerically of about 1,200 over last year's total, with a corresponding advance in the total taxes paid. We are left in the dark, however, as to whether the returns signify that more people have grown wealthy enough to come under the income tax regulation or that merely fewer are escaping this year than last.

And, besides, that plan to select a postmaster at Kendallville by preference primary vote of the patrons of the office will give each of the something like twenty-five applicants for the job an opportunity to demonstrate just how strong he is with the folk whose mail he desires to smilingly hand out to them daily for at least the term of four years, or until his successor is duly appointed and qualified.

They are also discussing what is to be done with Villa after he is captured—which seems an utterly useless waste of time just now. Let's get him first.

ICE DEALERS AND THE PUBLIC.

(Indianapolis News.)

According to Herbert DePrez, president of the Indiana Ice Dealers' association, which meets in Indianapolis this week, the ice men are anxious to come to a better understanding with the public. He admits that the dealers are largely to blame for the present unsatisfactory attitude of the people, and contends that what is needed is a campaign of publicity that will acquaint persons who know nothing of the hazards of the business with the fact that in reality there is such constant danger of loss that the present prices are not exorbitant. He asserts also that because it seems to be the simplest thing in the world to make ice out of water many persons undertake to do it, with the result that competition is very keen. No doubt he is right in several respects. The people charge the ice man with raising the price of what has come to be a summer necessity at the time when it is most needed. This he does. And the people do not like it. It is hardly expected that they would. They argue that ice should be manufactured in large quantities more cheaply than in small, and that the greater the demand the smaller should be the price. They forget, of course, that a large part of the cost of ice should not be charged to its manufacture but to its delivery, and that this is not greatly affected by the amount delivered. This is the thing the ice man should make plain. He might even go so far as to furnish actual figures. This would convince consumers that he is telling the truth about price boosting during the hot weather. Mr. DePrez is right in saying "the public is fair." It is fair, but it wants to be met half way.

THE CASE OF MR. BRANDEIS

(South Bend News-Times)

The Brandeis nomination has developed into an acquisition such as no other candidate for the supreme court was ever subjected to. A vast amount of testimony has been taken by the senate committee regarding Mr. Brandeis' career, character and reputation. And yet, somehow, the job doesn't seem to have been finished.

The witnesses examined have been almost without exception business men and members of the bar. They have nearly all been ultra-conservatives, naturally disposed to criticize—or to fail in understanding—a man of this type to which the nominee is popularly supposed to belong. Added to their fundamental difference of outlook is the fact that in the course of an unusually broad and active career Mr. Brandeis has trodden on the toes of many of these business and professional men.

They are doubtless honest in their judgment of Mr. Brandeis, or think they are. But possibly they are incapable of being perfectly fair to him.

What do the masses of our people think of the candidate? Isn't that the real question, after all? The "conservative" manufacturers and merchants and lawyers are important, but they are a small minority of the nation. Mr. Brandeis has been called "the people's lawyer." Why haven't the people been heard from in this inquiry? Have they nothing to say regarding this supposed champion's fitness for the court on which their ultimate liberties depend?

TO ARBITRATE LAWSUITS

(Kansas City Star.)

It is refreshing to find a candidate for district judge in Kansas on a platform pledging his court as a court of arbitration and only a court of law in the last resort. Mr. Dennis Madden, of Emporia, the candidate in question, believes it will be possible to save much litigation if the parties to suits would agree to have the matter arbitrated. He promises to do his best to obtain such arbitration in place of expensive lawsuits.

Everybody knows he is right. It is a common sense way of looking at the problem. Eventually the plan will be incorporated into the judicial procedure of the state as an advance toward the ideal of free justice which will come in the end.

THEY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT CENTENNIAL

Other Cities Asking What It All Means—We'll Tell Them.

The publicity committee, of which Martin H. Luecke is the chairman, is ready this week to give the outside cities of this part of busy America all the information they desire concerning the approaching centennial celebration in Fort Wayne. Beginning this week, brightly news stories concerning the June event will be sent at frequent intervals, to 150 newspapers of north-eastern Indiana, western Ohio and southern Michigan, giving in brief the account of developments which will be of special interest to the people of other cities.

The thousands who will come in from outside points will take away with them the story of the celebration and also an impression of Fort Wayne as a city of homes, of schools, of parks and commercial advantages. For this reason it is necessary that every department of the city's activities wake up at once to the advantage of using every opportunity to give the city a good name.

No event "pulled off" in Fort Wayne at any time in its history allows of such a united effort toward success as the coming June celebration. The youngest school child has something to do, just as well as the most cold-blooded business man—but they won't be doing the same thing. There's an opportunity for co-operative activity for everyone in some one of the numerous branches of the preliminary work. Every citizen should find his place and then get busy.

A Fort Wayne Hymn.

Wallace Rice, the author of the book of the Fort Wayne pageant, has written a beautiful "Fort Wayne hymn," which may be adopted as the official hymn of the centennial, in which case it would be a handsome contribution from some local musician to provide suitable music and to give it a lasting place in the hearts of the people of Fort Wayne.

Other literary efforts, however, may find their way to the committee and no final decision will be rendered until the matter has received full consideration. Mr. Rice's hymn follows:

Great Lord, who through the rolling years
Hast brought thy servants here,
Removed from them their ancient fears
And granted them this cheer,
Still guard us with Thy mighty wing
While now in jubilee
We meet with prayer and praise to sing
Thanksgiving unto Thee.

Here in the darkness of old time
The savage came to slay;
How long and slow the upward climb
To peace and this fair day!
Thou who didst lead our fathers far
Guide Thou our daily life;
Thou gavest them an end of war;
Withhold our hands from strife.

Our hearts to loveliness incline,

Our soul to deeds of love;
Beneath Thy sky may freedom shine
And justice from above!
As now the present from the past
Hath gained thy glorious reign,
So may the future follow fast
With blessings on Fort Wayne!
Many Will Take Part.

The pageant committee is well pleased with the early response to the call for volunteers to take part in the pageant at Reservoir park. Supplies of the cards have been placed in some of the downtown stores and at the following named manufacturing institutions and shops:

S. F. Bowser & Co., Western Gas Construction Co., Bass Foundry and Machine Co., Pennsylvania general offices and shops, General Electric Lamp works, Boss Manufacturing Co., Wash shops, the Packard company, Fort Wayne Electric works, Wayne Knitting mills and others. Supplies have been provided to wholesale houses where the employees will have an opportunity to sign the cards and mail them to the centennial committee. The card contains the following information:

"The pageant is to be Fort Wayne's big show. The people who participate will give their services free, although all assistance will be furnished by the association. These cards are for the purpose of securing the names of the very best talent available. The names will be given to Mr. Donald Robertson, the pageant master, who will then make his selections for the cast." The applicant signs the card with name and address and appends other information asked for by the committee. The cards are then mailed to the committee or delivered to the Commercial club headquarters of the Centennial celebration.

The announcement that the association would award a prize of $50 to the person making the most acceptable suggestion for a poster design has created a lively interest. The contest closes March 28. The time for sending in the suggestions draws rapidly to a close and all participants are urged to think and act quickly.

Many friends of Miss Agnes Mahurin will be interested in the following notice, a special from Milwaukee, concerning her work as a student in Milwaukee. Miss Agnes Mahurin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Mahurin, 2002 Fairfield avenue, Fort Wayne, participated in a recent exhibition given by the sewing classes of the school of Home Economics at Milwaukee. Downer college where she is a student. No dress in the exhibit cost more than $12, and the girls did every bit of the work themselves. Miss Mahurin's dress was a general favorite. The material was brown charmeuse, with sleeves of brown Georgette crepe. The skirt was full and plain. The waist was finished with small buttons. Two ruffles, one of crepe and one of charmeuse, finished the waistline. The collar, of plain white Georgette crepe, was hemstitched.

Miss Katherine Wagenhals has an example of her work in oil on exhibition at the Herron Art Institute, Indianapolis, and the picture has been selected, with two by other artists, for a committee to decide upon which deserves the highest honors.

In honor of her guest, Mrs. Gale Parry, of Dubuque, Iowa, Mrs. Arthur L. Hadley, of Hoagland avenue, invited a number of ladies to bring their sewing and enjoy a visit with Mrs. Parry this afternoon. There were spring flowers in the rooms and some refreshments that were another delicious example of this hostess' unusual accompaniment to the culinary art. Mrs. Parry expects to remain a fortnight.

Miss Virginia S. Olds will leave next Wednesday for New York city, where she will continue her studies under the Metropolitan Opera ballet and under M. Chabli, the famous master of the terpsichorean art. During her absence Miss Olds will go to Bridgeport, Conn., to visit her brother James.

Miss Nellie Wilt entertained a few of her nearest friends on Wednesday evening at the home of the Anthony hotel and afterwards at the moving pictures. The party was a birthday anniversary celebration.

Miss Celia Wertheimer, of Ligonier, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sam Wolf. Miss Bernadette Dittus is in Richmond, visiting her sister, Mrs. L. H. Lukens.

Mrs. John Fawcett, of Muncie, and her little child, is visiting her mother Mrs. E. D. Gaston.

Mrs. Walter Leonard and Mrs. H. V. Blosser have returned from a few days' visit in Gas City.

Mrs. E. H. Kilbourne, of Nelson street, has returned from a visit with relatives in Decatur.

Mrs. Tom Geake, of South Harrison street, is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Rink Mergel, of Lake George.

Miss Brookhart, of Ashland, O., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Springer, 2615 Indiana avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. T. DeWald have returned from a month's trip to New Orleans and other southern points.

Miss Helen Peters, of West Wayne street, has returned from a trip of several months in southern California.

Mrs. Fred Ehinger, of Montpelier, O., has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. D. Cleary, of Masterson avenue.

Miss Adele Friend, of Chicago, arrived in the city today to visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Freilinger, for two or three days.

Miss Marjorie Rohan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rohan, will be at home in a few days from the University of Chicago, to visit her parents.

The Doreas Forget-me-not club was entertained by Mrs. E. M. Pfeiffer on Wednesday afternoon at her home in Bowser avenue, and a delightful time resulted. The rooms and luncheon table were prettily decorated in yellow and white.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Thomas and children, who have many friends in the city during their few years' residence in Garden street, left on Thursday for their new home in Schenectady, N. Y. The residence occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Collins.

Misses Sabina Ross and Pansy Rennehan, of Garrett; Lillian Wilson and George Patterson, of Alexandria; Lawrence Jones, of Summitville; Golden Heath and Messrs. Robert Quick, Dr. Quick and Carl Billy, of Muncie, and Myron Fischer, of Marion, all pupils of Prof. Bouillet, are coming to Fort Wayne to hear the Mischa Elman concert on Friday evening.

Mrs. Mary McCallan, of Wallace street, was the planned victim of a surprise party on Wednesday evening. A company of friends called at Mrs. McCallan's home prepared for such fun as games, contests of a guessing character, music and a lunch will furnish. Prize winners were Mrs. J. Swartzbaugh, Mrs. A. D. Craig. Other guests were Mesdames Emma Dunlap, Al Cook, Alice Nipper, Alice Kelly, Etta Ormerod, A. H. Holmes, Fred Sperry, L. Hunk, H. Craig, L. Craig and son, F. Hunk, H. Phillips, L. Miller, C. E. Kridler Mr. and Mrs. Fickle and son, Miss Nora Ahern, Miss Eva Badger, Miss Babe Phillips, Ralph McCallan.

Franklin School P. T. Club. The parent-teacher club of the Franklin school will meet on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Shirey will be the speaker for the evening. Every father and mother in the district is cordially invited to attend the meeting.

BEAUTIFUL DANCE RECITAL.

Pupils of Miss Olds Danced for Invited Friends at Anthony Hotel.

A number of pupils of Miss Virginia S. Olds gave a dancing recital Thursday afternoon in the ball room of the Anthony hotel. Miss Olds closed the program, which was very lovely in costume, grace and beauty of children and expression of ideas, by a dance of the "Thistle Down," which she interpreted with her own individual manner and charm as well as grace. The children and their numbers were: Minuet by Ruth Anderson, Josephine and Helen Dodez, Mary and Linda Leslie; Madam Butterfly, by Florence Gruber; The Shepherdess, by Elizabeth Bowerford; Russian folk dance by Cecilia Porch; Gavotte of 1860, by Margaret Ann Kegan; the Chinese priestess, by Mary Leslie and Ruth Anderson; Spirit of Autumn, by Rosalie Pollak; the Secret, Florence Gruber, Ellen Hudson, Adelaide Kraus, Gladys Lyndemann, Louise Metzger, Cecilia Porch, Mervin Pidgeon and Violet Reinwald; a Cossak dance by Ellen Hudson; Quaker girls, by Adelbert, by Carolyn Ensel; gypsy dance, by Ellen Hudson; Quaker girls, by Adelbert Kraus and Gladys Lyndemann; gavotte, by William Carnahan and Dorothy Wolf; Madam Coquette, by Mervin Pidgeon; Spring song, by Cecilia Porch; Highland fling, by Violet Reinwald; Spirit of the Spinning Wheel, by Louise Metzger.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD READY.

Volunteers Aid in Emergency or Calamity in America.

In view of the stand taken on the subject of "Preparedness" throughout the United States, and in order to prevent the members of the Needlework Guild from enrolling with new societies organized for this purpose, we beg to state that the Fort Wayne branch is already prepared for immediate action in collecting new garments and surgical supplies in case of any emergency or calamity in this country, and that it will gladly welcome new members for this cause.

Information may be had by addressing the president, Mrs. Robert F. Harding, 2417 Webster street.

We expect to sell eighty dozen $1.50 Manchester Shirts at $1.10 tomorrow and Saturday.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Forbes-Robertson Tonight.

In his farewell American tour, Forbes-Robertson, the distinguished English actor, will appear this evening at the Majestic in his most famous production, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." The event promises to be a most notable dramatic treat. He is supported by a company of unusual excellence.

Some Elman Headlines.

Mischa Elman, the genius of the violin, who appears at the Majestic Friday evening under the auspices of the Morning Musical, has been delighting audiences everywhere. The following headlines were culled from criticisms in the daily papers on Elman's last tour of America:

"Elman, Famous Russian, Gives Great Concert." "Elman Draws Capacity House." "Young Violinist Dazzles Great Audience." "Elman Gives Rare Enjoyment." "Elman Takes New York By Storm." "Elman Again Charms Music Lovers." "Elman, the Great Russian Virtuoso." "Elman Wins Marked Personal Tribute." "Elman's Work Much Enjoyed." "Elman Triumphant." "Elman Plays Wonderfully." "Elman Has Great Ovation." "Elman Gained in Poise and Maturity." "Elman Has Gained in Delicacy." "Turn Off Lights, But They Stay to Hear Elman."

AT THE TEMPLE.

POPULAR FARCE COMEDY.

"Billy" Opens at Temple Theater This Evening.

"Billy," the popular farce comedy, will be the offering at the Temple theater during the remainder of the week, starting with tonight's performance. This play was made famous by Sidney Drew, first as a vaudeville sketch known as "Billy Tombsstones" and later as the present three-act comedy which has been featured in the movies as well as on the stage.

"Billy" gets more laughs than ninety-five per cent of the farce comedies and will be prescribed by most doctors as the best cure for that downcast feeling. The action centers on a host and features a typical rah-rah football player who has the time of his life, all because of the loss of his teeth, which prevents him from pronouncing the name of his sweetheart, Beatrice.

The entire lower floor for Friday night has been sold out to the Masons but seats are still to be had in the balcony.

The management of the Temple theater has completed arrangements to assist in the dress-up week celebration throughout next week when a fashion show will be held at the popular playhouse following each performance with models displaying all of the latest spring creations in the clothes line offered by the local merchants.

She's Not Afraid of Roaring Lions

CLARA HORTON

Universal City, Cal., March 21.—Little Clara Horton, one of the juvenile movie players, oftentimes takes parts that would frighten older actors. She goes into cages with wild animals and smiles when the directors seem worried over her safety.

Not long ago she took a part in "Under the Lion's Paw," and had her picture taken with "Sam," a big lion, who usually objects to intruders in his home. Lion trainers were nearly so squeal "Sam" in case he grew rough. One look at the golden-haired miss and the big lion was as gentle as a rabbit. "I wasn't a bit afraid," said Clara. "I just kept saying: 'Sam, you must be a good lion and not hurt anyone.' I think he was more scared than anyone. I like to act with animals. If you think kind things about this afternoon, I won't hurt you. Some day I'm going to be an animal trainer, myself."

entertainment served with black plumes and bows of crepe will find little to please them in the week-end bill that opened at the New Palace this afternoon, for this program is a good time bill purely, a layout of vaudeville simply brimming with joy. Louis A. Simon and company in the Grace Gardner comedy hit, "The New Coachman," are heading the program, with Mr. Simon as the college student who finds himself involved in scores of perplexing situations, everlastingly a laugh in itself. Maurice Burkhardt's singing number is entitled "The Thief and is said to be the most amusing singing sketch extant. Robert Everest will present his funny Simians in "The Monkey Hippodrome," a circus of fun that the youngsters especially will enjoy. A special matinee for Saturday is being arranged for the kiddies. There is much sense to the conglomeration of stuff that Emil Dunbar and Josephine Turner are presenting under the title, "Next," but the artists do not pretend there is any sense to it. El Cota, the world's great xylophone player, also is on this bill in an arrangement of popular rags and selections from favorite operas. Cummin and Sealton will sing an invitational number and the reason is evident when one has enjoyed their eccentricities. The bill closes Saturday night.

DECATUR NEWS.

TODAY'S BEAUTY TALK

You can make a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost if you get from your druggist a package of canthrox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and rub briskly. This creates an abundance of thick, white lather that thoroughly dissolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly, with a softness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.—Advertisement.

How to Clean White Kid Gloves and Shoes

Makes Them Soft and White in Few Minutes or Money Refunded.

Saturate a piece of white cloth with Klee-Nu, an expensive cleaning fluid. Rub the kid and the soil will disappear as if by magic, leaving it soft and clean and white as new, ready to wear after a few minutes drying. Cleaning only requires a few minutes and one bottle cleans many pairs without injury and delay of sending them out. Get a small bottle at your risk from your druggist, who will refund your money should you be dissatisfied with Klee-Nu.—Advertisement.

ADDITIONAL COURTS

COMMISSIONERS TO COUNT 'EM.

Beginning at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, April 5, the board of county commissioners will begin a recount of the ballots cast in the recent primaries for Christian G. Vonderau and Allen Hursh, democratic candidates for the nomination for county recorder. There were about 7,000 democratic ballots cast in the primaries and the task will be tedious and prolonged. The contest suit filed by Mr. Vonderau against Recorder Hursh was transferred from the circuit court late Wednesday afternoon to the commissioners' court, where it will be determined. County Auditor Will Johnson will act as clerk to the board. County Clerk D. C. Stout has been ordered to deliver the ballots to the commissioners. Either contestant can appeal to the circuit court if the recount does not satisfy him.

STORM DAMAGE MAY REACH $1,500,000

Casting Up Results from Indiana Tornado on Tuesday Night.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—While estimates of the property damage in Tuesday's storm in northern Indiana vary widely, it appears from reports received here that the figure would be near a million and a half dollars. Estimates of the damage in the principal counties affected follows:

Newton, $40,000; Grant, $200,000; Cass, $500,000; Blackford, $200,000; Wells, $100,000; Miami, $100,000; Wabash, $50,000; Huntington, $50,000; Jay, $20,000; White, $45,000.

The four deaths reported were: Clarence Wilson, 21, of near Logansport, who was burned to death in the wreckage of his home.

Milo Ricketts, 16, of Logansport, crushed to death by roof from factory being hurled against his home.

Silas Williams, 71, killed in collapse of his home at Jalapa.

Gertrude Alspach, 4, daughter of a farmer near Montpelier, crushed to death in wreck of home.

James Rector, Monon, suffocated in wreckage of home, which was carried fifty yards by storm.

Some Severely Injured. Among the more seriously injured are the following:

Mrs. John Hoffman, 70, suffered internal injuries when her Wells county home was wrecked.

Mrs. Jerry Carter, of St. Louis, Mo., who was a passenger on the Clover Leaf passenger train that was blown from the tracks into a ditch near Marion.

Benjamin Ricketts and wife of Logansport, parents of Milo Ricketts, who was killed when the home was crushed.

Mrs. A. H. Nethercutt, of Trimmer, who was buried under a stove, receiving serious burns and bruises, when her home was blown down.

Infant child of Arthur Erwins, of Monon, which was blown a distance of 100 feet and probably fatally injured.

John L. Alspach and wife, parents of Gertrude, who were burned and bruised when their home was blown down, the wreckage taking fire.

John Fulton and wife, who suffered internal injuries when their home was wrecked.

Hundreds With Minor Injuries. It is estimated that hundreds of persons, including a score or more who were passengers on the overturned Clover Leaf passenger train, suffered minor injuries in the storm.

Telephone and telegraph companies report hundreds of poles down in the storm area and several places in northern Indiana were without communication of any sort. Many roads were made impassable by uprooted trees being blown across them. For these reasons it may be days before news from some of the rural districts will be received.

It is known that many farm houses and barns have been destroyed and there was a heavy loss of live stock.

The path of the destructive part of the tornado varied from ten to twenty miles in width, with the brunt falling on White, Cass, Grant and Blackford counties. The storm was felt in other counties also, but much less severely, according to the meager reports from the affected districts.

The death of Clarence Wilson in Harrison township, Cass county, was one of the most tragic of the storm. Wilson went to his wrecked home and rescued a younger brother, but was himself pinned under a flying timber. The wreckage caught fire and Wilson was slowly burned to death.

MURDERERS ARE SENTENCED.
Walter Murphy to Hang and Milton Armstrong Gets Life Term.
Danville, Ill., March 23.—Walter Murphy was sentenced by Judge Brewer to be hanged on Friday, April 14. Milton Armstrong was sentenced to ninety-nine years in prison for the same crime. Murphy and Armstrong were found guilty of the murder of Louis Roumas. At a former trial, held three weeks ago, both men were found guilty of the murder of George Roumas, a brother of Louis, and their punishment was fixed at ninety-nine years in the penitentiary. Efforts are being made to have Murphy from the gallows. It is planned to take the case to the supreme court, and to have an appeal to the governor. The murder of the Roumas brothers was

TRAINING HARD FOR GO WITH EM-ROES

LYCEUM CROWD WORKING DAY AND NIGHT TO CONDITION ITSELF FOR SATURDAY GAME

With the best coaches obtainable and every man on the squad laboring hard to prepare himself for the ordeal, the Lyceum Federals are training every minute for the go with the Indianapolis Em-Roes at the Concordia gym Saturday night.

The seat sale will be a regular one if indications now are not misleading, and the game will be one of the best goes of the winter. The Em-Roe crew realizes that they have a tough proposition on hand, and are coming loaded for bear.

The big gym will be so arranged as to accommodate at least 1,800 people comfortably, and the Feds feel that they have enough drawing power to push out the walls. At that it will be a rattling good game and lovers of basketball whether or not they are Fed fans, should not miss the opportunity to see the fellows in action.

The Em-Roe players put up the same brand of game that is dished out by the Chicago West Side Y. M. C. A. Browns, who beat both the Feds and St. Mary's.

MORAN HAS IT DOPED THAT HE CAN'T FAIL

Will Knock Jess Out—So—Just Like That.

New York, March 23.—At both camps this morning the trainers of Jess Willard and Frank Moran announced that the heavyweight pugilists were "on edge and ready." At the heavy workouts have become a memory and light boxing only will be permitted today. Tomorrow the champion and challenger will rest. Confidence is the keynote of the Moran camp regardless of the fact that Willard is an overwhelming favorite both among the pugilistic experts and the average followers of boxing.

Reports of the champion's size and prowess elicit nothing more than a smile from the man who is to try and wrest his title away on Saturday night. In fact Moran's confidence in his ability not only to outbox Willard but to knock out the gigantic Kansan, is little short of an obsession. All Moran has ever asked was a chance to meet Willard in the ring and he has repeatedly stated that he expected to make his big money after his victory over the title holder. He admits that he has never seen Willard out of the "movie," but claims that this is no prospective since he has been able to study every move of the conqueror of Jack Johnson at his leisure. Moran contends that he is fully as clever at boxing as Willard, can hit equally as hard and is able to stand a greater amount of punishment than his prospective opponent. He appears to have absolute confidence in the knockout power of his right hand swing and also claims that he is no longer a one-arm boxer, having developed a strong left hand swing and straight drive.

Confidence is one of the greatest assets that a fighter can take into the ring with him and in the case Moran appears to be brimming over with it. Whether it will carry him to victory is a mooted question, but there can be no doubt that it will make the bout far more interesting from the spectator's standpoint, than the average heavyweight contest. Moran will be constantly trying to land his haymaker and he will undoubtedly score hard blows from time to time. Under the sting of punishment Willard will probably respond in kind and only the ponderous fighting machine gets into action it is not stretching the imagination to believe that the contest will pass beyond the stage of scientific boxing exhibition.

MUSKEGON'S BALL PARK BIG ENOUGH

Room for All Residents and Their Visiting Relatives.

Muskegon, Mich., March 24.—Plans for the grandstand and bleachers at Marsh field as drafted by Harry Boyle, of Evansville, have been accepted by the Muskegon club directors. The plans call for a semi-circular grandstand seating 2,500 and two bleachers on each side of the field seating 500. This brings the total seating capacity to 3,500.

Plans are now under way to sell season tickets. The directors are getting the books to the printers and they will be placed on sale in a few days. It is expected about 400 will be disposed of.

Despite the limited number of rooms and hotel accommodations here Manager Bade Myers has secured enough rooms in one block to accommodate his entire team during the season. Everything is now about completed for the training season which will open April 5. There will be a few pre-season games played here. Manager Myers taking his men into southern Michigan and Indiana, for these games before he opens the season at Evansville.

A. L. Randall, of the Randall Motor Sales company, has gone to Detroit to attend a convention of Packard automobile agents.

Clothing for the poor of Fort Wayne will be received at 1029 Fairfield avenue, and distributed to worthy people through the Fort Wayne Mother's club and the various charitable organizations. 11-15-16

CALIFORNIA YOUTH IS TENNIS STAR.

Roland Roberts, of San Francisco, Cal., clever junior tennis player, 15, who shows promise of developing into a national star. He is southern California states champion, and with Morgan Fritzel holds the title. Roberts' critics are saying he is a "tennis wonder." He is a native of San Francisco, and is a member of the local tennis club.

SPORT DOPE

Ray Brubaker and Pitcher Hart, of last year's Central league club, are really the property of Bade Myers and the Muskegon club as the result of a ruling by the baseball commission, according to Grand Rapids dispatches. There has been considerable dispute concerning the players and for a time it threatened to develop into a regular battle.

Mr. Methuselah is in a fair way to stand second best among old-timers. Bade Myers announces in clarion tones that he, personally, himself, will hold down the first corner job with Muskegon.

Bruce Noel, old time Dayton standby, has written the Vets that a new arrival in his family will hold him down at Oshkosh, Wis. this summer, and that he will play semi-pro ball.

Lincoln, Neb., March 24.—Joe Stecher, champion wrestler, and Henry Ordeman, of Minneapolis, to whom former Ordeman Frank Gotch awarded the American championship upon his retirement from the mat, are matched to meet in this city on March 31.

Ordeman has been in more or less retirement for the last two years, owing to illness, and is making a supreme effort to get into proper condition to defeat the Nebraska. Ordeman has suffered but two defeats during the campaign as a wrestler, one at the hands of Frank Gotch, and the other by Stanislaw Zyzsko, and should be able to return to his former condition is expected to give Stecher a stiff match.

The Bethels won from the Cavalier Juniors 18 and 7 last night.

Detroit, Mich., March 24.—Pitcher Raymond Fagan, of the Detroit Americans, must spend another season in the minors. Dispatches from local baseball writers with the Tigers at the Waxahatchie, Tex., training camp said that Manager Jennings has decided to leave Fagan with the Beaumont, Tex., club when the Tigers break camp. Fagan last season established a record, pitching thirteen games for the Oklahoma City club of the Western association, and winning them all. He recently pitched part of a practice game for Detroit and Manager Jennings after looking him over, decided he needed more experience.

Jess Willard is credited with eighteen knockouts in his ring career, and they range everywhere from the first to the twenty-sixth round. However, the average required for him to put an opponent to sleep is 6-2-3 rounds.

HERE'S ANOTHER GREAT DISCOVERY

According to a Spanish paper published in Cuba Jess Willard is none other than Signor Jose Villar, member of a prominent Spanish family who came to Cuba from Taffal, Navarra, Spain. The paper then continues with a litling lay concerning the revindication of the Latin race in sports.

The color magenta is named after a battle which was fought in the year of its discovery.

HARKENRIDER GETS INTO THIRD PLACE

Rolls Away Over 200 in All Games and Tops Local Men.

Rolling in great form, Eddie Harkenrider ran into third place in all events at the Toledo tourney yesterday. Harkenrider and Bill Doehman ran into a tie for second place in the doubles with a total of 1,273. Harkenrider scored 618 in singles and although he counted only 539 in the five-man event, his average is so far in the air that he ran into third place in all events. He rolled over 200 in each of his nine games.

NEARLY 100 REGISTER IN HORSESHOE MEET

The entries in The Sentinel horseshoe contest totaled close to 100 today and more are coming in all the time. At the present rate the contest will include three or four hundred pitches. It is the plan to hold the tourney in the evenings and special lighting arrangements will be made.

As announced before the rules will be made public in full this week, but to give early starters time to practice it is announced now that the distance for pitching will be 42½ feet and the shoes must not weigh more than 2½ pounds apiece. The first prize trophy in the singles contest will be announced shortly. Other prizes are as follows:

Second prize, singles, a Two $ Tod hat, presented by Two $ Tod.

First prize, doubles, a 25 umbrella, presented by Kaplan & Greenbaum.

An $8.50 sweater, presented by Kratzsch & Schroeder.

Second prize, doubles, a high grade flash lamp by Fort Wayne Sporting Goods company.

Fifty tickets to the Grand theater.

In addition there may be special prizes offered at a later date.

HARLAN NEWS

Harlan, Ind., March 23.—Miss Zella Reichelderfer, who has been suffering from tonsillitis, is convalescing.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Roberts moved their household goods to Fort Wayne Tuesday, where they will reside in the future.

Messrs. Fred Reichelderfer and Claude Reynolds, of Payne, spent some time with friends here Tuesday.

Miss Lillie Witmer, of Grabbill, was a week-end guest of Miss Kate Zimmerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Frey will move to Grabbill next week, where Mr. Frey will have charge of the Standard oil station.

Miss Hazel Miller expects to have her new millinery stock ready for a public opening soon.

Miss Lyle Swift has returned from an extended visit with friends at Youngstown and Shelby, Ohio.

Rev. E. C. Carrington is holding revival meetings at Grabbill, Ohio, and at Grabbill, Ohio.

IS A LITTLE THING; BUT SHOOT, OH MY!

Portland, Ore., March 24.—So little that she can hardly "tote" a big gun, Mrs. Ada R. Schilling is nevertheless one of the most famous trap shooters in America.

Last year she was the leading amateur woman shooter in the United States, and this year she is helping win laurels for the Portland gun club of which she is a member.

Breaking clay birds is easier for her than washing dishes.

And so enthusiastic is she about this sport that she advises women generally to take it up if they want a fascinating, beneficial pastime.

"If one learns from the beginning to stand correctly and to hold the gun firmly," she says, "there will be no sore shoulders from the 'kick' even among the novices."

"I would advise women to start with the 12-gauge gun, since the smaller gauges only handicap one in making scores, and the recoil is about the same."

"Once a woman conquers her timidity regarding a gun, trap shooting will hold her enthralled, and it will bring her many benefits in health, judgment, sportsmanship and wholesome enthusiasm."

Mrs. Schilling is but 4 feet 11 inches high and weighs 95 pounds.

ON "GENERAL PRINCIPLES."

Archie McKory's Reason for Striking Daniel Mott.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—"I hit him on general principles," Archie McKory, 1951 Sheldon street, testified in city court when he was asked why he struck Daniel Mott, 125 North Liberty street. The police several days ago arrested McKory, Mott and Frank Maxion, 1951 Sheldon street, at Martindale avenue and Nineteenth street.

Judge Deery told McKory that if he did not think of a better reason for striking Mott, he would go to the workhouse himself on "general principles."

McKory then said Mott had been living at his home, and had made remarks about Maxion and himself that he did not like. McKory and Maxion were fined $1 and costs each for assault and battery on Mott. Mott was fined $1 and costs on a plea of guilty to drunkenness.

FIRE DAMAGE IS $5,000,000

Flames Sweep Over Thirty Blocks at Augusta, Georgia.

SIX HUNDRED HOMES
PREY OF THE FIRE

Flame-Swept Area Covers
One and One Quarter
Square Miles.

Augusta, Ga., March 23.—One of a series of fires which have caused millions of dollars worth of damage in the past few days in the south and southwest, swept through ten business blocks of Augusta and twenty adjoining residence blocks last night and early today, and before being got under control had caused damage which was conservatively estimated at not less than $5,000,000.

No lives were reported lost in the Augusta fire, although there were scores of narrow escapes, and several firemen were severely burned. The flame-swept area covers something like one and a quarter square miles, and in it were the city's largest office and business buildings on the north side of Broad street, warehouses on historic "Cotton Row," containing thousands of bales of cotton and some six hundred homes, many of them in the city's most exclusive residence section. Among other structures destroyed was St. Paul's Episcopal church, built 135 years ago.

Estimating losses. Loss early today was apportioned as follows: Business and office buildings and contents, $2,000,000; cotton warehouses and contents, $1,500,000; residences and household goods, $1,000,000; various other structures, $500,000.

Today local militia companies were on duty, having been called out early in the night. None of them, however, had reported a case of looting and the police said there had been no disorder.

Hotels and homes in the sections of the city not reached by the fire were thrown open to those whose residences were burned and steps were being taken by local authorities to give relief to the 3,000 persons who lost their homes. Warm weather saved them from suffering last night, as it did several thousand more who moved their belongings into the streets, fearing the flames might reach their homes.

The area that was burned was chiefly on the north side of Broad street and between that street and the Savannah river, although several blocks on the south side of Broad street were burned.

Second Blaze Starts.

Just as the fire was being got under control, another fire caused $12,000 damage in the southern section of the city, burning several houses and a grocery store. Chief among the structures destroyed were the following: Dyer building, brick building, Masonic Temple, Chronicle Union Savings bank, Augusta trunk factory building, Commercial club and the Y. W. C. A. building, Postal Telegraph company, Western Union Telegraph, John J. Evans wholesale and retail hardware, Tubman high school building and Horton grammar school building.

FIVE THOUSAND HOMELESS.

Lighted Toy Balloon Cause of Big Fire at East Nashville, Tenn.

Nashville, Tenn., March 23.—Citizens, civilians and church organizations of Nashville today were caring for 5,000 persons made homeless by the fire that swept East Nashville late yesterday, destroying 600 residences, causing one death and a property loss of $1,200,000. National guardsmen, called out by Governor Rye, patrolled the burned area to protect property and prevent looting. The one fatality was that of a negro. Many other persons were injured, but none seriously.

The blaze started from a lighted balloon thrown into a grassy vacant lot by a boy. A planing mill first was destroyed. The flames quickly spread to an extensive negro settlement, where, fanned by a high wind, every house was consumed. The conflagration then broke into two distinct blazes, one flowing east on Seventh street and the other down Fifth avenue. An area of thirty blocks was swept clean, which included many of the costly residences of Nashville, several churches and one charitable institution. After paralleling each other on separate streets, for many blocks, the two fires again joined. The fire department worked desperately, but the gale rendered their efforts useless. Streams of water turned toward burning houses were blown aside. The dirge of the wind, falling walls and screams of frightened women and children made a terrible din. Appeals for additional fire apparatus were sent to several nearby cities, but none could get here in time to keep the fire under control. Bucket brigades were formed and tons of water were thrown on buildings at important places in an effort to check or divert the fire. Meanwhile ambulances were dashing about picking up persons hurt by falling walls or objects thrown from windows. The fire was brought under control after the wind died and it had partly burned itself out.

RELIEF WORK IS SWIFT.
Funds Rushed to Paris, Texas, to Succor Fire Sufferers.

Paris, Texas, March 23.—Work of relieving the 8,000 persons made homeless by the fire of Tuesday night was carried along swiftly today. Large sums of money, raised in Paris and in cities near by, were distributed by the relief committee. Hundreds of persons slept on lawns and in public buildings last night. Railroad stations were turned into dormitories for women and children. The death list remained at three, with one person missing.

STATE SCHOOL BOARD WANTS LAW CHANGED

More Rigid Qualifications
Asked in Resolutions
Recently Passed.

Local school officials are in receipt of a letter from Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, calling attention to the resolutions passed by the state board of education at its last meeting asking that the general assembly amend the qualifications of teachers in the state. The resolutions are as follows:

"1. Resolved, That it is the sense of the state board of education that the Act of 1907 requiring that after August 1, 1908, all new teachers in the public schools of the state should be graduates of high schools and should have not less than twelve weeks' training in a school accredited for the training of teachers following such graduation in order to receive a twelve months' license, should be amended as to require a period of not less than one school year of thirty-six weeks in an accredited school for applicants to be eligible to receive a twelve months' license. Also that to be eligible to receive a twenty-four months' license such graduates should be required to spend a period of not less than two school years of thirty-six weeks each in an accredited school for the training of teachers; be it further

"Resolved, That school trustees, boards of school trustees and school commissioners when employing teachers follow the above recommendation in so far as possible.

"2. In order that pupils in the grade schools may be better prepared for taking up the work in certified and commissioned high schools, we recommend that grade teachers in the elementary schools, where the high schools are certified or commissioned, be required to have at least one year of approved professional training above graduation from a commissioned high school.

"3. Resolved, That the best interests of pupils of non-commissioned high schools require that no teacher attempt to teach more than two years' work during a school year in any such schools; further

"Resolved, That should any township trustee require or permit any teacher to attempt to teach more than two years' work in any non-commissioned high school, pupils from such schools shall not be allowed advanced standing after October, 1916, in any certified or commissioned high school except upon a thorough and satisfactory examination on all subjects for which credit is desired; and further

"Resolved, That any certified or commissioned high school that violates the above resolution shall forfeit its certificate or commission."

CHINA WILL AGAIN BECOME REPUBLIC

Yuan Shi Kai Rejects Emperors and Resumes Presidency.

Peking, March 23.—A state department mandate issued last night announces the abandonment of the monarchy and resumption of the republic.

The mandate says the revolution shows that the demand for a monarchical form of government is not unanimous and that therefore Yuan Shi Kai rejects the emperorship and resumes the presidency.

Yuan Shi Kai was elected president of China in October, 1915, after centuries of Manchu rule. His term originally was to run for five years. Yuan immediately began to rule the country with a strong hand. Some prominent reformers were compelled to flee from China, the opposition party was expelled from parliament, district councils were abolished and confusionism was restored.

In August, 1914, the first talk of a return of the country to a monarchy began. It continued until December, 1915, with much agitation against it. Then it was decided to re-establish the throne.

Japan, Russia and Great Britain protested strongly against a change in government and Yuan indefinitely postponed the time for ascending the throne.

Almost immediately after the announcement that the monarchy would be restored there began a rebellion in the south, similar to that which caused the downfall of the Manchu dynasty and the election of Yuan as president.

WESTERN UNION MEN TALK BETTER SERVICE

For the purpose of devising means to improve the service and to serve the public with greater dispatch and promptness, officials of the Western Union Telegraph company met the managers of the offices in northeastern Indiana Wednesday evening at a meeting held at the Commercial club.

Among those who spoke were A. R. McGrath, Chicago, division commercial agent; C. J. Eldridge, Chicago, division cable manager, and J. C. Nelson, Indianapolis, district superintendent.

Besides the above officials those who attended the meeting were: S. V. King, H. Hasinger and F. D. Walker, district commercial managers, Indianapolis; C. L. Yutell, Kendallville manager; H. A. Gossett, Auburn; J. C. Patterson, Decatur; D. C. Vollmer, Bluffton; F. J. Rohrer, Marion; H. Haag, Huntington; W. L. McArthur, Wabash; F. M. Andrews, Peru; W. A. Mossman, Muncie; Mrs. A. E. Haselmir, Fortland; M. A. Ryan, Richmond, and Manager F. B. Bradley and Clerks F. W. Carey and Lee King, of Fort Wayne.

YOU PAY MILKMAN; STAND OFF ICEMAN

Anyhow, That's the Charge Made by Ice Dealers' President.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—That the public had the habit of making the milk man pay the ice man for the milk was the subject of a local dealer, outlined a plan of advertising for the association which he recommended as offering a means to educate the public to the service that goes with every chunk of ice. Other speakers on the program were George Sheppard, of Toledo, Ohio, on "Salesmanship in the Ice Business;" E. W. Mickey, of East Chicago, on "Motor Trucks in Ice Delivery;" George H. Balfe, of Lafayette, on "Ice vs. the Small Refrigerating Machine," and Mark A. Brown on "Service in the Ice Delivery."

Frank E. Coulter made a report on "Ice in Storage, Natural and Manufactured."

BRANAMAN WOULD BE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Indianapolis, March 23.—John C. Branaman, of Brownstown, has announced that he would be a candidate for the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor before the state convention which will meet here April 26 to nominate candidates for state offices and adopt a platform. He is the first to announce himself for the position.

Mr. Branaman has served three terms, 1911, 1913 and 1915, in the legislature, and was the democratic floor leader in the last session.

FORT WAYNE MAN IS NOT WORRYING

August Freese Says He Has Very Little in Fire Insurance Concern.

"I have so little stock in the First National Fire Insurance company that the outcome of the litigation started in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, is causing me no concern," August Freese, 618 West Creighton avenue, stated Thursday. Robert W. T. DeWald, 1030 West Wayne street, disposed of his stock in the company over a year ago, and is not in any way interested in it at the present time.

A number of stockholders led by O. Sutton, of the court of claims, Washington, have filed suit against former Postmaster General Robert J. Wynne and his associates asking for an accounting and restitution of $500,000, which Wynne and his associates are charged with appropriating to themselves.

WIFE AND CHILDREN LOCKED OUT OF HOME

Declaring that last Saturday she and her two little children were thrust out of their home, 503 Holmes street, by the husband and father, Mrs. Stella Aker on Thursday swore out a warrant for the arrest of Cleveland G. Aker for child neglect. Mrs. Aker told Deputy Prosecutor John C. Hoffman that her husband drove herself and the children from the house and locked them out and had since then refused to permit them to return.

ACCIDENT RESULTS IN LOSS OF FOOT

Winfield L. Grable, Hurt a
Week Ago, Submits to Amputation.

Winfield L. Grable, the Pennsylvania employee who had a leg badly injured last Thursday when a belt broke and the severed end struck his limb, had to submit to amputation yesterday. The leg was taken off near the knee, the operation being performed at the Lathrop hospital by Dr. Budd Van Sweringen, the company's surgeon. It was necessary because of the character of the fracture of the bones and infection, caused by a piece of the metal connecting hooks lodging in the flesh. Mr. Grable was employed in the boiler department of the Pennsylvania company's power plant and the belt broke as he was passing the part of the machinery to which it was connected. The injured man is married and resides at 331 French street. He is said to have passed through the surgical operation in good shape and gives promise of rapid recovery.

INTERURBAN AGAIN ON JOB.

Repairs Storm Damages and Resumes Operation.

General Manager S. W. Greenland and Supt. of Transportation James Brennan, of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, have returned from the scenes of Tuesday night's storm, west of Peru, where they went yesterday afternoon to direct the work of repairing the damaged line. Big forces of men have been at work day and night since the storm and this afternoon succeeded in getting it in shape so that traffic was resumed and the first car from west of the storm center reached Fort Wayne about 4 o'clock. Mr. Greenland says that Tuesday night's storm was the worst in its effects since the floods of three years ago.

PENNSY ORDERS LOCOMOTIVES.

Supplements the Lima Order With an Order for 25 More.

The Lima paper announces the placing of an order by the Pennsylvania with the Lima Locomotive works for twenty-five locomotives of the Mikado pattern in addition to the order placed some time ago. This additional order, the Lima paper states, will involve the expenditure of a half million dollars. These engines are for 1917 delivery. The Lima works, which employs 1,400 men, is making arrangements to add 300 to the list, bringing the working force up to 1,700.

MOVING TO UPPER SANDUSKY.

After a residence in this city of nearly a third of a century, J. L. Polhamus, Pennsylvania engineer, is about to become a resident of Upper Sandusky, O. He has closed his home here and is now preparing to ship his household effects to that place. In the meantime Mrs. Polhamus will visit with her parents and other relatives in Decatur, going to Upper Sandusky as soon as her husband secures a house and is ready to install their furniture therein. As previously stated Engineer Polhamus has been transferred to the work train, with headquarters in Upper Sandusky.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns
Gray, Faded Hair Dark
and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

SOME SHOPMEN ARE INJURED.

M. L. Haslup, of the lathe department of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty with an injured knee. Machinist A. Collis had a finger cut and bruised last evening; F. Gallo, a machine operator, bumped against a projection on a cab and hurt his nose when he attempted to dodge a big pipe which was being carried by a fellow shopman, and J. C. Madden, of the erecting shop, received a blow on his left cheek which cut and bruised the flesh painfully. All these accidents happened yesterday.

OVER 100 PRESENT.

The social session of Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, at Unity hall last night, was attended by over 100 and was a pleasant affair. The features of the evening were cards, dancing and short talks by members of the brotherhood. The trainmen give an affair of this kind every month or so and they are always most pleasant events.

MOULDER HAS FOOT HURT.

Alex Boehler, a moulder in No. 1 wheel shop at the Bass foundry, was injured painfully last night. While at work a heavy "chill" fell upon and bruised one of his feet and possibly broke some of the bones. He was attended by the company's surgeon and then sent to his home, 2211 Weissner Park avenue.

HURT IN FALL FROM CAR.

Benjamin McCuskie, an operator of one of the electric welding apparatus at the Pennsylvania shops, sustained a bruised breast and side and possibly a fractured rib or two at 10 o'clock last night, when he fell from a car while at work. He is being attended by the company's surgeon.

WILL ADDRESS RAILROAD MEN.

F. Q. Laudeman, pastor of the First Evangelical church, will deliver a sermon to the railway men of Fort Wayne next Sunday morning. Arrangements are now in progress for the meeting, which will be one of the largest of its kind since the Lyon meetings a year ago.

MR. WOOD TO GO EAST.

J. J. Wood, factory manager of the General Electric works, left this afternoon for Chicago on business for the company. He will return Saturday and the following day will leave for New York on business for the company.

WABASH PAYMASTER SATURDAY

George Francisco, Wabash paymaster, will be here Saturday morning to distribute the wage checks among the employees. The pay roll is larger than for several months, because of the busy times on the road and in the shops.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

W. H. Meyers, Pennsylvania shopman, is sick and off duty.

Pennsylvania Yard Fireman M. Moser is taking a week's layoff to look after private matters.

M. R. Mureland, the welder's helper at the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty on account of sickness.

Painter C. A. Szink, who was sick a few days, resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

E. F. Prange, who had been sick, returned to work at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

Trimmer W. J. Sizoy failed to report for work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning on account of sickness.

W. A. Stockbridge, Pennsylvania electrical engineer, is in Columbus on business for the department.

Pennsylvania Engineer F. E. Oaks, who had been off duty for some days, has resumed work on the road.

R. H. Kaiser, Pennsylvania machine shop crane operator, and M. F. Gornley, machine operator, resigned yesterday.

A Stege resumed work in the Pennsylvania car machine shop this morning. He had been sick a week.

A. V. Zuber, Pennsylvania boilermaker, is off duty on account of the illness of his wife, who was taken to the hospital today.

O. C. Miller, who has just resigned a position at the Pennsylvania boiler shop, has secured a clerical position in the business district.

E. F. Needham, superintendent of the locomotive and car department on the Wabash, was in Fort Wayne yesterday on company business.

J. I. Soffer, Nickel Plate engineer, and Mrs. Soffer have been called to Michigan to the bedside of Mrs. Soffer's mother, who is ill.

Boilermaker E. L. Slater and Rivet Heater O. G. Schoenberg, of the Pennsylvania shops, are sick. R. M. Patterson, a tank repairer, is also sick.

J. Leffers, for six months employed in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, resigned last night and this morning went to the country to work on a farm.

Jerome Bobilya, of the General Electric works, has been transferred to the production department to assist William Kellmeyer in machine production work.

O. C. Wright, assistant motive power engineer of the Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Wright arrived home last night, after a two weeks' sojourn at Coronado, Florida.

F. L. Rank, C. Couture and W. C. Lyons, laborers, resigned positions in the Pennsylvania round house this morning to go to the country to work during the summer.

The Wabash railroad is making strenuous efforts to get more car builders for the car shops at Decatur, where many of the old cars are being rebuilt and new ones made.

Joseph C. Brake failed to show up for work at the Pennsylvania road force men of engines office, where he is a clerk, yesterday. He is suffering from an attack of the grip.

Rev. C. O. Shirey, of the Bethany Presbyterian church, spoke at the noon meeting at the east shops of the Pennsylvania today. The meeting was in charge of the Y. W. C. A.

bruised and sprained one of his ankles. No bones are broken.

Three of the high steel stacks at the Wabash round house and shops at Peru were prostrated by the storm Tuesday night. No other damage to the property occurred, so far as learned.

Chief Clerk W. L. Wilt, of the Pennsylvania motive power department, returned from an eastern business trip last night. He says business of all kinds is very good in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Grosh left at noon today for Monterey, Ind., where they will attend the funeral of their niece who died yesterday. Mr. Grosh is foreman of the Wabash erecting shop.

Ben McCloskey, a Pennsylvania shop employee, fell from a car in the yards at 10 o'clock last night and fractured a rib. He was removed to St. Joseph's hospital. His condition is not serious.

Lee Schallenberg, apprentice at the Bass machine shop, left the St. Joseph hospital Tuesday and is now at the family home on Lafayette street. He was operated upon for hernia two or three weeks ago.

Carl O. Langens, bookkeeper at the Bass foundry, who underwent an operation two weeks ago at the Lathrop hospital for relief from appendicitis, was removed to his home yesterday. He is improving.

Passenger Engineer Emil Jamey and Fireman W. Stahlhut, of the Pennsylvania, are sick and off duty. Engineer J. B. Lease, who had been off duty several days looking after private business, reported this morning.

Frank H. Hilgemann, the real estate agent, who has been in poor health for some time, left today for the south, where he will remain several weeks in the hopes of receiving physical benefits. Mr. Hilgemann is of the firm of Hilgemann & Schaaf.

The force at the Pennsylvania round house has been slightly crippled by accidents and sickness. A binder, a machinist's helper, had one of his feet injured so as to incapacitate him last night, and Machinist K. Braun and Machinist's Helpers William McKrikowski and H. Skiles are sick.

General Foreman Chris Kees, of the Pennsylvania freight house, is recovering, though still unable to walk, and he will not be at the warehouse for several days. Mr. Kees had some of the bones of one of his feet broken last week, when a pipe dropped on the member while he was at the warehouse.

Harry Griffith had the flesh covering the second joint of the index finger of his left hand painfully cut this morning when the digit came in contact with the emery wheel on which he was sharpening a tool. Dr. F. J. Schulz stitched and dressed the wound and the injured man pluckily resumed work afterwards.

F. E. More, assistant road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania, has returned from a visit with his father, W. C. More, on the farm near Columbia City. He reports his father in good spirits and slightly improved in health.

Mr. More, sr., is one of the substantial and well known farmers of Whitley county.

There is sorrow in the hearts of the members of the family of William Peck, of the Bass foundry, and particularly the children. A French poodle, which was the pet of not only the members of the Peck family but of the entire neighborhood, died last week.

was chloroformed to put it out of misery. O. J. Ramey, the N. Y. C. brakeman, who had a foot injured at Ypsilanti several weeks ago, when the member was caught between the drawbars, is now in a fair way to recover. The surgeons have succeeded in reducing the swelling to the point where it is possible to set the bones and this will be done in a day or two. Mr. Ramey is at the St. Joseph hospital.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the four, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic, remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by California Fig Syrup Company. Advertisement.

WAR STOPS ALL TALK IN JAMAICA OF ANNEXATION TO UNITED STATES, SAYS ROBERT BABSON.

The war hasn't made any difference in woman's lot in Jamaica; they have always done men's work here as our picture shows. They are helping prepare cement for Kingston's roadways.

This is another story in a strikingly interesting and remarkable series of travel papers by Roger W. Babson, famous writer and economist. Babson has set out for Central America to tell American readers of this little-known land of romance, of untapped resources and ancient civilization that lies at our very doors. On his way he will make several stops at points of interest. An article telling how the great war is affecting Jamaica is printed here today. Others will follow in rapid succession. —Editor.

By Roger W. Babson.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 17.—The principal city of Jamaica is Kingston. It is on the south side of the island, and its harbor is the finest in the West Indies, having a total area of 16 square miles.

The original town was Port Royal, which stood on a neck of land separating the bay from the ocean. Port Royal in the old days was a notorious port for pirates (not J. P.) and his buccaners, but in 1692 there occurred one of the worst disasters in the world's history. There was an earthquake and the whole town was swallowed by the sea. When the sea is exceptionally calm I have even seen some of the buildings deep below the surface of the water.

The new Kingston was built on the main land. In spite of this it suffered a severe earthquake in 1907, but this time the buildings were shaken down but not engulfed. Kingston has excellent electric car service, fine hotels, and all modern conveniences, including good stores for shopping. The markets, as in all West Indian cities, are interesting, so is the old parish church, now badly damaged by the earthquake, but still standing.

The people of Kingston are now sad and solemn. Jamaica is an English colony and Kingston is an English city. The income of the people has declined since the war and their taxes have been increased. The war has hurt Jamaica, as it has hurt every other foreign country, and as it will ultimately hurt our own country.

Yet the Jamaicans are loyal. The press is very enthusiastic over the war. The women are working for the soldiers, and the men are even enlisting. Really, I find the Jamaicans more enthusiastic over being a British possession today than they used to be before the war broke out. Then annexation to the United States was a popular subject, but now any such talk is considered treachery.

War or no war, the fact still remains that both Jamaica and the United States would be better off to have England sell the island to us. It may seem a serious complication to have Jamaica and the other English possessions between us and South America. The best thing for all parties would be for us to buy these possessions of England or else trade them for the lower part of Alaska, which extends down along the west coast of Canada.

Don't Soak Feet—Use the New Dry Bath—Instant Relief from Sweat, Smell, Ache.

Takes but a minute to make your feet feel fine. Just smooth them over with a little Step-E-Z. Powerful, penetrating, soothing, drying, regulates pores, removes all sweat and smell, toughens the muscles, lessens the nervous strain on cords and ligaments. Apply any time all over bare feet, no fuss, no bother. Don't soak feet in hot water, makes them tender, causes them to overheat and you catch cold. Keep your feet dry and comfortable with a Step-E-Z dry bath. No more chafed, blistered, calloused, itching feet. Used at night Step-E-Z stops twitching, nervousness, keeps feet naturally dry and insures sound sleep. Try it. Get a 25-cent box of Step-E-Z at any druggist's. Your money back if it fails. Write to Becker Block Co., 823 S. Sangamon St., Chicago, for a free trial.

DRESS-UP WEEK

Dress Up Week March 27 to April 1

Merchants and others interested in the development of the Spring Dress Up—to be observed in Fort Wayne March 27th to April 1st, are welcoming a chance to visualize, if that can be done, even in a small degree, with a movement so tremendous in scope, something of the spread of the Dress Up idea.

In fact, so many feasible ideas have been brought forth that the Fort Wayne merchants will carry out the Dress Up idea into every channel and will conduct the campaign in a wholesale fashion, omitting nothing that can be of help to bring out the ideas of Dress Up to the public.

Each merchant will give special attention to the decorating and trimming of his windows, the repainting and remodeling of his store, both on the interior and exterior. A special emblem will be made, which will symbolize the Dress Up idea, and cards of this emblem will be on display in the window of every participant.

"EVERYBODY DRESS UP" will be a very good slogan to use, and everyone is urged to dress up in their best clothes during this week. In fact, the idea can be heartily received in every household, shop, factory, etc. To dress up also conveys the idea to clean up, to clean up the back yard, "to Dress it Up," as it were, to clean up everything from the streets, to brighten up, clean up, and dress up everything.

That the merchants intend to make this event more of a holiday week is thoroughly evidenced by the fact that Band Concerts are being arranged for every afternoon in the Court House Square. This will be only one of the many ideas to be carried out.

And to top it all, the Spring styles of each class of merchandise will be given a wide display and will be shown to the public in the most tastily dressed windows Fort Wayne has ever witnessed.

AND SO IT'S UP TO YOU, MR. AND MRS. PUBLIC, TO DRESS UP AND EACH HELP TO PUSH THE CAMPAIGN ALONG.

GENERAL STAFF IS BRAINS OF THE ARMY

And Gen. Hugh Scott is Real Brain Center of Whole Thing.

By Frederick M. Kerby

Washington, D. C., March 23.—Where is the brain center and nervous system of the United States army? Who takes charge when military moves start?

GEN. HUGH L. SCOTT

Who are the men responsible for the clocklike regularity of troop movements, supply trains, lines of communication, and all the strategy and planning that is part of the great game of war? Comparatively few men bear this responsibility.

Nominally, the president is the commander-in-chief of the army and navy, and under him the secretary of war is supposed to direct military operations. In reality, this is work for experts. The president and secretary can adopt policies and order them carried out, but the work of carrying them out falls on men trained for years to do just that.

The brain center of the war department is the general staff corps, first organized in 1903. And the brain center of the general staff corps itself, is the chief of staff.

The man who holds this responsible position is Major General Hugh L. Scott. For the time being, he outranks all other officers in the army.

Gen. Scott graduated from the Military academy in 1876, and went immediately to stirring service in the Indian wars. For 15 years, until 1891, he was engaged in fighting or pacifying Nez Perce, Cheyenne, Kiowa, Comanche and Apache Indians; and was in charge of Geronimo's band of Chiricahua Apaches from 1894 to 1897. He succeeded Gen. Leonard Wood as chief of staff.

The general staff corps is divided into four divisions: (1) mobile army; (2) war college; (3) coast artillery; (4) division of military affairs.

At the head of the mobile army division is Maj. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss. He served through the Porto Rican campaign in the Spanish war and was on the Mexican border in Southern California in 1911, during the Mexican insurrection of that year. Under his mobile army division comes the detailed work of planning for field operations in wartime.

Brig. Gen. M. M. Macdonald, president of the army war office and head of the war college division, is the second officer on the staff. His division is concerned with planning, in advance, strategy of campaigns. Under him the whole of northern Mexico was mapped for the "punitive expedition" months and even years before the force crossed the border. The coast artillery division is under Brig. Gen. Erasmus M. Weaver, an artillery officer of long service.

The division of militia affairs is under Brig. Gen. Albert L. Mills, the fifth member of the general staff.

Under the general staff are placed the adjutant general's office, the inspector general, the judge advocate general, medical and ordnance departments, the quartermaster corps, the corps of engineers and the signal corps.

For these departments the general staff constitutes a supervising military bureau, a nerve center from which flashes the orders, instructions, plans and specifications for moving, feeding, clothing, nursing and caring for, as well as directing the fighting, the strategy and the planning for the mobile forces of the United States.

The men who head the departments make up the general staff corps and act as the assistants to Gen. Scott.

COWGIRL IS DISAPPOINTED.

Comes From El Paso to Rushville to Marry, But Man Is Missing.

Rushville, March 23.—The romance of Miss Eulalia Frans, a Texas cowgirl, of El Paso, and Derby Kiser, formerly of Rush county, but later a railroad man in Texas, which began at El Paso, has been shattered, temporarily at least, by Kiser's failure to come for the wedding. Miss Frans came from El Paso alone to meet Kiser here and marry him. Kiser became acquainted with the girl while working on a railroad running through El Paso.

Miss Frans says that she owns a ranch in New Mexico, not far from El Paso, and that her parents live in California. She visited Kiser's relatives and found that none of them had heard from him for two years and did not know that he expected to return home to marry. She had been informed that Kiser had property here, but found that it was in litigation and that he did not possess a clear title.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacupful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Advertisement.

DANGEROUS VARICOSE VEINS CAN BE REDUCED

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins, or bunched the best advice that anyone in this world can give is to get a prescription that many physicians are now prescribing. Ask your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that it dissolves goitre and wens and causes them to disappear. It can always be secured at Meyer's Drug Store.—Advertisement.

THE "BAILEY" IRON PLANE has been the STANDARD for over FORTY YEARS and has always maintained the leading position.

From time to time other iron planes, made in imitation of this celebrated Plane, have appeared upon the market. These imitation planes are often put up with numbers and labels designed to make the consumer think that he is obtaining the "BAILEY" Plane.

Every Bailey Plane has the name, "BAILEY," and the number cast in the bottom, and the name, STANLEY, is stamped on each cutter.

TO FIRST COMPLETE LAFAYETTE STREET

Board Asks Pennsylvania
to Come on With Plans
and Estimates.

With a view to a prompt beginning, and an early completion of track elevation work at Lafayette street and the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads, the board of works on Thursday addressed a letter to R. Trimble, chief engineer of maintenance of way for the Pennsylvania, informing him that the board has fixed Monday, April 17, as the time within which his company, together with the Wabash and the city of Fort Wayne shall file their detailed plans and estimates for grade separation at that thoroughfare. The board says that it has carefully investigated the Pennsylvania's profile plans for track elevation at that street and that while they do not show all that the city desired, in consideration of conditions as they exist at this time, the board is reluctantly satisfied. The board note that there never have been submitted any detail plans of the superstructure or specifications and expects them. Because it is not desired to have operations at Lafayette and Hanna street proceeding at the same time the board will let the work at that thoroughfare remain in abeyance until the work at Lafayette street is so far along as that there will be no necessity for closing both streets simultaneously. It is expected that the way will be cleared for beginning operations at Lafayette street at an early day.

MUCH INTEREST IN BIDDING.

Flock of Material Men Here for Payment Lettings.

The fact that the board of works will open bids, Thursday evening, for the paving of nineteen streets, aggregating four and one-third miles of improvements, has brought a flock of paving material men to the city to urge their wares. Vitrified block men predominate with a sprinkling of creosoted wooden block representatives. It is expected that five concerns will submit bids—the Grace, Brooks and Moellering Construction companies of Fort Wayne; the Putnam & Schaefer company of Findlay, Ohio, and one other outside company. The streets to be improved are as follows:

Clinton, Murray to Wallace; Creighton avenue, Calhoun to Lafayette; Crescent avenue, Columbia to Lake; Erie street, Francis to Hanover; First street, Harrison to Wells; Harrison street, First to New York Central tracks; High street, St. Mary's to Runyon; Home avenue, Broadway to the alley west; John street, Pontiac to Eckart; Lillie, McCulloch and Ohio streets, each from Maumee to Hayden; Madison avenue, La-

THE DEATHS.

CONKLIN.

Enrick Conklin, aged 28 years, a chiropractor, died Wednesday evening at a local hospital following a brief illness. The deceased was well known among the young professional men of the city and his demise is mourned by a host of friends and acquaintances. Besides the widow he is survived by two sisters—Mrs. Burdette Jones, of Danbury, Conn., and Mrs. Ethel Harmon, of Waterbury, Conn., and two brothers, Ovid Conklin and George Conklin, of New York city. Funeral services Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's Catholic church. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

HOUSE.

The body of Mrs. Louise House, who passed away at her home in Bloomington, Ill., several days ago at the age of 75 years, arrived in Fort Wayne Wednesday night and funeral services were held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at Klachn & Melching's chapel. The deceased's husband was a former engineer on the Wabash, but the family moved away from here thirty-two years ago. Four children survive her.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

McDougle.—Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret McDougle will be held at the late residence, 1221 East Lewis street, Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. D. H. Guild officiating, after which the body will be shipped to Pleasant Lake for services at 1:30 o'clock.

Rodemeyer.—Funeral services for Mrs. Lizette Rodemeyer will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence, 923 Washington boulevard east, and at 2 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church; interment at Concordia. Kindly omit flowers.

The services will be private and friends may view the remains until Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

Dead.—Funeral services for Mrs. Christine Bende will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence and at 2:30 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church; interment at Concordia. Kindly omit flowers.

Six grandsons of the deceased will serve as pallbearers.

Wetel.—Funeral services for Frederick William Wetel will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 714 High street, and at 2:30 at St. John's Lutheran church. Interment at Lindenwood.

Plan "Spizzierinkum" Party.

On Friday evening the Christian Endeavor society of the Third Presbyterian church will give a "spizzierinkum" party in the church parlors. The young people with the assistance of the Ladies' Aid society have planned a number of unusual and novel events.

Captain John J. Miller, of the recruiting station at Toledo, Ohio, will visit the sub-station here Friday and examine the recruits who have been accepted.

TO BUILD NEW ARMORY.

Lafayette, Ind., March 23.—Purdue university's board of trustees will hold a special session Tuesday of next week to complete plans for a new armory. It was stated positively today by President Stone, of the university, that a new armory to take care of the cadet corps and the Purdue battery of the Indiana national guard will be built as soon as possible.

President Stone recently was in communication with the state authorities, including the governor and the attorney-general, on the subject of a state appropriation to help pay the cost of erecting the armory, but the replies proved unsatisfactory, and it has been decided to go ahead and build the armory with Purdue money only.

Christian H. C. Kayser, 2425 Little street, has received a letter from his sister, Mrs. William Oberholmen, of Salisbury, Neb., stating that her husband died March 10. Mr. Oberholmen will be remembered by older residents of Fort Wayne, where he formerly resided. He went to Nebraska to reside forty years ago.

We think of railroads, telephones, the telegraph, the wireless—but how about want ads?

They are in the same class. It used to be when a man wanted help he had to ask among his friends where he could get a good stenographer, bookkeeper, etc. TODAY he puts in a want ad and tomorrow he has only to choose from a dozen or more.

He has furniture to sell—he want ad brings many buyers.

He has a house to rent—he want ad rents it—he has a house to sell—he want ad sells it.

RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

PRAYER

By J. W. Hedgepeth.

There is no subject in the Bible that has been given more emphasis than prayer. The Master, the only begotten Son of God, was given much to prayer—heart-to-heart talks with the Father. Prayer is one of the most vital factors in the development of a Christian life. The soul needs nourishment as well as the physical man. It is universally accepted that the physical man must have food to sustain life. Let an individual lose a few meals in succession and he becomes weak; prolong this condition and he is exhausted. So it is with the immortal soul. God in His infinite wisdom not only gave us a moral code for spiritual growth, but a code for the physical life. But there is a craving from within which demands something other than physical nourishment. It is the soul seeking its affinity—the God-part of man soaring above the physical, upward into the ethereal and still onward and upward into the spiritual realm, where the spirit of man meets the spirit of God in holy communion and where fellowship is mutually enjoyed because of the oneness of spirit and purpose.

Take the young Christian fresh from the merry-sea who has been happily converted and let him at this point begin to neglect the nourishment of the soul, and soon he becomes indifferent, lukewarm and before he is conscious of the transition he has degenerated into old ways and habits and embraces follies of former days. Old haunts of sin are just as alluring and the companions of vice are as congenial as ever. Investigate his case and see wherein the trouble lies. He has absented himself from his church; he has neglected Sunday school and prayer meeting and has become a stranger to the religion he professes and a foreigner to the saving grace of Jesus Christ, and in many cases such a man becomes skeptical, and wonders in his own mind if he was ever really converted. The weary meeting is fed from the bountiful table of Jehovah; it is there we meet with the faithful of God's followers; it is there we are forcefully reminded that we are in the presence of God, that the Holy Spirit is directing the service; it is there the hungry soul which is always thirsting for spiritual nourishment is fed from the bountiful table of Jehovah; it is there the soul responds to the pleadings of the Holy Spirit and is strengthened with God's grace; it is there we become better acquainted with the boundless mercies, limitless love of God. Too many fail to fully appreciate the importance of prayer. The non-praying church member is in a dangerous condition. He is deprived of communion with God; he is robbed of God's help, guidance and assistance. In short, he is thrown upon his own resources which mean failure unless he recognizes himself by prayer through faith in Jesus Christ to full fellowship with the great King of Kings. The soul must be fed or else the soul will become weak, dwarfed, susceptible to sin and finally sink to ruin. Let us learn wisdom by taking everything to God in prayer, and we will grow in grace and knowledge and progress in the religious life until we shall grow to the full stature of a well-rounded Christian character.

Prayer is the hope of the sinner and the strength of the Christian.

What Was Your Greatest Blunder?

Everybody blunders now and then; some more and worse than others. A study in blunders ought to be profitable, if made with a view to avoiding or correcting them. Five hundred men were once asked what was the greatest blunder they had made. Here are fifteen of their replies: "Reading worthless books." "Did not stick to my trade." "Did not take care of money." "Careless about my religious duties." "When I left my church and mother." "Not saving money when I was young." "Refused a steady position with a good firm." "The greatest blunder of my life was gambling." "Wasted away my time when I was at school." "Thinking that my boss couldn't do without me." "Would not hearken to the advice of older people." "Not keeping my house clean and giving my mother work." "When I left school before I was past the fourth grade." "The greatest blunder was when I first learned to smoke." "The greatest blunder of my life was not accepting Christ, and thereby avoiding many sorrows caused by serving Satan."—Biblical Recorder.

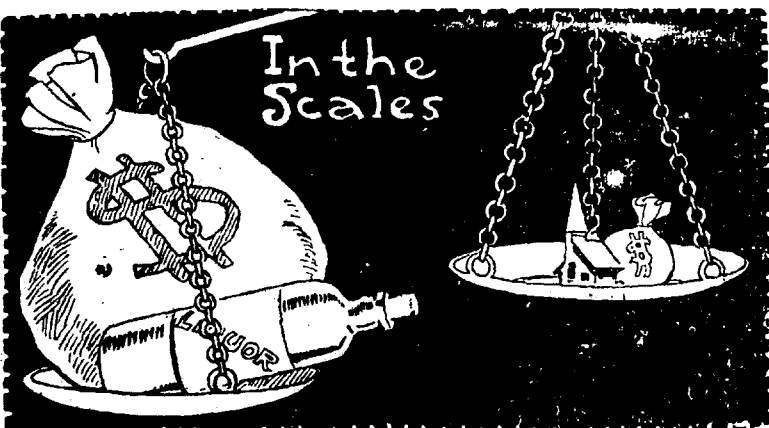

MOTHERS

When was there a generation since boys were born that women did not go to war? Never a bayonet lunged into the breast of a soldier that had not already cooled its hot wrath in the heart of a mother. While the soldier was fought through battle, the mother has wandered over a score of slaughter fields looking for his mangled body. He sings and plays the rough games of outdoor men in camp for a month, and then goes out to fight one skirmish; but every day and night of the thirty the mother has waked through a hundred alarms that never were. She has watched on the lonely picket post; she has paced the sentry beat before his tent; she has prayed beside him while he slept; the throbs of her heart have been the beads of her rosary. If a mother should write her story of the war, she would pluck a white hair from her temple and dip it in living stylus into the chalice of life's tears to write the diary of her days upon her heart.—Robert J. Burdette.

WHAT WE NEED

It is said of David's mighty men that they were right and left-handed. They were equally conversant with the sword of the left or right hand for the king. That is what we want. Men who are right-handed and left-handed for the King of Glory. Men who can use their eyes and tongues, and ears, and everything for the Lord Jesus.—Moody.

Two Billions for Drink, One-Eighth as Much for Churches, is Report

What has become of the old fashioned church worker? Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, is seeking enlightenment on this problem. After long study Dr. Eliot has prepared a table on expenditures not classed as necessities of life. It shows that in this country every year nearly three times as much money is spent on drink as for the next highest luxuries mentioned. Intoxicating liquors, except mentioned, except tobacco.	The table:

Drink	$2,000,000,000
Tobacco	1,200,000,000
Jewelry and plate	800,000,000
Automobiles	500,000,000
Church work, home	250,000,000
Confectionery	200,000,000
Soft drinks	120,000,000
Tea and coffee	90,000,000
Machinery	80,000,000
Patent medicines	60,000,000
Chewing gum	13,000,000
Foreign Missions	12,000,000

THE OLD HYMNS.

There's lots of music in the hymns of long ago, And when some gray-haired brother sings the ones I used to know I sorter want to take a hand; I think of days gone by— On Jordan's stormy banks I stand and cast a wistful eye.

There's lots of music in 'em, those dear sweet hymns of old, With visions of bright lands of light and shining streets of gold; And I hear them singing, singing, where memory dreaming stands, From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands. They seem to sing forever, of holier, sweeter days, Where the lilies of the love of God bloomed in all the ways, And I want to hear their music from the old-time meeting rise, Till I can read my title clear to mansions in the skies.

We hardly needed singing books, in them old days we knew The words, the tunes of every one, the dead hymn book through. We had no flaming trumpets then, no organs built for show, We only sang to praise the Lord, from whom all blessings flow.

And so I love the dear old hymns, and when my time shall come, Before my light has left me and my singing lips are dumb, If I can only hear 'em then I'll pass without a sigh To Canaan's fair and happy land, where my possessions lie.—Atlanta Constitution.

TOO LATE.

She kissed the old man; she showered upon him kisses and tears. She told all the people how good he was. I thought if she had only given half a dozen of those kisses a year for the last ten years, how the tender-hearted old gentleman would have smiled through his tears. That now he took it all very coolly. He was old and rich, she had ten rooms, but no room for father. Yet he made room for her when he had only two. The old man was not educated. She was at his expense. He had fed and clothed her for twenty years at home and at college, until she had risen into more refined and cultured society, and married among new friends. The old people's address and dialect were too coarse. She kissed him and hurried him in a beautiful coffin. Dear father is to have a beautiful monument. "YES, YES; I KNOW"

False Measure of Value

In these days we are altogether too likely to get a man mixed up with his bank account, or his farm, or his store, or his clothes. Let us put first things first. The man who lives in a cottage may be worth more than the man who lives in the brownstone front. The man who mends shoes may be worth more in Heaven's sight than the man who sits at a mahogany desk.

In other words, a man is worth what he is. True values are character values. I know a man who is very poor in this world's goods and very poor in health. Yet his pastor says he is the best soul-winner in a church of several hundred members. Scarcely a week passes but the pastor receives into the church some man or woman or young person who has been won to Christ through this humble servant of God. He is one of God's princes, and his charities and horsemen of God wait on his going.

I knew a woman. She kept a boarding-house. She said that she kept boarders for no expense, but her business was to win souls to Christ. It was nothing unusual for her to say to her boarders at the close of an evening meal: "Let us kneel and have prayer together before you go to your rooms." And then she would pray for each one about the table by name. Every man and woman who came to that woman's house to board, if they stayed any time, would go away converted. In Heaven's sight she was a princess royal, and angels encamped about her, and God's morning stars sang her praise. What need had she of the applause of the world? Eternal values are real values.—Exchange.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Four per cent. of the inhabitants of certain sections of the south have malaria? The United States public health service has trapped 615,744 rodents in New Orleans in the past eighteen months?

The careless sneezer is the great grip spreader? Open air is the best spring tonic? Typhoid fever is a disease peculiar to man? Measles kills over 11,000 American children annually?

There has not been a single case of yellow fever in the United States since 1905? There is no federal institution in the continental United States for the reception and care of lepers?

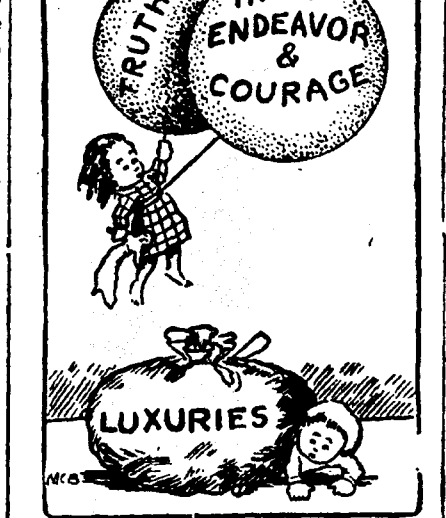

Plague is a disease of rodents? Malaria is spread by a special mosquito?

House screening is a good disease preventive? Fingers, flies and food spread typhoid fever?

The United States public health service believes that the common towel spreads trachoma, a disease of the eyes? Children from sanitary homes advance more rapidly in school than those from dirty premises?

Christian Influence.

Christ says: "Even so let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven." (Matt. 5:16). The world is quick to detect the failures that are apparent in the lives of Christians. In a certain New England town there lived a rich and prominent deacon who was known to be hard at a bargain, close-fisted, forcing wages down and prices up. As he passed a crowd of men one day, one said: "There goes the founder of the Atheists club." The life of such a man makes it hard for some people to believe the Bible. They hold the Bible responsible for the vicious conduct of hypocrites. Hypocrites seek to establish themselves with the people at the expense of the Bible. Christians should be as "wise as serpents and as harmless as doves." The Spirit admonishes through Paul: "Do all things without murmurings and questionings; that ye may become blameless and harmless, children of God without blemish in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, among who ye are seen as lights in the world." (Phil. 2:14-15). If we trust him and follow him, the spirit assures us of Christ: "Who shall also confirm you unto the end, that ye be unrepovable in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ." (1 Cor. 1:8). It is comforting in the conflicts of life to know that his grace is sufficient for us and that he will not allow any temptation to come upon us which we are not able to bear.

Habits and Mottoes.

A man was looking over a set of beautifully illuminated mottoes on the wall of a bookstore. They were from Stevenson, Van Dyke and other inspiring writers, but the man sighed, as he looked at them. "They're fine!" he said slowly, "but I'd rather have one good habit than a hundred good mottoes." The trouble was that he had a bad habit—intemperance. He knew what it was to be in slavery to it. He realized how different his life might have been if, instead of that habit, he had built in his boyhood the habit of total abstinence. A good habit has been called

TWO PROBLEMS TO SOLVE

A devoted servant of Christ was nearing the end of life's journey. Though he had no fear of the future, so far as he was personally concerned, he was much troubled about the spiritual state of his only son.

Though the young man had been surrounded by Christian influences, and had heard the Gospel told out clearly, earnestly, and tenderly, he procrastinated. As the father reflected on the cause of his son's indifference and carelessness about spiritual concerns he concluded that the cause of it was this—he would not take time to think. He wandered from book to book, from paper to paper, from amusement to amusement, seemingly determined to hinder God from speaking to him about his state. And today there are many young men and women (and older ones too), who seem bent on banishing from their minds thoughts of eternity. In Isaiah's day the Lord complained of His people Israel in the following pathetic words: "The ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib; but Israel doth not know, My people doth not consider." (Isa. 1:3).

As the father of the young man felt that his life on earth was drawing to a close he summoned his son to his bedside, and told him that his time of departure had arrived, and expressed the desire that he would fulfill his dying request. The son was deeply affected, and with tears in his eyes promised that he would do as his father desired him. "I want you," said the dying parent, "to promise me that every night for twelve months after my decease you will retire alone, read no book or paper, and ask yourself two questions: 'What is eternity?' and 'Where shall I spend eternity?'"

The evening after his father's death the young man withdrew into a quiet spot to consider the questions that had been proposed for his consideration. But the quarter of an hour seemed like an hour. Night after night he sacredly kept his promise until he became almost alarmed about the questions: "What is eternity?" and "Where shall I spend eternity?" He was led to see that if he continued the course he was pursuing he must spend eternity in hell. As a poor guilty, undone sinner he believed on Christ, the sinner's Savior, and passed from death unto life, from darkness into light (John 1:9-12). By accepting Christ as his Deliverer from the penalty and thralldom of sin he was enabled to say:

"There is no condemnation; There is no hell for me; The torment and the fire Mine eyes shall never see."

Let us for a few moments consider the two questions.

1. What is eternity? Eternity is a short word, easily uttered, but difficult of comprehension. The dictionaries define it as duration without end. A deaf and dumb boy declared that it was the lifetime of the Almighty. That, however, does not help us much. One says, "Eternity is a depth no geometry can measure, no arithmetic can calculate, no language can express, no rhetoric can describe." If all the blades of grass in the world, all the leaves of the trees of the forests, every particle of sand on the sea-shore, and every drop of water of all the oceans, rivers and lakes on the globe were multiplied a millionfold, each representing a century, or millennium, when that vast ebb of time is exhausted, eternity will be no nearer its termination.

Delight Thyself in God

God expects us to be whole-hearted with Him. The slightest reservation is fatal to full consecration. A silken cord may hold the latch upon the door of the heart. Not until we open wide every portal will He in His fullness come in. The completeness of our surrender qualifies and controls the fullness of our blessing. God searches us with jealous scrutiny, and claims complete surrender and a living sacrifice. It is when we are Christ's that all things are ours. It is one thing to say, Christ is mine; it is much more to say, I am Christ's. Let us be whole-hearted with God.

For God is whole-hearted with us. The reason He asks a full surrender is that He may be free to give us infinitely more in return. Like Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, He gives us back all that we gave and His own royal bounty added. He wants us to believe in His perfect love. It is a great thing to take the place of John on the Savior's breast and count ourselves the disciple whom Jesus loved. We are invited to delight ourselves in the Lord; and if the Lord delight in us, He will bring us into our full inheritance "with His whole love, and with His whole soul."—Alliance Weekly.

"Days, weeks, and months shall have an end; Eternity has none; 'Twill always have as long to spend, As if 'twere but begun."

II. "Where shall I spend eternity?" The second question is of the deepest importance to each of us, and ought to be seriously considered. The question is not "Where shall the heathen spend eternity?" but "Where shall I spend eternity?" God's Word reveals the fact that we must spend it in ceaseless misery in the prison-house of hell, or in ineffable joy with Christ in the glory. Say not that "no one knows where he will spend eternity." If the Bible is to be our guide, it tells us that the early Christians had no doubts as to where eternity was to be spent by them. The Apostle Paul, writing to the Corinthians, said: "We know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." "We are confident." "We are always confident." (2 Cor. 5:1-8)—are the words of holy writ. All who truly believe on Christ have the assurance of a glorious eternity. Is the reader safe for eternity? The way to be saved and know it is to believe on the Lord Jesus and obtain "everlasting life" as a free gift (John 6:47). Though "the wages of sin is death" we are assured that "the gift of God is eternal life" (Rom. 6:23), and you can have it as you read these lines: "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him." (John 3:36).

Where will you spend eternity? There are but two classes of persons in God's sight—the saved and the unsaved—two families—children of wrath and children of God—two states—justified and condemned—two roads—the broad and the narrow—two destinies—heaven and hell, eternal bliss and eternal misery. Those who despise, reject, or neglect God's "great salvation" will, after the judgment of the great white throne (Rev. xx) be "cast into the lake of fire." God's long-suffering will have an end. It is salvation to the perishing. And oh! how dreadful for the Lord of life and glory to say to you: "Depart from Me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels!" To be cursed by Him who was your truest and tenderest Friend! To be cursed by Him who loaded you with untold blessings, mercies, and favors! To be cursed by the Lord of life and glory, to be reconciled to Him! To be cursed by Him who groaned, suffered, bled and died to save you from everlasting misery, remorse and despair! How terrible! And you might have been saved! And no one was to blame but yourself.

Where will you spend eternity? Among Mirabeau's dying words were these: "Give me more laudanum, that I may not think of eternity and of what is to come." As you are, and where you are, believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and be eternally saved. "To him that worketh not, but believeth on Him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness" (Rom. 4:4). God gives salvation to sinners who believe on the Savior. Forgiveness of sins can be obtained by the reader at this very moment. "Prepara to meet thy God." "Escape for thy life."

"Tonight may be thy latest breath, Thy life may never be here again, Eternal voice the second death, Awaits the Christ-neglecting one! Thine awful destiny foresee, Time ends and then eternity."

LIQUOR CONSUMPTION LOWER

The total expenditure for alcoholic liquors in the United States for the past seven years is estimated at $10,105,271,079. Receipts from internal revenue and duties for the same period amount to $1,642,103,328. This leaves a net loss to the nation in seven years of $14,463,067,651—an average of $2,066,115,264 a year. It is encouraging to note, however, that the consumption of liquor is decreasing. Statistics recently compiled show that our drink bill was $285,717,772 less in 1915 than in 1914.

Plenty of Fresh Air Will Keep Us Well in Changeable Weather

VENTILATION

From now until summer, individual as well as public health will depend largely upon our modes of living.

With the coming of warm and dry weather natural influences will more largely rule, and at this time we are still heavily clad in winter stoves or radiators, the next plowing through thawing slush.

So we must do our utmost to keep in good condition physically. We must get plenty of fresh air so that our bodies weakened by winter do not succumb to the constant attacks of disease germs.

We can control the supply of fresh air in our homes, and to some extent, in our offices and shops. We should try to compel others to control them in public places.

Schoolrooms, theaters, street cars and other closed in spaces where many people congregate need fresh air and light. See that your children get plenty of both at school.

Obesity is an abnormal increase in the body weight due to deposits of fat in the tissues. It may be due to over-eating, to eating too largely of one kind of food or to faulty changes in the food within the body. This condition is favored by heredity, by insufficient exercise and frequently by the use of alcoholic beverages. Obesity is the resistance of the body to disease. The fat tends to accumulate around the heart and weaken that organ, causing palpitation and shortness of breath after exercise as well as interference with the function of the body generally.

There are two types of obesity, the fat, full-blooded type and the pasty anemic type. The anemic becomes fat because of lack of the natural "burning up" process of fat producing elements contained in food. This condition calls for treatment by a physician.

The full-blooded type becomes obese through an inherited tendency to stoutness, overindulgence in food or drink, and insufficient exercise and a care-free easy life when the period of youth has been passed.

Diminishing the quantity of fluid taken into the body will help to reduce corpulence.

But the weight should be reduced gradually, under medical supervision. Anti-fat remedies which destroy the appetite should be avoided.

Diversity of Farm Enterprises

In most cases where studies on the profits in farming have been made particularly in our oldest agricultural districts, such studies indicate that the most successful farms are those which have from two to four major sources of income; i. e., they have a well-balanced and diversified business. In certain instances it may pay better to have only one enterprise, but usually when one crop pays much better than all others the production of it increases rapidly and soon the price falls to the point where other crops or products are equally as profitable. Diversified farming is often confused with farming where there is a little of everything and not much of anything. The extreme lessens the chances of success. When the price of certain crops is very low then live stock usually becomes desirable. However, if the returns per animal are poor, cash crops even at a low price are essential. A well-balanced business plan, therefore, is needed and provides a much better utilization of the labor and equipment.

Straightening Crooked Trees

Young trees with crooked trunks, either from wind pressure or from distortion in the nursery may be straightened easily, as follows: Before the sap starts in the spring make about three parallel slits lengthwise of the trunk on the concave side of the trunk. This will arrest the flow of sap at that point, causing the bark to thicken. This in turn will produce a gnarled spot in the wood, like a wedge, exerting its force at right angles to the trunk, straightening out the most obstinate deformities. But this must be done while the tree is young, or the bark-wedge cannot exert sufficient force to bend the crooked trunk. This scheme is particularly useful in straightening up the Box and other trees, which are, for some unknown reason, almost always deformed by nature.

FARM-CLUB NOTES.

A Kansas mother-daughter canning club, consisting of 11 mothers and 11 daughters, canned 2000 quarts of home-grown products last season, according to a report from the State agent.

A Wyoming club boy is reported to have produced 70 bushels of potatoes on one-eighth acre. He made a net profit of $30.65 and also earned the State championship.

A boys' corn club in Minnesota last year sold between 200 and 300 bushels of seed corn at $4 a bushel.

The champion potato-club boy of Montana is reported to have produced 65 bushels of potatoes on his one-tenth-acre plot, at a cost of $15.53. His net profit was $47.27.

Several fruit-growers stated at a recent Minnesota horticultural society's meeting that they were able to get top prices for fruit sold through commission men. Inquiry showed that these men have established a reputation for good packing and good fruit, and the commission men are anxious to get their fruit.

Those who are starting with turkeys should order their stock of some one who is known to be honest and reliable and not too far away.

BEAUTIFYING THE FARM ADDS TO ITS PROFITS

Knowledge of How You Can Get 100 to 1000 Per Cent Profit, in Five to Ten Years, From a Few Dollars Invested in Planning and Planting, By Increasing the Cash Value or Salability of Your Farm, to Say Nothing of the Added Health, Comfort and Beauty, is Being Disseminated By the University of Illinois in a Most Practical and Helpful Way.

The appropriate use of trees, shrubs, vines, and herbaceous plants in the adornment of city, village, suburban or country home grounds gives a charm and beauty which are interesting and pleasing to the passer-by as well as to the occupant of the home. Plants are a means of expressing restfulness and beauty. Their gradually changing aspect with the succession of the seasons heightens their pleasing effect and relieves monotony. The changes which occur in the life of vegetation during the year have caused man to speak of the stages of Believing that the time is ripe for the dissemination of knowledge on this important subject, and in order to urge all Illinois farmers and suburban dwellers especially, to make immediate progress along the lines of home beauty, the University of Illinois has prepared, at considerable expense, circulars which are veritable works of art. Copies of these are sent free to anyone in Illinois who will sign a promise to do some permanent ornamental planting within a year. The following is from circular 170, "The Illinois Way of beautifying the Farm," by Wilhelm Miller.

"What we want in this State is an 'Illinois Way' of farm architecture and gardening. We want something better than the type we see everywhere—the wooden cliffed house, that is loaded with gingerbread, painted in half-dozen gaudy colors, and without a single tree or shrub to reconcile it with its natural surroundings. Our first job is to build houses that will fit the prairie climate, soil, labor conditions, life and landscape.

"The Illinois farmhouse must be better adapted to our climate than the tenant house of the Corn Belt, for the winter winds sweep right through such a shell, and during our hot summers it is a regular oven. We want a house that is warm at twenty below zero, and cool during corn weather, by reason of its sleeping- or dining-porch and its overshadowing eaves or trees. So, too, with planting: we want an 'Illinois way' of landscape gardening that will be like an old-fashioned ship—every line for use, and not a single dollar for mere show. Let us plant only what is necessary, profitable or reasonable, and the result cannot help being beautiful!

"The greatest enemy of the farmer," says Theodore Roosevelt, "is the wind." Clearly the first step then is to provide shelter from the biting winds of winter and the drying winds of summer.

"An Illinois farmer wanted to sell his farm, but could not find a buyer. The reason for this, which no one realized, was the ugly, bad-smelling barnyard right across the road from the house. One night the barn burned down, and after that the farmer sold his farm for more than he had asked before. The reason was two-fold: The unsightly barnyard was removed, and a fine view of the prairie which no one had ever seen was revealed. Can't you arrange your windbreak so that it will also act as a screen—hiding some barnyard, outbuilding, telephone wires, billboard, or advertisement-covered building? The humblest renter can at least cover the outhouse in a single season without cost, by the aid of wild cucumber vines. Wild grape or trumpet-creeper will do a better job; and anyone who has two hands, a wheelbarrow, and a spade, can dig up enough elder and sumach from the roadside to make the outbuildings decent without delay. Evergreens make ideal screens because they are effective the year round. If these are not thrifty in your locality, try lattice. This may cost something for material and labor, but it is worth it, because it hides that outbuilding or ash-heap without delay, both summer and winter.

"The salability of a property is often influenced by the first impression which the public gets of the house. If you see a house too far away, it seems mean or small; if you turn a corner and are suddenly confronted by the house, the approach is too abrupt. A house should be first seen from the point where it appears to be the best advantage. Remember this when choosing a site for your new house. If the location is fixed, can't you rearrange your drive? For instance, if the house is visible too far away, curve your drive and plant the curves, so that the house will be hidden until you come to the best place for revealing it.

"A background makes all the difference between a house and a home. Your house will be twice as easy to sell if it is seen against woods or orchards rather than empty sky. If your house is already located and has no background, plant some tall-growing trees behind it. Why not plant some of the trees that reach their greatest height in the State of Illinois, e.g., the sycamore, the Linden, the sweet gum, and the tulip tree, which has gorgeous cup-like flowers, four inches across, of yellow marked with orange?

"Many of the old farmhouses in Illinois are very poor architecturally. The ideal is a new and better home; the next best thing is remodeling, but human as the "spring," "summer," and "autumn" of life. The leaf, the branch, and the flower, as well as the general form of the plant, manifest a grace and beauty which art endeavors to copy. While art cannot take the place of Nature, it nevertheless plays an important part in teaching us to see and appreciate the beauties of Nature. After the eye has been trained to see and the mind to interpret the beauties which the eye beholds, then association with Nature produces its greatest effect.

In the artificial adornment of grounds by means of plants, Nature is our best instructor. From her we learn the uses of grasses, flowers, vines, shrubs and trees, and how to combine them to the best advantage. By growing together for ages, the various classes and species of plants have developed forms, habits and requirements which enable them not only to thrive in harmony, but actually to assist one another.

Man should first provide for his necessities, then for comforts, and finally for pleasures. In a new country such as ours, the expenditure of time and means for the adornment of grounds is naturally small, but little attention. The people have been concerned with acquiring lands and buildings. But a stage of development has now been reached when Americans should give more attention to the embellishment of their home grounds.

This house is built on horizontal lines, to repeat the great horizontal lines of land, woods, crops and clouds, which are the peculiar glory of the prairie. This is the work of a new and virile school of western art, which believes in "local color." Its home is the Cliff Dwellers' Club, in Chicago. Washing and Leaching of Manure

Farmers have been so accustomed to throw the manure from the stable in a pile in the barnyard, and leave it until it is convenient to haul it to the fields, that they do not give the matter of loss by washing and leaching any consideration. Usually but little of the value of the solids of the manure is lost in the stable, but great losses occur after it is thrown in a pile. The manure in the stable saturated by the urine contains more than 50 per cent water. The moisture in the manure holds in solution the greater part of the plant foods which the manure contains. When the rains fall upon the manure and the water from the melted snow soaks into it, the leaching process carries away much of the soluble plant foods and it is lost beyond recovery, for it is either carried away in the water as it flows in the surface to the streams, or sinks into the ground where, for all practical purposes, it is wasted.

The Apple as Medicine

A modern scoffer has recently asked whether it would be possible that Eve yielded to the serpent because he told her that apples were good for the complexion. Whether this argument was needed or not, there is no question that it is a true one. Nothing in all our varied and fascinating range of fruits holds quite the same quality as the apple.

A raw, ripe apple at its best is digested in 35 minutes, and is made solid which gives it its distinctive character stimulates the liver, assists digestion and neutralizes much noxious matter which, if not eliminated, produces eruptions of the skin. "They do not satisfy like potatoes," some people have said to whom they have been recommended as food; but the starch of the potato, added to the surplus of starch we are always eating, renders it undesirable as an article of too frequent consumption.

MILK PRODUCTION IN THE UNITED STATES.

The production of milk in the United States in 1915 is estimated at about 11,290,000,000 gallons; this figure is obtained by applying an estimated yield per cow of 537 gallons, as indicated by estimates made by crop correspondents of the Bureau of Crop Estimates, to the mean of the number of cows at the beginning and at the close of the year. This production is equivalent to about 115 gallons per capita population of the United States. In the North Atlantic States the per capita production is estimated to be about 71 gallons; in the South Atlantic States 66 gallons; in the North Central States 133 gallons; in the South Central States 88 gallons; and in the far Western States 131 gallons.

nestling close to a house and making it look snug and comfortable. The common idea that oaks are slow growers and hard to transplant is true only of the white oak. The pin, the scarlet, and the red oaks are easily moved, and will soon overtake maples and other trees that are quicker at the start. They will last for centuries after the "quick-growers" are dead. Plant the trees that you know will make your property more valuable every year.

GUARDING THE WATER SUPPLY FROM CONTAMINATION

By O. M. KILE.

In thousands of farm homes, it is now possible to find up-to-date water systems, providing both hot and cold water for the bathroom, the laundry, the kitchen sink, and various other parts of the house.

When a water system is once installed, the farmer and his family usually wonder how they ever managed to get along without it before, and seldom regret the cost. Yet, in spite of the comparative ease with which the average farm home can be equipped with many of these conditions which cause these diseases ordinarily enter the water supply through surface wash or run-off following a rain.

A well can be protected from pollution of this kind by extending the light casing or lining six or eight feet above the ground and covering with a water tight concrete curb having a slope, away from the center, in every direction. This cover should extend at least one foot beyond the edge of a dug well, and should never be less than seven feet in diameter for a driven well. A drain trough should, of course, be provided to catch the drip and convey it away to a safe distance. An open drain passing around the well at a distance of four or five feet from this curb and leading off to the drip drain line will help prevent the entrance of surface waters that wash down from a higher point.

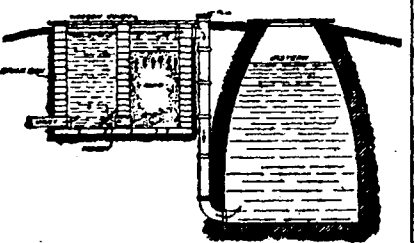

In many cases, however, the difficulty is of a more serious nature. The stratification of the clay, gravel, and rocks through which the well is sunk, may be such as to cause percolating water from a nearby source of infection to be lead directly into the well. In other instances the soil surrounding the well may become so thoroughly and so constantly saturated with polluted seepage waters that it will no longer perform its function as a filter, and germ-laden waters are allowed to pass into the well. For these reasons the location of the well is of prime importance.

Considered from the standpoint of convenience, the well should be located as near the kitchen as possible. But whenever such location would involve any danger of contamination due to surface drainage or to an inadequate kitchen sewerage disposal system, a location on higher ground and above this source of contamination should be selected. Select a site where drainage and seepage waters lead away from the well rather than toward it.

Driven and drilled wells are much safer than dug wells, not only because the former are usually sunk to a greater depth but because they are lined with an impervious metal casing which prevents the entrance of percolating surface waters. Dug wells can, however, be lined with concrete (or brick in concrete) casing and are thereby greatly improved.

In certain sections notable underground waters are hard to obtain and cisterns must be constructed to collect and store rain water for drinking purposes. When the cistern is properly constructed and kept properly cleaned, stored rain is very acceptable for drinking purposes and certainly quite desirable for the laundry. Regarding the construction and arrangement of the cistern, a prominent authority, Robert W. Trullinger, states as follows:

"The cistern should be of water-tight construction, to prevent leakage and to prevent pollution from neighboring soil. It should have an overflow drain and a tight cover. There should also be suitable provision for straining or filtering the water previous to its entrance to the cistern.

"Concrete is probably the most sanitary and durable material for cisterns. In general, the walls and floor should be 6 or 8 inches thick and well reinforced, and the concrete should be carefully proportioned and mixed. A mixture of one part cement to 2 or 2 1/2 parts of clean, sharp sand and 4 or 5 parts of clean and fairly small crushed rock or gravel is satisfactory for fairly water-tight concrete. The inside surface should be coated with a 1 to 2 cement mortar."

Fighting Moths With Parasites

Over 12,000,000 specimens of two parasites which prey on the gipsy moth and brown-tail moth were released in 201 towns in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island during the fall of 1914 and during of 1915, according to the annual report of the Bureau of Entomology, United States Department of Agriculture.

As a result of the successful establishment of colonies of these and other parasites which feed on the gipsy moth and brown-tail moths, marked progress is being made in reducing these pests. Effective co-operation is being afforded by the States, which carry on as much work as possible within the infested areas, thus allowing the Federal authorities to carry on field work along the outer border of infestation, so as to retard the gipsy moth's spread.

MEASURES OF FARM EFFICIENCY.

There are certain factors on which the success of a farm business usually depends. From these it is usually possible to determine not only the good points in a system of farming but also its deficiencies. The latter being known, the method of improving the system becomes evident.

On a great majority of farms, success is primarily dependent on three important factors. These are (1) the size of the farm business; (2) the yields of the crops and the returns per animal, representing the quality of the farm business; and (3) the diligence of the farmer. Of course many other things have their influence, but the farmer whose business is efficient in these three respects is generally successful. Those farms that are excellent in none of these respects almost universally fail. Those deficient in one or two may succeed, but their chances of success are greatly lessened.

WHERE INSECTS PASS THE WINTER.

The tiny black eggs on the stems and along the mid ribs of green strawberry leaves are those of the strawberry root louse. The apple aphid winters in the same way, its eggs being found around the crotches, buds and crevices in twigs. The winter application of lime and sulphur kills many of these latter eggs.

ARRANGING AND PLANTING THE VEGETABLE GARDEN

By J. W. LLOYD.

The size of the garden will depend primarily upon the amount of land available. On the farm, where any amount of land the owner desires can be reserved for a garden, vegetables can be stored for winter as well as the summer supply should be grown. On the village lot, space may be insufficient to grow more than the summer's supply, and it may also be necessary to leave out certain vegetables that require a large amount of space. On a city lot, the space available for growing vegetables is necessarily small, and plantings must usually be confined to those vegetables growing of some of the more exacting crops. Whatever the space to be devoted to gardening, the crops to be grown should be decided upon long before the time of planting.

In planning the garden, it is well to arrange the vegetables in the order in which they are to be planted. This facilitates the preparation of the land for planting, and makes it possible to maintain the unplanted portion in a good friable condition with the least expenditure of labor. In order that the vegetables may be so arranged, it is necessary to know the proper time for planting each crop. This depends primarily upon the temperature and moisture requirements of the particular crop in question.

Plank.

The arrangement of the garden as to length of rows and time of planting, is not the only labor-saving feature that should characterize the typical farmer's garden. Field methods should be practiced in preparing the land for planting, and as much preliminary work done in the fall as is possible, for the sake of both securing an early garden and reducing the amount of labor in spring. After the land is cleared of refuse from preceding crops, it should be heavily manured, and plowed in the fall. The amount of manure to be applied will depend somewhat upon the fertility of the land, but more largely upon the truthness of the farmer's conception of the plant food requirements of garden crops. The best gardens are possible only where plant food is supplied much more liberally than is considered ample for field crops. Forty tons of manure per acre is a very moderate application for garden crops, and this amount should be applied annually, even on soils already rich, if maximum crops of vegetables are to be grown.

The plowing under of manure in the fall hastens the drying out of the soil in the spring, so that planting may begin earlier than if the manuring and plowing were deferred until spring. This is both because the soil actually dries out earlier, and also because no time is lost in manuring or plowing after the soil has reached workable condition.

condition. It often happens that early in the spring when the cool season crops should be planted, the soil remains in ideal condition for planting only a brief period, and then becomes so thoroughly wet by copious rains that further garden work is precluded for two or three weeks. If the manuring and plowing have been done in the fall, it is often possible to plant the early vegetables in the brief period during which the soil is fit to work, while otherwise this entire period might be expended in making preparations, and the actual planting necessarily deferred until the next time the soil was dry.

If the land has been manured and plowed in the fall, and is worked at the proper time in spring, very little labor is necessary in the preparation of a seed-bed for the early planting. Soil containing sufficient humus to grow vegetable crops advantageously, can be fitted for planting without the use of hand tools, if the precaution is taken to work it at the exact time it reaches the right degree of dryness. It will then crumble readily, and a seed-bed can be prepared by the use of a disk, harrow and plank.

A sled marker is also very useful. The use of these tools saves an enormous amount of labor, and is a vast improvement over the old method of using only a hoe and a rake.

It is much easier to raise a few dollars to buy a flock of hens to start with than it is to raise enough money to buy one good brood mare.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 23.—Rain reports from the southwest tended today to weaken the wheat market. After opening 5¢ lower to a shade advance, with May at $1.08 1/2 to $1.09 1/2, and July at $1.07 1/2 to $1.08 1/2, prices rallied to a moderate extent but then underwent another sag.
The close was weak, 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ net lower, with May at $1.08 and July at $1.06 1/2.
Corn weakened with wheat opening prices, which ranged from 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ off to a sixth up, and were followed by something of a recovery and later by a fresh decline.
The close was weak at 1 1/4 to 1 1/2¢ net decline.
Commission house buying sustained oats.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, March 23.—Mexican affairs again projected themselves into the stock market at the opening today over night news from across the border finding reflection in the heaviness of American Smelting and Mexican Petroleum, while the balance of the active list was firm to strong. United States Smelting and Refining, a newcomer on the local board, opened with 1,900 shares at 69¢, a substantial fractional gain over yesterday's close in the Boston market. Advances of as much or more were recorded by Crucible Steel, New York Airbrake, American Zinc, Marine preferred and U. S. Steel. Ralls were inactive but generally higher.
Prices continued to improve until more urgent selling of the Mexican group caused general unsettlement. Mexican Petroleum broke sharply, falling over five points to 104 1/2, and American Smelting and Green-Carroll fell a point or more. There was levelling also among high priced specialties. Bethlehem Steel losing four at 500, American Snuff five at 130 and tobacco products, preferred, 4¢ at 105 1/2. Munitions and equipment were only moderately affected and investments were comparatively firm. Lack of public interest constituted the chief restraining influence. Mexicans made partial recovery at midday. Bonds were steady.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.
86 hours from temperatures as follows: North, 15 to 24 degrees; east, 24; south and west, 24 to 32 or higher.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.
During the last 24 hours the disturbance moved northward to Nova Scotia, and was attended by rain or snow from the Ohio valley and lower lake region northward. The Maritime high area has moved southward to the Ohio valley and colder weather has resulted quite generally in the sections to the eastward of the Mississippi. The northwestern low area has moved southward to Utah and has caused rain over most of the territory to the west of the continental divide, and also on the southeastern slope and higher temperatures in the Rocky mountain region and Missouri valley. Lower temperatures are following in the wake of this storm in the Pacific states.

HUSBAND FOLLOWS EXAMPLE OF WIFE

Mrs. and Mrs. William Hess
Both Are Relieved of Trouble by Tanlac.

Mrs. William Hess, wife of the assistant foreman at the Fort Wayne Electric Works, who lives at 725 High street, recently testified to the relief both she and her husband have gained through the use of Tanlac, the Master Medicine. Mrs. Hess said:

"For the last two years I have suffered from kidney trouble. I'd always have a tired feeling in the morning and right after I'd do my washing I'd have terrible pains in my back."

"Mr. Hess had catarrh of the head. Droppings of mucus in his throat bothered him and he also had choking spells. 'The tired feeling I formerly experienced each morning began to disappear while I was using the first bottle of Tanlac. I do not have pains in my back at all now and in fact, I'm feeling fine in every way.'"

"When I improved so rapidly Mr. Hess decided to try Tanlac and his catarrh is very much better since he has taken the medicine."

"I'm glad of the chance to recommend Tanlac because it certainly did help my husband and myself."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrh, complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, and the like and is a reconstructive tonic and system purifier required by hundreds of people during the spring season.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Fort Wayne at the Wayne and Calhoun streets store of the Meyer Drug Co., where the Tanlac Man is explaining the new remedy. It also may be obtained at the other Meier stores, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun, and Broadway and Taylor.—Advertisement.

The ladies of Wayne circle, No. 45, G. A. R., will conduct a ten cent social Friday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock in their hall on Calhoun street.

How To Make the Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind and You Save $2.
For Cough Syrup.

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds, is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieve even whooping cough quickly. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 25 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

You will be pleasantly surprised how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and how it soothes inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in quinine, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and don't accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. See articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is too great to be good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Hall & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and acts on the blood. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by Family Pills for 50c. per bottle.

SHERIFF CHAMPIONS PUGILIST IN COURT

A. C. Gladieux Says He is
After Square Deal for Alleged Thief.

Sheriff A. C. Gladieux produced something of a sensation in the city court, Thursday morning, when he demanded that a continuance be granted in the case of Robert J. Dawson, of Monroeville, who was under arrest on a charge of assault and battery and confronted with the prospect of another warrant charging grand larceny.

"I want a square deal for this man," said the sheriff.

"Everybody gets a square deal in this court," observed Judge H. Waveland Kerr.

"There is no reason to suppose he won't get a square deal and complete justice," said Deputy Prosecutor John C. Hoffman. "What is it you want?"

"I want a continuance and an opportunity for the man to get a lawyer," said the sheriff.

Thereupon, the hearing was continued until Friday morning and Dawson's bond was fixed at $200.

Dawson, who is 24 years old and describes himself as a pugilist, has been more or less in the limelight for two weeks as a result of his marriage in the court house here, March 4, to Lucile Taylor, a 15-year-old girl of Monroeville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Taylor, of that town. A few days after the marriage Mrs. Taylor came to Fort Wayne and sought to have Dawson arrested and he was under police detention for a time, but no occasion could be found for placing him under charges. It was thought that a charge either of criminal assault or perjury might be established, but it was found that his young bride had represented herself to be 18 years old. Dawson was said to be wanted in Monroeville on a warrant sworn out by another young woman charging paternity, but it was learned no such affidavit had been filed and Sheriff Gladieux, into whose custody Dawson was given, turned him loose.

On Wednesday Mrs. Bert Taylor, mother of the young Mrs. Dawson, and Joseph Karker, father of the other Monroeville girl whose name is connected with Dawson's, came to Fort Wayne. Mrs. Taylor in another attempt to get her daughter to return home, and Karker took steps for Dawson's arrest on a charge of stealing $800 from him. Mrs. Taylor and Karker met Dawson and his wife on Calhoun street, near Chestnut, and during a wordy set to Karker sought to help Mrs. Taylor to get the girl away from her husband. Dawson struck out and landed hard on Mrs. Taylor's jaw. The pugilist says he tried to hit Karker, who dodged and let Mrs. Taylor receive the blow. Later Dawson was arrested and locked up.

Chief of Police Charles Lenz and Police Matron Fannie M. Winch then had the 15-year-old Karker girl at headquarters for interrogation and after she had related her original story that a big red-headed man wearing a mask had entered her father's home and at the point of a revolver compelled her to give up the $800 that was stolen, she weakened and confessed to the chief that it was Dawson who had taken the money and that she and Dawson expected to use it to run away and get married.

The Karker girl says that Dawson told her that he cared nothing for the Taylor girl and had married her while he was drugged and knew nothing about it. He said somebody had doped a glass of cider with cocaine and gave it to him and that while under the influence of the narcotic he came to Fort Wayne and was wed. Dawson's wife has insisted on sticking to her husband. She was at headquarters Thursday and was a pitiful picture. She is becoming emaciated and seemed to be plunged in the depths of melancholy.

An affidavit has been filed against Dawson charging grand larceny and he probably will be arraigned on that charge directly in the circuit court. The Karker girl made a new confession, Thursday morning, to Chief Lenz, Prosecuting Attorney Frank A. Emrick and Matron Winch, stating that she and Dawson together stole the $800 belonging to her father and had intended to go to Michigan to be married. She also confessed to sign an affidavit against him for criminal assault, though her father may do so. The girl is not yet 16 years old.

During the forenoon Mrs. Dawson and the Karker girl, rivals for the affections of the precious roughneck who appears to have with tolerable completeness wrecked the lives of both, were brought face to face at police headquarters, but had little to say to each other. Young Mrs. Dawson was in a state of utter dejection, but refused to return home to Monroeville with her mother, saying she had provisions in her room to get along for awhile. Her cash assets consisted of one dime, but her room-rent was paid for two weeks, she said.

Other City Court Cases.
John Lee, not the eminent Mr. Never-Sweet Lee, was fined $1 for drunkenness. Tom Fitzgerald, another drunk, was turned loose.

The case against Henry D. Hill for assault and battery on Ed Hanly, who was struck by Hill's jitney bus several weeks ago at the transfer corner, was continued until April 20 and he was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

The charge of disorderly conduct against William Rayburn was dismissed by the prosecutor. It was lodged two weeks ago when Rayburn, whose case produced a sensation, was arrested at a banquet at the Ueber hotel. Places were laid for fifty and the affair was carried out as all of this club's excellent entertaining affairs are. The committee in charge of the banquet were Mesdames H. W. Mountz, J. H. Zeck, Abbie Lynn, Kate Snyder and L. R. Hart and they left nothing undone that would add to the pleasure of the occasion. The following toasts were given: "Club Foremost," Mrs. J. F. Thomson; reading, Mrs. A. F. Halter; "Libraries," D. B. VanFleet; "Ear Marks of Literature," Mrs. B. A. Byers; "Dickens as a Humorist," Mrs. C. S. Zerkle; "The Doctor in Literature," Dr. M. E. Klingler; monologue, Mrs. H. L. Warkley; "John Ruskin," Rev. W. A. Wilson; "Art in Literature," Mrs. N. A. Preston. Attorney J. D. Brinkerhoff and Rev. Charles Tinkham were allowed to select their own subjects. Each and every number was excellent and it was indeed a delightful anniversary.

GARRETT NEWS.

Garrett, Ind., March 23.—Word was received in this city last evening that Mrs. Gusta McDonald, wife of Dr. Dea McDonald, had passed away at noon Tuesday at their home in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. They were formerly residents of this city. Mrs. McDonald having spent the greater part of her life here and will be remembered by many as Miss Gusta Hike. Dr. McDonald was an employee of the B. & O. for many years, but after the death of his first wife, Mrs. Lillian McDonald, he entered the Indianapolis Veterinary college and after graduating located at Wolcottville. Dr. McDonald and Miss Hike were married four years ago and he took his bride to his new home at the latter named place. After residing there three years he concluded to go to Iowa in hopes that the climatic change would be beneficial to his wife's rapidly failing health. However, they have been there but one year, and her decline was rapid after the change. Besides the husband Mrs. McDonald leaves two step-sons, Kenneth and Howard, aged 13 and 11, respectively, to whom she had been a most devoted mother. She also leaves an aged mother, one sister and two brothers. The body will be brought to this city Thursday evening and will be taken to the home of Mr. McDonald's sister, Mrs. W. E. Black, of North Cowen street, and the funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Methodist church, of which she was a member in Cedar Rapids. During her life in this city Mrs. McDonald was very active in church and lodge work and her death has been a great shock to her innumerable friends.

VILLA FORCES GROW

Bandit Establishes a New Base to Recruit His Army

SAYS HERRERA HAS NOT JOINED VILLA

Rumored Desertion of Carranza Commander With 2,000 Troops Flatly Denied from Mexico City.

TORREON REVOLT ADDS TO GRAVE SITUATION

Galveston, Tex., March 23.—Gen. Luis Herrera is conducting active military operations against the Villa forces and has not gone over to a cablegram from Mexico City, received by the Mexican consulate here today.

SITUATION VERY GRAVE.

El Paso, Texas, March 23.—Francisco Villa has established a base to the west of Namiqipa to organize his command and recruit new men for his army, it was reported here today.

At this new base it was said Villa would lay plans to operate with the force of Gen. Luis Herrera, who is understood to have renounced the de facto government. The American army has at Columbus has had no news of Villa for more than two days.

Occasions Grave Concern.

Gen. Luis Herrera, until recently in command of the Carranza garrison at Chihuahua City, is said to be moving northwestward to effect a juncture with Villa and this, in connection with the report that the Carranza garrison at Torreon had revolted, has occasioned grave concern among the American army officers in El Paso.

Villa men augmented by the command of Gen. Herrera said to number 2,000 might be in a position to interrupt the line of communication between the advanced base of American forces at Casas Grandes and the base at Columbus. An early agreement with the Carranza government for permission to use Mexican railway lines is greatly desired by army officers. The main base would then be transferred from Columbus to El Paso, and the Mexican Northwestern railway could be used to ship men and supplies to Casas Grandes.

No Confirmation of Report.

There is no confirmation of a report that Colonel Cano, of Carranza's army, has joined forces with Villa.

All was quiet in Juarez early today and street car service, which was suspended last night for fear of trouble in that Mexican city, was resumed. The railroad bridges, however, are still under guard.

Not only was it accepted here as definite that Herrera had declared against both Carranza and the United States but it was asserted with equal confidence that Torreon is also in the hands of the Villa forces and that all northern Mexico is seething with open rebellion against the de facto government.

BULLETIN.

Washington, March 23.—Elesio Arredondo, General Carranza's ambassador here, presented to Secretary Lansing today a dispatch from Consul Garcia, at El Paso, denying entirely that General Herrera had revolted with the Chihuahua garrison and joined Villa.

BULLETIN.

Washington, March 23.—General Funston today asked for eight more aeroplanes. He wants four to go to Columbus to fly with Brigadier General Pershing's column, and four others to be sent to his headquarters at Fort Sam Houston to be held for emergency.

misinterpreted by the Mexicans as discrimination against them and in violation of their rights. It is now insisted by the local authorities that the time has passed for any delicacy in handling the situation. It is pointed out that no American is permitted to enter Mexico armed and there has been a far greater laxity on this side of the border than was desirable.

Very Sinister Aspect.

The situation in Juarez remains mostly a subject of conjecture with such information as is obtainable bearing a decidedly sinister aspect. It is known that a bitter feud exists between the mayor, Manuel Prieto, and the military commander, Gen. Gavira. Prieto is a staunch Carranza supporter, while Gavira is devoted to the interests of Gen. Obregon, Carranza's minister of war, but who at the same time is known to be bitterly hostile to the first chief's program especially as it relates to co-operation with Americans. Gavira troops are divided between Obregonistas and former Villistas.

Whatever may happen in Juarez there is no supposition here that any attack would be made on El Paso from the other side of the river, but there is the greatest apprehension that an outbreak on one side would be followed by an outbreak on the other. There are about 35,000 Mexicans in this city out of a total population of 71,000.

Try to Forestall Trouble.

The military and civil authorities have made vigorous efforts to forestall trouble by arresting every Mexican who was suspected of inciting their fellow-countrymen against Americans. That such a system, apparently organized, has been carried on for some time has been well known. Numerous arrests have been made, especially among the Villista colony, which is quite large.

The most important arrest made last night was that of Melchor Herrera, brother of Gen. Luis Herrera.

Herrera's Brother Arrested.

Herrera was arrested as he crossed the international bridge after a conference with Gen. Gavira at Juarez. According to the police they have proof that a plot had virtually been perfected by Herrera and his associates to start

BOTH BRITISH AND NEUTRALS HARD HIT

French Still Clinging to Little Hill in the Verdun Region.

Today's War News Given in Summary

The French are still clinging to a part of the little hill of Haucourt, southwest of Malancourt, on which the Germans gained a footing last evening in an attack along the front between Avocourt wood and Malancourt, northwest of Verdun.

Paris announced today that the German infantry attacks in this sector were not resumed during the night and even the fire of heavy artillery diminished in violence. The bombardment east of the Meuse was continued "with undiminished intensity. The persistence with which the Germans are pounding the French positions near Vaux and Damouloup, in this region, indicates they probably are preparing for new attempts to break through in the sector where their lines have been pushed nearest to the heart of the stronghold. Besides striving hard against German positions along the Drina and below Divink, on the northern end of the Russian line, where Petrograd declares some successes have been scored, the Russians are displaying notable activity in Galicia. The Austrians report lively artillery fire along their front there, with infantry advances at some points. These are declared to have been repulsed.

Sinking of the Norwegian bark Lindfield, of 2,276 tons, bound from Portland, Ore., for United Kingdom ports, is announced from London. Thirty members of the crew were rescued. Another vessel sunk was the French bark Bougainville, of 2,248 tons. From this ship 23 of the crew were picked up.

London, March 23.—(4:02 p. m.)—The British steamship Sea Serpent has been sunk. She was a vessel of 902 tons gross and was built in 1898. She was 225 feet long, 33 feet beam and 12 feet deep. The vessel was owned by C. E. Leach and company, of London.

Lloyds reports that the French bark Bougainville has been sunk. Twenty-three members of her crew were picked up.

The Bougainville sailed from San Francisco, August 21 last, for London and was last reported as having sailed from Falmouth in February. She was owned in Nantes, where she was built in 1902. Her gross tonnage was 2,248.

The Norwegian steamship Kammik was sunk Wednesday night, according to a dispatch to Lloyds from Havre. The crew was saved.

It is reported unofficially that the Gallager light ship at the mouth of the Thames has not been torpedoed as was reported yesterday by Lloyds, but has been withdrawn from its station.

The Norwegian bark Lindfield has been sunk. Thirty of the crew were rescued and aboard the Norwegian bark Silas, which is approaching Queenstown. The Lindfield was of 2,276 tons gross and owned by the Lindfield Steamship

PRESIDENT GOES TO SEE OCULIST

Philadelphia, Pa., March 23.—President Wilson paid a brief visit to Philadelphia today to consult his oculist. His eyes have been troubling him slightly recently. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson.

The president's arrival here was delayed by a hot box on the engine of his special train, which developed at Perryville, Md., and caused a wait of thirty minutes on a siding while another engine was being hurried from Havre de Grace.

While the president's plans were surrounded with secrecy a fair sized crowd recognized him at the Broad street station here and applauded as he stepped into an automobile with Mrs. Wilson. He went to the office of his oculist, where he spent only a few minutes.

ANNUAL MEETING THIS EVENING

Secretary Again Proposes Organization of Holding Company.

That there will be no changes made in the personnel of the officers at the annual meeting of the members of the Commercial club Thursday evening is the general opinion, the disposition of the members seeming to be that these men have served the club most efficiently and for that reason should be re-elected. The officers are: Van B. Perrine, president; Ward Wilt, first vice-president; Frank E. Bohn, second vice-president; J. R. McCulloch, treasurer, and Charles L. Biedervolf, secretary and manager. All but the last named will be elected from the floor, while the secretary-manager is named by the directors.

Ten directors to be elected out of a list of twenty-five members who have been nominated.

Secretary's Report.

One of the features of the annual meeting will be the report of Secretary Biedervolf, who will review the work of the year and enumerate a few of the things that the club hopes to accomplish during the ensuing year.

Mr. Biedervolf will deal at some length upon the duties of a commercial club and the part it should take in the upbuilding of the city.

Convention Hall Proposition.

The report urges every member to push the convention hall proposition to be voted upon at the general election in November. The law provides that the city may construct an auditorium or that the city may provide two-thirds of the required fund and that the other one-third be derived through private subscription, providing the people so declare themselves at the general election.

The report points out that it is just as imperative and as important that every member of the Commercial club work as hard for the convention hall as for the election of Smith or Brown.

Good Roads Situation.

Mr. Biedervolf points out that Allen county is one of the foremost counties in this section in the matter of good roads due to the activities of the Commercial club. Reference is also made to the Yellowstone trail, another national highway similar to the Lincoln highway, which is to be extended east from Chicago and which will pass through Fort Wayne.

Proposes a Holding Company.

In connection with the securing of new industries, Mr. Biedervolf again proposes the establishment of a holding company and on which proposition he hopes to secure favorable action. The purpose of the holding company would be to bring new industries to Fort Wayne, to sell stock and to nurse smaller institutions that might be induced to locate here.

The report urges a more strenuous campaign for new members during the coming year. The club now has a membership of 800 and is in the best financial condition since its organization.

BRINGS TORNADO'S DEATH LIST TO SIX

Storm Damage in Indiana Expected to Reach $2,000,000.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—The death of the infant child of Albert Irwin, of Monon, brought the death toll taken by the tornado which swept northern Indiana early yesterday morning to six. The child was carried a distance of more than 100 feet by the wind and its injuries and exposure caused its death.

The property loss was estimated at upwards of $2,000,000. Several localities in the storm area were still cut off from communication today.

Reports from rural districts coming in today indicate that the farmers were heavy losers. Farm buildings and fences were blown down and much livestock was killed.

Telephone and telegraph companies said they expected to have most of their lines cleared up during the day.

HARRY NEWS PRIMARY EXPENSE ABOUT $3,000

Washington, March 23.—Harry New, republican candidate for the United States senatorial nomination in Indiana, who received the highest vote in the recent primaries, filed his report with the senate today showing campaign receipts and disbursements of $3,035.20.

Marshall Averts Debate on Call for Volunteers

Washington, March 23.—An opportunity to consider Senator Sherman's resolution directing the president to call for 50,000 volunteers for Mexican service was sought by Senator Kenyon, republican, who inquired if Senator Sherman intended to bring it up for discussion. Senator Stone said he hoped it would not be called up for general discussion and the vice president recognized Senator Works, who made a long prepared speech on preparedness for peace.

Senator Sherman thus cut off from speaking on his resolution expressed his views by issuing a formal statement in which he warned against the dangers of being unprepared to deal with a larger situation.

"We are thrusting our men into unknown dangers without safeguarding them by prompt preparation," said he. "We have no assurance at this time that we have not sent our forces into interior Mexico to meet their death before we can reach them with reinforcements. It is against this possibility that my resolution would provide. If the blood of our soldiers hereafter cries out to us from the sands and alkali deserts of Mexico let it be remembered that the complainant self-assurance of those charged with primary responsibility hindered or delayed the action contemplated by this resolution."

In the house Representative Scott, republican of Pennsylvania, introduced a joint resolution to appropriate a $50,000 reward for the delivery of Villa's body to the United States military authorities. No action was taken.

PROTESTS CASE OF TERRE HAUTE MAN

Ambassador Page Takes Up Complaints Made by Americans.

Rome, March 23.—Thomas Nelson Page, American ambassador to Italy, today visited Baron Sonnino, the Italian minister of foreign affairs to make representations regarding cases of Americans who complained of ill treatment in Italy. Since the beginning of the war several Americans have been arrested on suspicion, two cases of arrest occurring at Como, where difficulty was experienced in communicating with American consuls and the arrested Americans were held for several days before being able to prove their identity. Other Americans have been expelled from Italy.

Special attention was drawn to the case of Harry Montagnier, formerly of Terre Haute, Ind., who was denounced by the military authorities, and whose expulsion was decreed and insisted upon, despite the efforts of the American ambassador to have it revoked. Prominent Americans and Italians have testified that Mr. Montagnier is a distinguished student of Italian history; that he has been noted for his Italian sentiments and that he had organized a celebration of Alpine clubs on one of the mountain peaks.

Baron Sonnino promised that all the cases mentioned by the ambassador would be examined again in the most friendly spirit, as Italy rejoices in the continuance of the best relations with the United States.

PROF. J. N. STUDY TO ATTEND BOARD MEET

Prof. Justin N. Study left Thursday afternoon for Indianapolis, where he will attend the regular meeting of the state board and also to attend the vocational school conference which opens in that city Thursday evening. The conference will continue until Saturday and Prof. Study expects to remain until that time.

The printers' apprentice class which has met in the new Harmer school building since its completion on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, held its last session at that building Wednesday evening. The equipment will be moved to the old high school building and the first session will be held next Monday evening. There are no more classes that meet in the evenings at the Harmer school.

The quarantine on the James H. Smart school was lifted Wednesday, but it still remains on the Hanna school. However, nearly all the scholars in the latter school have returned with doctors' certificates.

FIRST FORT WAYNE MEN JOIN RESERVES

Goitbold Holden, 307 Greenwood avenue, and Jesse R. Corbin, 825 Madison avenue, have the distinction of being the first Fort Wayne citizens to join the naval reserves established some months ago by the navy department. Both Holden and Corbin made application at the local naval recruiting station on the third floor of the federal building and were accepted. To be eligible it is necessary to have previously served in the navy.

Members of the naval reserve will not be called into service unless in the event of war.

WILSON CONSULTS OCULIST: President Makes Trip to Philadelphia to See Specialist.

Washington, March 23.—President Wilson left at 8 this morning for Philadelphia to consult an oculist. He planned to return to Washington late this afternoon.

OFFERS POOL TO Y. W. C. A.

W. E. Mossman Makes Generous Tender of Swimming Equipment.

Matter of Funds is Under Consideration by Executive Committee.

William E. Mossman has generously offered to provide at his own expense a complete swimming pool and equipment for the Fort Wayne Young Women's Christian Association, contingent alone upon the provision that the association erect a suitable building in which it may be located.

The matter was formally taken up at a meeting of the association's executive committee Thursday morning. The question of funds to enable the organization to take advantage of Mr. Mossman's offer is confronting the committee. It is being made very clear that the Y. W. C. A. desires to do nothing that will in any way interfere with the proposed campaign for a Y. M. C. A. building in this city, and the outcome of the session Thursday was a resolution for the appointment of a special committee to confer with the Y. M. C. A. committee regarding this phase of the situation.

Mr. Mossman, in response to inquiries by The Sentinel, was reluctant to discuss the matter for the reason, he said, that it could not yet be told whether the association would accept the offer, but he admitted that the tender had been made. His desire, he said, is to furnish a swimming pool of the most modern type, with all the necessary equipment and apparatus to make it complete.

The expense of the pool proper and the equipment, it is estimated, will be from $5,000 to $6,000, and a building to properly house it will cost approximately the same sum. The association has no funds with which to erect the building. There is no room in the present structure for the pool, but the Y. W. C. A. owns ground on the west side of its home sufficient for the installation of such a pool as is in contemplation by the offer of Mr. Mossman.

Charge Will Be Murder.

District Attorney Swann, emerging from Dr. Waite's apartment shortly before 2 o'clock, made this announcement: "I shall charge Dr. Waite with murder in the first degree."

The district attorney previously examined Dora Heiler, a maid employed in Dr. Waite's home at the time of the death of Mrs. and Miss Peck. It was given out by the district attorney's office Miss Heiler had said that on two occasions she had seen Dr. Waite pour out something from a bottle into Peck's soup.

Peck complained of the taste and Dr. Waite, she is said to have said, blamed the cook. On another occasion the maid was declared to have said she saw Dr. Waite pour something also into Peck's tea.

Decides on Arrest.

The order for Dr. Waite's apprehension was decided upon by the district attorney following the receipt of information from Grand Rapids indicating that Peck may have been poisoned. This information was received last night from representatives of his office, who went to Grand Rapids, including Dr. Otto H. Schultz, medical examiner, who performed an autopsy on Peck's body, which had been sent there soon after his death here on March 12. Today the district attorney is understood to have received further information bearing on the case, which led to his decision to take the man into custody.

MAY ELECT NINDE NATIONAL PRESIDENT

The name of Lee J. Ninde, president of the Indiana Real Estate association and former president of the Fort Wayne exchange, will be presented by the Fort Wayne delegates for the presidency of the national association in convention next week in New Orleans. Mr. Ninde has taken an active part in the affairs of the national association and is well known in the real estate circles of the country. He is not a candidate, however, and says he has no aspirations for the national presidency at this time.

The local delegation will include: W. P. Walsh, E. J. Riecke, Chester S. Kitch, Frank J. Smither, Victor V. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton R. Willson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Bart, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Cordes, Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bliz, Kinmer Bliz, Herman Sigrist, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sigrist, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rastetter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Scheiman, A. H. Schaaf, P. C. Guild, J. D. Banning, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Magee and two daughters, C. C. Hewitt and Charles D. Nolan.

BURNED ARM OUTCOME OF A SPRAINED WRIST.

Decatur, Ill., March 23.—H. B. Dutton, Wabash baggage man at Litchfield, is in a hospital here suffering from a burned right arm, the outcome of a sprained wrist. When Dutton sprained his wrist he applied a bandage and treated it with turpentine. Dutton lit a cigar when on his way to see a doctor and a spark fell on the turpentine soaked bandage. In an instant his coat sleeve was burned as well as the skin of his right arm and hand.

A. O. SLAUGHTER IS DEAD.

Chicago Banker, Broker and Grain Dealer Passes Away.

Chicago, March 23.—A. O. Slaughter, prominent in Chicago financial circles as a grain dealer, stock broker and banker, died today after a short illness.

MORE THAN ONE "WIZARD" IN EDISON FAMILY; SON HAS GIFTS OF HIS OWN.

CHARLES A. EDISON

Will Charles Edison be a "wizard," too? The question is often asked in Orange, N. J.

The wizardry of the "wizards" son is not following the trail of the lightning. He gives more time to fine arts than crafts that are useful. In an attic studio in New York's literary colony, Greenwich village, Edison expresses his wizard like genius writing fantastical verse, composing music, and in directing a unique theater.

Dr. Waite's home, on Riverside drive, was under surveillance last night and today by a squad of detectives, who guarded the exits of his apartment to prevent any attempt to escape. Both Peck and his wife died here recently while visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. Waite.

Two autopsies performed in Grand Rapids after the body of Mr. Peck had been exhumed discovered arsenic in the stomach and intestines. The body of Mrs. Peck could not be examined because it had been cremated.

Mrs. Peck died here suddenly on January 20. Her husband came to New York a short time after her death to console his daughter and died on March 12. Until a day or two before his death he had seemed to be in excellent health. Mr. Peck left an estate valued at more than $1,000,000 divided equally between his daughter, Mrs. Waite, and his son, Percy Peck, of Grand Rapids.

Telegram Arouses Suspicion. The New York district attorney has in his possession a telegram signed "P" addressed to Percy Peck, which first caused suspicions that Mr. Peck did not die from natural causes. The message said:

"Suspicious aroused. Demand autopsy. Examine body."

The authorities have not announced the senders of this telegram if they have discovered it.

According to information received by the district attorney from Grand Rapids, effects of the arsenic found in Mr. Peck's stomach were noticeable in the brain tissue, proof that the poison was administered before death. The undertaker who embalmed the body in this city asserted that there was no arsenic in his embalming fluid. Dr. Waite and his wife took Mr. Peck's body back to Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Waite Also Ill. Mrs. Waite remained there at the home of relatives, and reports from Grand Rapids say that she has been ill for several days, a physician attributing her condition to hysteria. Dr. Waite returned to New York and yesterday he had a long talk with the district attorney regarding the case. He declined to make any statement for publication.

Dr. Waite told the district attorney that he had studied dentistry at the University of Michigan and taken a course in dentistry for one year in a university in Scotland. He declared that he had been told that the police were in-

NO CHANGE AT VERDUN.

Paris, March 23. (11:50 a. m.)—The French official statement published this morning says that during the night a violent bombardment took place to the east of the Meuse river. To the west of the Meuse the fighting was less intense and the general situation is unchanged.

SAYS HERRERA HAS NOT JOINED VILLA

rioting on a large scale in El Paso. Two hundred men were said to have been enlisted as a nucleus, having been won over by promises of the booty they would gain. According to the police, plans of Herrera anticipated that as soon as the rioting started large numbers of Mexicans would join him.

Whatever be the outcome the nervous tension along the border has increased to such an extent that many Americans frankly admit that they would prefer a definite ending of relations between Washington and the de facto government to a continuance of the existing situation.

SEE SERIOUS POSSIBILITIES.

Washington Authorities Much Disturbed By New Developments.

Washington, March 23.—Official confirmation of a report reaching General Funston that two thousand Carranza soldiers at Chihuahua, under Gen. Luis Herrera had revolted and aligned themselves with Francisco Villa, was anxiously awaited in Washington today. Some officials believe that if Herrera and his men have joined Villa, other Carranza troops may follow. In such an event this country and the de facto government of Mexico would face a situation fraught with serious possibilities. Herrera's troops are said to be the best equipped in northern Mexico and many of them have been led to victory by Villa. A wholesale revolt in Carranza's army would render the position of the American troops now on Mexican soil so perilous that every available soldier in the United States would be rushed to the border. Not more than 15,000 trained men would be available without calling out the national guard.

While developments in the tense situation were being awaited a draft of the protocol asked for by Carranza to govern the operations of the American expeditionary forces was on its way to the first chief for his approval. It was agreed to by Acting Secretary of State Polk and Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate. It is expected to be in effect within a few days.

Confirmation Was Lacking. Confirmation of the report that the Carranza garrison of 2,000 under Luis Herrera, at Chihuahua had revolted and joined Villa was still lacking today at the war department, although a dispatch to that effect was passed last night by the United States army censor at Columbus. The war department insisted that Gen. Funston's message last night stated merely that "it is reported" that the revolt had occurred, adding that there was no confirmation. No new advices had reached the department officials said and it was declared there was no indication in any message received since the American expedition started into Mexico that the troops had fired a shot or been fired upon.

Funston's Problem. General Funston's problem is to dispose of the troops at his command in such fashion as to insure the line of communication behind the force in Mexico. Secretary Baker when asked today if General Funston had asked for more reinforcements since the Fifth cavalry and Twenty-fourth infantry were ordered to join him, said: "I think I will not answer that question." A message from Gen. Funston last night said the motor truck trains had satisfactorily solved the problem of getting supplies to the advance column. Gen. Funston had been uneasy it was said over the supply situation but had reported where a disquieting situation had been indicated in unofficial reports. A message from Admiral Winslow on the west coast said quiet prevailed at Ensenada, Lower California.

Secretary Lansing returning from a week's vacation took personal charge of the situation so far as it concerns the state department. He conferred with Eliseo Arredondo, Gen. Carranza's ambassador, who presented a dispatch from Consul Garcia, at El Paso, denying entirely that Gen. Herrera had revolted with the Chihuahua garrison and joined Villa. Counselor Polk and Mr. Arredondo discussed with Secretary Lansing the proposed protocol for joint action in the pursuit of Villa. The preliminary negotiations had been taken up during Mr. Lansing's absence and today he was fully informed of them.

GIVES ILLUSTRATED LECTURE.

Second Last of a Series of Talks Given Friday By Rev. Paul Miller.

The second last of a series of illustrated lectures, which have been given during the course of the winter in the St. Paul's auditorium, will be delivered by Rev. Paul Miller tomorrow evening. The subject treated will be "The Persecutions of Christians During the Early Centuries." The lecture touches briefly upon the incidents connected with the establishment of the Christian church and the wonderful success of the apostles' preaching. It dwells at some length upon the opposition of Jew and Gentile, which the gospel met with and especially makes mention of the various cruelties used by oppressors to induce Christians to renounce their faith. One hundred and twenty stereoscopic views will be thrown on the screen to illustrate the lecture and in addition the motion picture, "Nero and the Burning of Rome," will be shown. Following is the complete program:

Victrola selections—J. L. Mueller "The Lord is My Light"—Alfonsen Miss Lucilla Feiertag. Lecture—Part I—Rev. Paul Miller Illustrated song—"The Holy City"—Miss Lucilla Feiertag. Lecture—Part II. Motion Picture—"Nero and the Burning of Rome." Victrola selection—J. L. Mueller

MANY DELEGATES EXPECTED.

Disciples of Christ Hold County Conference in This City.

The annual Allen county conference of the Disciples of Christ will be held in this city at the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ beginning Thursday evening at 7:15 o'clock. The officials are expecting many delegates from the various churches in the county.

Rev. O. E. Tones will lead in the devotions and Rev. M. L. Backley, pastor of the convention church, will deliver the address of welcome. Rev. A. L. Martin, state evangelist, will deliver the main address of the evening on the theme, "Success and Failure." The state secretary, C. W. Cagle, will also give an address.

The conference will continue Friday morning at 9:15 o'clock and the business session with the election of officers will take place Friday afternoon. William N. Ballou appears on the program Friday morning. The officers will give their reports at the Friday morning session.

HOLD TEMPERANCE RALLY.

A. C. W. Has Planned Interesting Program for Meeting Tonight.

The officials of the Associated Christian Workers of Fort Wayne have planned an interesting program for the big temperance rally to be held Thursday evening, March 23, at the First M. E. church, Wayne and Lafayette streets. The feature of the program will be the motion picture entitled, "The Trial of Joseph." Much interest has been aroused for this meeting and it is anticipated that a large audience will be present.

MEETING FOR RAILROAD MEN.

Special Services Planned by Rev. E. Q. Laudeman of First Evangelical.

In the series of meetings planned by the Women's Christian Temperance Union now being held in this city, a special service will be held Sunday morning at the First Evangelical church devoted to railroad men and their families. Rev. E. Q. Laudeman, pastor of the church, will deliver a sermon on the theme, "The Moral Influence of Railroad Men on American Citizenship." All railroad men, shopmen and employees of railroads are asked to attend.

Father Noll to Repeat Lecture.

Rev. John F. Noll will repeat the lecture which he gave last Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church this coming Sunday evening. Many people were turned away on account of the lack of space and therefore it has been requested that he repeat the sermon on "What the Catholic Church Believes." The church will open at 6:30 o'clock and the services will begin at 7:30.

Social Side of Churches.

The members of the Anti-Cant class of St. John Reformed church will hold their regular monthly meeting Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Nora Hesser, 417 Ross street.

The Young Men's Bible class of Crescent Avenue Evangelical church will meet at the home of C. O. Lathouse, 1117 Crescent avenue, Thursday evening. The Ladies' Social circle of Crescent Avenue Evangelical church will serve a chicken supper at the church Friday evening.

Accessions to Church.

Several accessions were made to the membership of the church at the evangelistic services at East Creighton Avenue Church of Christ Wednesday evening. Rev. O. E. Tones in commenting upon accessions declared that every exercise we make has in it the element of falsity. He will speak Thursday evening on "The Valley of Decision."

Will Elect Officers.

The Women's League of the Wayne Street M. E. church will hold a meeting Friday afternoon in the church parlors for the election of officers. The various chairmen and officers will give reports. The meetings begin at 2:30 o'clock and an apron sale will be held in connection with the meeting.

MISS IRENE MUELLEN DIES.

Relatives in Fort Wayne of Miss Irene Muellen, daughter of Mrs. Kate Muellen, who formerly resided in this city, received word Thursday morning informing them of the death of the daughter which occurred Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. Death followed an operation which she underwent several days ago. The mother is well known in Fort Wayne.

DR. SYD COLLINS WANTED IN IOAW

Warrant There for Man Sued Here for Annulment of Marriage.

After Mrs. Katherine M. Breeden, a widow, had been married February 3, in Kentucky, to Dr. Sydney Collins, and had been taken by him to Iowa, where he has a professional practice, she learned for the first time that he already had a lawful wife. She at once left her putative husband and hastened back to Fort Wayne and through Attorney Robert B. Dreihelb has begun action in the superior court for annulment of the marriage. Dr. Collins had a practice in Kentucky, but abandoned it to go to Iowa after his marriage to Mrs. Breeden, who is the widow of Homer Breeden, a trainman on the Baltimore and Ohio road who was killed some years ago. Mrs. Breeden came to Fort Wayne about three years ago from Garrett, Ind., and has been employed here as a bookkeeper.

After Mrs. Breeden's complaint had been filed Court Clerk D. C. Stout received a letter written by E. A. Leighton, chief of police at Waterloo, Iowa, to W. H. Favinger, clerk of the Noble circuit court at Albion, Ind., and by the latter official forwarded to this city, as follows: "Will you kindly advise whether or not your records show the marriage of Syd Collins to Katherine Breeden. This department holds a warrant for the arrest of Collins on the charge of adultery and we understand that he is wanted at or near your city on the charge of bigamy." Clerk Favinger, in forwarding the letter to Clerk Stout, says: "I think the above license was issued by your office." This, however, is not true. The license was not issued in this county.

Jury Breaks Fetter. Will. It took three days in the circuit court to present the testimony and arguments in the suit of George Bennett et al. vs. Elizabeth Fritz et al., an action to set aside the last will and testament of the late Henry A. Fetter, for many years an employee of the Fort Wayne Traction company, and it took the jury that heard the case but eight minutes to break the testament. Mrs. Fritz, a daughter, was the chief beneficiary of the testator's will, by which a $2,000 estate was disposed of. It was charged that the aged man was of unsound mind and unduly influenced when he executed his will.

Sues Traction Company. Nathaniel R. Kennedy, a United States mail carrier in this city, has begun action in the circuit court against the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company for $500 for personal injuries alleged to have been received April 2, 1915, when the rig he was driving was run into by a street car at the intersection of Calhoun and Wayne streets. The plaintiff charges that the car was running at an unlawful speed, was not equipped with brakes and sounded no warning. He says he was thrown from his vehicle to the pavement and sustained a fractured rib and other injuries. Harper & Fuelbert appear for the plaintiff.

Some Divorce Cases.

Oscar Bannister says that he was married in 1907 and that five years later his wife, Ella Bannister, deserted him and has since refused to live with him. He charges also that she called him vile and indecent names. No children were born to them. Emrick & Emrick appear for the plaintiff, whose action is in the superior court.

Edith M. Parrant complains to the superior court of John B. Parrant and says he was a habitual drunkard and for two years had not provided for her and their child, now two years old. She wants a divorce, custody of the child and $1,000 alimony. An order has been issued restraining the defendant from molesting her at 2342 Little street. The couple were married in October, 1905, and separated the 22d inst. Colerick & Hogan are the wife's attorneys.

Emma Sheets asks the superior court to grant her a divorce from John Sheets, to whom she was married in September, 1913, and from whom she separated a year later. She charges non-support and says they have no children. Frank M. Hogan is her attorney.

Notes of the Courts.

Albert E. Hutchinson has begun action in the superior court against Monroe W. Fitch, Eugene M. Fitch, Delbert C. Fitch and Sheriff A. C. Gladieux to quiet title to real estate. Colerick & Hogan appear for the plaintiff.

The superior court has dismissed the divorce suit of Mary C. Heliker vs. William H. Heliker.

In the suit of Walter A. Thomas and Frank Bowser vs. Archie L. Sheehan, the superior court has given the plaintiffs judgment for $43.60 and ordered the sale of the property involved.

The suit of Florence A. Thomas vs. the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company for $5,000 has been set for trial in the superior court before a jury June 7.

The suit of Fred W. and Anna L. Keil vs. the city of Fort Wayne and August Henschel for $7,500 damages has been sent to Adams county for trial on change of venue.

The cause of the Seavey Hardware company vs. William L. Meyers will be tried in the circuit court June 2 and the suit of August Bux vs. the National Market company will be heard in the same court April 7.

The circuit court has granted a change of venue to DeKalb county in the suit of Emma Faldheiser vs. James A. Graham for $200 damages.

The circuit court has dismissed the suit of Mary J. Scherer vs. Frances McDonald.

GOOD PREMIUMS ON BONDS.

County Treasurer William F. Ranke has just got for the highest premiums ever commanded by road improvement bonds in Allen county the securities covering three new highways. The average premium was 2 1/2 cents, whereas the average heretofore has been 1 1/2 cents. The $12,000 issue of bonds for the Fokel road in El River township was bought by J. F. Wild & Co., Indianapolis, for $13,257.50. The Hamilton National bank of Fort Wayne paid a premium of $255.75 for the $12,000 issue on the Springer road in

PASSENGERS SHAKEN AS CAR HITS JITNEY

West Main street car No. 180, in charge of Motorman Tipple, struck a West Main jitney bus operated by J. Bolter just west of the St. Mary's bridge at 1:15 Thursday afternoon, causing damage to the machine and shaking up but not seriously hurting several passengers. Bolter reported the smash-up to the police.

Tipples is the motorman arrested by Traffic Officer Krueckeburg several weeks ago for running past a closed block at Wayne and Calhoun streets. Bolter brought several witnesses in with him to testify that the motorman was responsible for the smash.

BOY OF TEN KILLS HIMSELF.

Hammond, Ind., March 23.—One fatality and four serious accidents have kept the police busy in the Calumet region. Richard Keriger, aged twenty-three, colored, of West Hammond, was shot through the abdomen in a revolver battle over a poker game, and Shelli Davis, age twenty-three, of West Hammond, was shot in the leg. Frank Kutlia, age twenty-two, of Hammond, was caught between two cars in the freight department of the Standard Steel Car company and suffered internal injuries. Mike Benich, aged nineteen, of East Chicago, was thrown from a motorcycle. He was injured about the head. George Hartman, of Hegewisch, age ten, killed himself with a revolver at the Omalley home early yesterday. He had been threatened with punishment, but whether his death was intentional or accidental has not been determined.

WILL SOON RETURN TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Congressman Adair Plans Active Canvass All Over Indiana.

By Willis Thompson.

Indianapolis, March 23.—It is expected that Congressman John A. M. Adair will soon be able to return to Indiana and resume his campaign as the democratic candidate for governor. As the result of his strenuous work of traveling and speaking day and night during the final weeks of the primary contest he contracted a severe cold, which threatened pneumonia and was forced to his bed at Portland several days before he returned to Washington. When he reached the capital to resume his duties in the congress his physicians ordered him to the hospital. He is improving steadily and regaining his strength.

Congressman Adair is anxious to get into the state campaign. He has expressed his purpose to go to every city, town, hamlet, community and cross roads to meet the people and make speeches. It is his belief that where two or three people can be gathered together to reason in matters political it is worth the while of the candidate to be here. The two or three are sure to go and tell it to others.

That John Adair is an effective campaigner is shown in his several congressional fights in the eighth district. When he was first nominated by the democrats of his district as their candidate for congress he did not know the people to whom his name must be presented. He had always had the highest regard for the opinions of the American people, however, and he believed that if a man had a message and would go to these people and let them know he could usually be assured that their verdict would be right. He believed he had a message, he went and told the people, met them at large and small meetings, and when he concluded his campaign he had transformed one of the strongest republican districts of the state into a democratic majority.

He has been elected five successive times to that seat in congress and has made the eighth such a strong democratic district that it is always sure to return a democratic majority for the whole state ticket. It is so strong that Auditor of State Dale Critchfield always refers to it as the militant democratic district of Indiana. Challenging even some of those districts where the republicans do not cast enough votes to make it worth while wasting a tally sheet to count.

John Adair is especially interested and enthusiastic over the outlook for success of the democratic party in Indiana this year.

OSSIAN NEWS.

Ossian, Ind., March 23.—J. J. Gorrell, of Winnetka, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Swaim, of Bluffton, spent Monday in Ossian with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Milliken.

Meredith C. Aldred is home from a few days' visit at Lapel with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Aldred. Mrs. Aldred and little daughter, Roberta, remained for a longer visit.

Mrs. William E. Hunter and son, William, left today for their home in Columbia City after spending a week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Roe.

The Standard Bearers are arranging to hold a parcel post sale in the M. E. church parlors on Friday evening, April 7. The young ladies are also preparing a special program of music and play-lets.

Mrs. Dale Elzey was hostess for the E. T. C. club Monday evening. The time passed pleasantly in a social way and the girls were busy with their fancy work. Mrs. Elzey served salted peanuts to all. Those attending were Misses Mary Roe, Emma Bowman, Ruth Bailey, Marjory Hill, How Elzey and Mrs. Gerald Beatty.

Miss Nellie Gibson will entertain the Daphne Girls on Friday evening.

Mrs. Alex White accompanied her grandson, Alex Sutton, to his home in Decatur the first of the week and will spend most of the week visiting with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sutton.

About thirty of the Eastern Stars from the Ossian chapter went to Poe Monday night, where they did the work of initiating two new members into the Poe lodge. After finishing the initiatory work all enjoyed a pleasant social time and the Poe ladies served a splendid two course lunch. The Ossian people motored to Poe and those who went were Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Weirich, Mr. and Mrs. William Rodda, Mr. and Mrs. Park Somers, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Dyer, Mesdames Margaret, Munt, Isadore Glass, Mame Poffenberger, Margaret Weaver, Anna Gibson, Susie Gaston, Anna Trevey, Lillian Spencer, Euphemia Chalfant, Eliza Gibson, D. C. Wyburn, Messrs. John Spencer and Will Hoopengardner and Misses May Glass, Jennie and Dell Allen.

Miss Nita Wagner entertained the Junior Philathens Tuesday evening most pleasantly at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wagner. Each member took an invited guest. After the class meeting several contests were enjoyed and Mrs. Wagner served very nice refreshments. Those present were their teachers, Miss May Morton and Miss Augusta Yager and the following members and guests: Misses May Weaver, Ida Kreigh, Helen Roe, Alta Allen, Lucina White, Gretchen Hoopengardner, Vera and Ruby Glass, Hazel Bird, Levita Hanna, Ruth Turner, Viola Hoopengardner, Marie Kreigh, Viola Mahnensmith, Dorothy Spencer, Vada Woodward, Avis Bector, Marguerite Turner, Florence Hatfield, Gretchen Allen, Dorothy Osborn, Hallie Jennings and Pauline Hawley.

Samuel Milliken, who is suffering from uremia, continues in much the same condition. Mrs. Milliken, who has been ill with the grip, is again able to go about the house and sit by her husband's bed.

The Friends'hip circle, the Sunday school class of the M. E. church taught by Jacob Osborn, was quite nicely entertained Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Goodson. Interesting talks were made by Messrs. A. S. Elzey, J. W. Osborn and E. T. Hawley. The circle elected officers for the en-

SECRETARY WILL BE PRESIDENT FOR DAY

Washington, D. C., March 23.—No matter who may be elected president in November, the secretary of state will be "president for a day" next March.

March 4—inauguration day comes on Sunday. According to precedent the inauguration will take place March 5, leaving a lapse of a day between the presidential terms. Sec. Lansing, if he is then in the cabinet, will be the first secretary of state to attain this distinction.

March 4, 1849, fell on Sunday, and David Atchinson, of Missouri, president pro tem. of the senate, was president for a day.

ing year as follows: M. E. Spencer, president; Mrs. W. T. Bailey, vice president; George M. Way, secretary; Frank Quackenbush, treasurer. All enjoyed a social time and the hostess served nice eats to the following: Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Roe, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quackenbush, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Goshorn, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Elzey, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Gorrell, W. T. Hood, Jacob Osborn, M. E. Spencer, Mrs. Mary Quackenbush, Mrs. W. T. Bailey, Mrs. Nelson Osborn, Miss Jennie Ryan and Raymond Goshorn.

J. G. Stirling, the new hardware merchant, who has purchased the Shepherd and Sparks store, moved yesterday into the residence of Mrs. Sarah Jackson-Bailey.

Mesdames J. F. Chalfant, Ellen Gibson, Theodore Crowl and Louisa M. Hunter spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Chalfant, of Greenwood, visiting with Mr. Chalfant's sister, Miss May Chalfant, of Bluffton, who is on her way to Normal, Ill., to join her sister, Anna Chalfant, where they are both interested in a live and ten cent store.

Mrs. Frank R. Baker was hostess for the Sargasso club Tuesday evening. The ladies gave roll call responses from Robert Louis Stevenson. Mrs. Gorrell discussed the "Physical and Social Needs of Children." Mrs. Fryback read a paper on "Intellectual and Technical Training of Children," and Mrs. Poffenberger compared "Children's Literature Now and Fifty Years Ago." After a discussion of current events the hostess served a nice lunch. Those present were Mesdames Charles L. Weirich, L. P. Wilson, F. M. Rector, Aaron Deich, E. D. Poffenberger, W. W. Fryback, S. J. Gorrell, D. C. Wyburn, E. H. Roe, W. W. Hoopengardner and Miss Nan Johnston. The club will meet again Tuesday evening, March 28th, with Mrs. M. C. Aldred.

The Pleasant Word circle were guests Tuesday evening of Mrs. Bessie Richey. Mrs. Bessie Swaim led the devotional exercises. Ed Buck was chosen teacher to take the place of E. H. Roe, who resigned, not being able to continue work with the class and serve as Sunday school superintendent. During the social hour the hostess served very nice refreshments. Among those present were Mesdames Bessie Vananda, Dossie Swaim, Orie Glass, Edna Koons, Oda Henline, Hazel Kleinmeyer, J. Orr Powell, Ing Miller, Will Cotton, Hazel Wilson, Daisy Goshorn, Emma Vananda, Maude Schwan, Margaret Kellogg, Anna Bowman, Bertha Hoover, Carrie Melchior, Gay Hall, Almor Hoover, Jesse Shaffer, Clint Parkinson, Vic Wilson, Hazel Mahnensmith and Miss Luella Davis. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Carl Wilson and at that time officers for the coming year will be elected.

Mrs. Walter Craig and daughter, Miss Bessie Craig, who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Willis Melchior, will leave Friday for Ashabula, Ohio.

MR. AND MRS. A. O. WARD

"There is no sense in your hatching any longer—"

"That's the way Miss Vesta Ludington, of Seattle, Wash., started her proposal to the boy she loved and became a leap-year bride."

She is now Mrs. A. O. Ward, the marriage having been performed publicly in a theater on Feb. 29, before 4,500 people.

Vesta, 18 years old, says it's easy and simple for a girl to marry the man she likes, and that the actual proposal isn't at all embarrassing when love shows the way. She met her "intended" on Christmas day, and frankly acknowledges that she helped the courtship along.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING

John 6:35-47.

35 And Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst.

36 But I said unto you, That ye also have seen me, and believe not.

37 All that the Father giveth me shall come to me; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out.

38 For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me.

39 And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day.

40 And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life; and I will raise him up at the last day.

41 The Jews then murmured at him, because he said, I am the bread which came down from heaven.

42 And they said, Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? how is it then that he saith, I came down from heaven?

43 Jesus therefore answered and said unto them, Murmur not among yourselves.

44 No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him: and I will raise him up at the last day.

45 It is written in the prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me.

46 Not that any man hath seen the Father, save he which is of God, he hath seen the Father.

47 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life.

The Call for Arbitration.

With the railroad brotherhoods awaiting a reply after the submission of their plea for an advance in wages, and the railroad managements proclaiming that the demands are unreasonable and cannot be met without losses that come near spelling disaster, civic and commercial bodies of the country are rapidly falling into line in voicing an urgent request for arbitration of the differences. This is inspired by a regard for the interests of the general public and without presuming to indicate a belief that either party to the controversy is either right or wrong. Indeed, we have noted from no source outside the immediate factions concerned any attempt to analyze the situation in the interest of either the railroads or their trainmen. There is, however, a very general realization of the seriousness that would follow an open breach in the railroad world.

It is a case in which arbitrary action on the part of either side must inevitably be followed by very severe industrial prostration in which the public will be the chief sufferer, and as a part of the public the railroad stockholders and the railroad employees must bear a share of the burden. As a matter of very evident fact, neither the railroad men nor the railroad managers want a strike. Each is anxious for an amicable adjustment, and it has become reasonably certain the only avenue to such an outcome lies through arbitration. The problem must be taken up and solved by some impartial and disinterested body which will play fair with the roads and fair with the men. With the opposing factions each standing steadfast the deadlock promises to endure. Each is confident he is right and reasonable, and that the other is clinging to a wholly untenable and unjustifiable position. The interests of the whole public are much more vital than those of either of the opposing contenders. It is very vital that a just and fair arbitration proceeding bring the factions amicably together in an agreement for peace.

Cole Younger, who a quarter of a century and more ago figured largely as a notorious bandit, outlaw and robber, and whose career supplied the basis for many of the dime-novel thrillers of those days, has just died in a little Missouri town at the age of 72 years. Justice overtook Younger as it is almost certain to overtake all of his ilk, and he paid the penalty of his crimes by a long term in prison. The noteworthy fact in the case, however, is that Younger lived long enough to see the error of his ways and to make plain by preachment and by practice his conviction that there is nothing but woe in the life of lawlessness that often lures the impressionable youngster. Cole Younger in his last years became devoutly religious and sought so far as possible to atone for his earlier lawlessness. His estimate of the futility of a life of crime may well be accepted as authoritative.

There should be cheerful acquiescence by parents in Police Chief Lenz's order for the enforcement of the curfew ordinance to keep children of tender years off the streets at night unless properly accompanied or engaged in a legitimate mission. Recent months have supplied several instances that emphasize the necessity for parents knowing absolutely the whereabouts of their boys and girls during the evening hours. They can be assured of this only by the exercise of precisely the precaution the police chief is aiming at in his order to patrolmen to enforce the curfew law. After the youngsters have been picked up and certified to the juvenile court will be too late to take the matter in hand. The proper time to do it is right now.

Internal revenue officials in the Sixth district of Indiana say the income tax returns for the new year will show an increase numerically of about 1,200 over last year's total, with a corresponding advance in the total taxes paid. We are left in the dark, however, as to whether the returns signify that more people have grown wealthy enough to come under the income tax regulation or that merely fewer are escaping this year than last.

And, besides, that plan to select a postmaster at Kendallville by preference primary vote of the patrons of the office will give each of the something like twenty-five applicants for the job an opportunity to demonstrate just how strong he is with the folk whose mail he desires to smilingly hand out to them daily for at least the term of four years, or until his successor is duly appointed and qualified.

They are also discussing what is to be done with Villa after he is captured—which seems an utterly useless waste of time just now. Let's get him first.

ICE DEALERS AND THE PUBLIC.

(Indianapolis News.)

According to Herbert DePrez, president of the Indiana Ice Dealers' association, which meets in Indianapolis this week, the ice men are anxious to come to a better understanding with the public. He admits that the dealers are largely to blame for the present unsatisfactory attitude of the people, and contends that what is needed is a campaign of publicity that will acquaint persons who know nothing of the hazards of the business with the fact that in reality there is such constant danger of loss that the present prices are not exorbitant. He asserts also that because it seems to be the simplest thing in the world to make ice out of water many persons undertake to do it, with the result that competition is very keen. No doubt he is right in several respects. The people charge the ice man with raising the price of what has come to be a summer necessity at the time when it is most needed. This he does. And the people do not like it. It is hardly expected that they would. They argue that ice should be manufactured in large quantities more cheaply than in small, and that the greater demand the smaller should be the price. They forget, of course, that a large part of the cost of ice should not be charged to its manufacture, but to its delivery, and that this is not greatly affected by the amount delivered. This is the thing the ice man should make plain. He might even go so far as to furnish actual figures. This would convince consumers that he is telling the truth about price boosting during the hot weather. Mr. DePrez is right in saying "the public is fair." It is fair, but it wants to be met half way.

THE CASE OF MR. BRANDEIS

(South Bend News-Times)

The Brandeis nomination has developed into an inquisition such as no other candidate for the supreme court ever subjected to. A vast amount of testimony has been taken by the senate committee regarding Mr. Brandeis' career, character and reputation. And yet, somehow, the job doesn't seem to have been finished.

The witnesses examined have been almost without exception business men and members of the bar. They have nearly all been ultra-conservatives, naturally disposed to criticize—or to fail in understanding—a man of this type to which the nominee is popularly supposed to belong. Added to their fundamental difference of outlook is the fact that in the course of an unusually broad and active career Mr. Brandeis has trodden on the toes of many of these business and professional men.

They are doubtless honest in their judgment of Mr. Brandeis, or think they are. But possibly they are incapable of being perfectly fair to him.

What do the masses of our people think of the candidate? Isn't that the real question, after all? The "conservative" manufacturers and merchants and lawyers are important, but they are a small minority of the nation. Mr. Brandeis has been called "the people's lawyer." Why haven't the people been heard from in this inquiry? Have they nothing to say regarding their supposed champion's fitness for the court on which their ultimate liberties depend?

TO ARBITRATE LAWSUITS

(Kansas City Star.)

It is refreshing to find a candidate for district judge in Kansas on a platform pledging his court as a court of arbitration and only a court of law in the last resort. Mr. Dennis Madden, of Emporia, the candidate in question, believes it will be possible to save much litigation if the parties to suits would agree to have the matter arbitrated. He promises to do his best to obtain such arbitration in place of expensive lawsuits.

Everybody knows he is right. It is a common sense way of looking at the problem. Eventually the plan will be incorporated into the judicial procedure of the state as an advance toward the ideal of free justice which will come in the end.

THEY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT CENTENNIAL

Other Cities Asking What It All Means—We'll Tell Them.

The publicity committee, of which Martin H. Luecke is the chairman, is ready this week to give the outside cities of this part of busy America all the information they desire concerning the approaching centennial celebration in Fort Wayne. Beginning this week, sprightly news stories concerning the June event will be sent at frequent intervals to 150 newspapers of north-eastern Indiana, western Ohio and southern Michigan, giving in brief the account of developments which will be of special interest to the people of other cities.

The thousands who will come in from outside points will take away with them the story of the celebration and also an impression of Fort Wayne as a city of homes, of schools, of parks and commercial advantages. For this reason it is necessary that every department of the city's activities wake up at once to the advantage of using every opportunity to give the city a good name.

No event "pulled off" in Fort Wayne at any time in its history allows of such a united effort toward success as does the coming June celebration. The youngest school child has something to do, just as well as the most cold-blooded business man—but they won't be doing the same thing. There's an opportunity for co-operative activity for everyone in some one of the numerous branches of the preliminary work. Every citizen should find his place and then get busy.

A Fort Wayne Hymn.

Wallace Rice, the author of the book of the Fort Wayne pageant, has written a beautiful "Fort Wayne hymn," which may be adopted as the official hymn of the centennial, in which case it would be a handsome contribution from some local musician to provide suitable music and to give it a lasting place in the hearts of the people of Fort Wayne.

Other literary efforts, however, may find their way to the committee and no final decision will be rendered until the matter has received full consideration. Mr. Rice's hymn follows:

Fort Wayne Hymn.
Great Lord, who through the rolling years

Hast brought thy servants here,
Removed from them their ancient fears
And granted them this cheer,
Still guard us with Thy mighty wing
While now in jubilee

We meet with prayer and praise to sing
Thanksgiving unto Thee.

Here in the darkness of old time
The savage came to slay;
How long and slow the upward climb
To peace and this fair day!

Thou wast our fathers' Guide
Thou gavest them an end of war;
Thou gavest them an end of strife.

Our hearts to lovefulness incline,

Our soul to deeds of love;
Beneath Thy sky may freedom shine
And justice from above!
As now the present from the past
Hath gained thy glorious reign,
So may the future follow fast
With blessings on Fort Wayne!

Many Will Take Part.

The pageant committee is well pleased with the early response to the call for volunteers to take part in the pageant at Reservoir park. Supplies of the cards have been placed in some of the downtown stores and at the following named manufacturing institutions and shops:

S. F. Bowser & Co., Western Gas Construction Co., Bass Foundry and Machine Co., Pennsylvania general offices and shops, General Electric Lamp works, Ross Manufacturing Co., Wash-bash shops, the Luckard company, Fort Wayne Electric works, Wayne Knitting mills and others. Supplies have been provided to wholesale houses where the employees will have an opportunity to sign the cards and mail them to the centennial committee. The card contains the following information:

"The pageant is to be Fort Wayne's big show. The people who participate will give their services free, although all costumes will be furnished by the association. These cards are for the purpose of securing the names of the very best talent available. The names will be given to Mr. Donald Robertson, the pageant master, who will then make his selections for the cast." The applicant signs the card with name and address and appends other information asked for by the committee. The cards are then mailed to the committee or delivered to the Commercial club headquarters of the Centennial celebration.

The announcement that the association would award a prize of $50 to the person making the most acceptable suggestion for a poster design has created a lively interest. The contest closes March 23. The time for sending in the suggestions draws rapidly to a close and all participants are urged to think and act quickly.

The Doctor's Advice

By Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College Street, Fort Wayne, Ind., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name, and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious names will be used in the answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Answer—For a good, general invigorant, a tonic and flesh producer there is none better than three-grain sulphur tablets, which you may obtain at any well-stocked drug store. Take them with your meals, and in a short time you should notice an increase in weight. Your health will be much improved and your color good.

Worker says: "I am a very hard worker and am obliged to be in and out of doors constantly. I take colds regularly as a result, and sometimes I cough severely for days. What may I use to break up a cold quickly?"

Answer—The best thing you might use to break up a cold and at the same time the system of inflammation would be a simple syrup made from 2 1/2 oz. concentrated essence menthol-lavender and one ounce of plain sugar syrup. Take regularly until relieved. When you feel a cold coming on, start using this simple laxative tonic, cough syrup for immediate and permanent benefit.

Max asks: "What can I do to give me strength of body and power of mind? I seem to have lost all vigor and I'm dull, listless and weak. I am restless and sleep very little. Have pain in my head, and just a general 'down and out' feeling. Cannot stand late hours or strenuous any more. I'm only 35, so I know I'm not old age."

Answer—Your physical and mental strength need the aid of a good tonic and invigorant. Three-grain codonine tablets should tone your nerves and get your system and brain in good, active condition. You are now suffering from nervousness, worry, overindulgence or loss of sleep.

Fuss writes: "I have had pains in my back for months. Now I have headaches and chills and fever at the time. My complexion is awful and I have swelling of the feet and my eyes are bloodshot and have lost their brightness."

Answer—Don't be alarmed over your condition. You have kidney trouble, but with the continued use of laxative tablets you should receive immediate and permanent relief. These tablets come in sealed tubes with directions.

Sick writes: "I am slowly recovering from a long spell of sickness and I am thin and have no strength."

New Commandments for Motorists Out

A new list of commandments for motorists is:

Thou shalt not drive faster than the law allows, for the policeman waiteth for thee and will surely catch thee. Obey this, that thy days may be long out of jail.

Do not be a road hog, for such is an abomination to all men. If another wishes to pass thy machine, let him do it; maybe he is better dead. Help him all you can, for the living want peace.

A merciful man loveth all things, even cats, dogs and chickens, so give them room if they cross thy path. Be kind even to these, and you will sleep well, and sweet dreams shall be thy portion.

In all cases be polite to the driver of the horse you leave by the wayside. He pulled out for you. Thank him, salute him and smile. At night he will tell his wife he met a real man, yes, even so, and driving a car. His memory of thee will be a sweet smelling ointment.

Avoid "John Barleycorn" while driving thy car. He may want thee to "smile." Don't do it—such smiling and steering a wheel don't mix. If thou doest thus you may mix with some other things. You are not a shock-absorber.

If thou art single and lovest a girl, do not court her while driving. All girls prefer two-armed lovers. This is good, for God hath made them so.

Care for thy tires, for in this way thou shalt save money. You may need it when they wear. Repair the little breaks and abrasions in time and save much easing.

For thy tires' sake, as well as for thy machine's sake, be gentle. Let the clutch in slowly. Consider thy car in stopping and spare thy brake.

Keep thy tires well filled with air and then more air every day. It is free. All other things you pay for.

Ralston Refuses to Honor Requisition for Talbot.

Indianapolis, March 23.—Gov. Samuel M. Ralston has refused to honor a requisition for the return of John W. Talbot, of South Bend, head of the Order of Owls, who is wanted in Illinois for alleged defamation of character of officers of the Loyal Order of Moose. The requisition was not in proper form, Governor Ralston held, as it was signed by the lieutenant governor of Illinois instead of the governor. When the corrected papers are presented, Governor Ralston will consider other aspects of the case.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MARRIED 60 YEARS AGO.

Mr. and Mrs. Washington Messimore Keep Anniversary.
Warsaw, Ind., March 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Washington Messimore, of near Sidney, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

When Mr. and Mrs. Messimore arrived in Indiana a bridal couple in 1856 the state was just forty years old. The couple were married at Mount Erie, Ohio, March, 1856, and within two weeks were journeying into Indiana. They located in Kosciusko county one mile south of Sidney. The following year Mr. Messimore taught in a log school house south of Sidney, eight of his former pupils, now grandfathers and grandmothers, attended the anniversary and talked over old times with him. Mr. Messimore emphasizes the fact that they taught penmanship and recalled giving a box of steel pens as a prize.

ADAMS ROAD BONDS SOLD.

Decatur, Ind., March 23.—Treasurer Geo. Kinzel Wednesday afternoon sold a $14,000 macadam road bonds issued for the construction of the Curtis-Fritzing, Henry, Bauman and Daniel Kaehr roads. There were seven bids offered, the entire issue going to the Fletcher National Bank, Indianapolis. The bids were as follows: Fletcher National bank, $265.75; R. L. Dowling Co., Indianapolis, $298.00; Breed Elliot & Harrison, $245.00; Miller & Co., Indianapolis, $225.00; Peoples Loan & Trust Co., Decatur, $263.89; Old Adams County bank, Decatur, $221.20; First National bank, Decatur, $144.49. With the premiums accrued interest is also to be paid.

NO DETAILS OF P. O. ELECTION.

Kendallville, Ind., March 23.—No other official information has been received from Congressman Cline by local democratic leaders concerning the postmaster election primary to be held, as per the announcement Tuesday. However, it is reported that the election will be held Thursday, April 6, with T. A. Redmond as chairman of the election board. Also that only democrats can be candidates for the office, but that all patrons of the Kendallville office will be permitted to vote, regardless of party affiliation. The announcement that Congressman Cline had decided to select a postmaster by primary has aroused a keen interest on all sides, and the subject is being widely discussed up and down the street, and elsewhere.

BOY STRUCK BY TRAIN LIVES.

Huntington, Ind., March 23.—Robert Rodenbaugh, 5 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rodenbaugh, of this city, was struck by a Wabash passenger train at the Lafayette street crossing. The steam chest at the side of the engine struck him on the temple and caused a concussion of the brain from which he was severely ill for a time. A more serious accident was prevented by the engineer who saw the Rodenbaugh boy and a companion playing on the track and slowed down as he blew the whistle. The boys, probably not realizing their danger, leisurely got out of the road. Young Rodenbaugh was standing by the side of the track when struck.

RESORT LANDLORD BANKRUPT.

Columbia City, Ind., March 23.—J. W. Short, who conducted the Tri Lake resort last year, has gone into voluntary bankruptcy. The amount of his assets and liabilities is not given. The probable cause of his failure is given as the awful season last summer, when it rained nearly all the time, killing patronage at the lakes. Mr. Short was a railroad man, connected with the Erie system at Huntington and he will go back to his old trade. Mrs. Short, who was at the resort most of the winter, left about three weeks ago, and Logan Staples and wife have taken charge. They own the east end of the lake resort and will conduct it during the coming summer.

LAGRANGE CITIZEN IS DEAD.

Lagrange, Ind., March 23.—Edward Snyder, for several years engineer at the municipal waterworks plant in this city, died Wednesday in Elkhart, where he had gone to be treated for rheumatism, the malady that caused his death. The remains have been brought here for burial. Snyder was 57 years old, a native of this county and had spent practically all of his life here. He resigned his position of engineer here two years ago to take a place in the Flint & Walling company's works at Kendallville, but lost one of his hands in an accident and returned here to reside. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

NEW BANK IN ROANOKE.

Roanoke, Ind., March 23.—D. W. Zinfmeister, a bank organizer of Huntington, has formed the Farmers' State bank in Roanoke. Press B. Settlemyre is president; Alva Hayden, vice president and Nathan L. Highlands is treasurer. The directors are Press B. Settlemyre, Alva Hayden, Nathan L. Highlands, Davis Phebus, Newton D. E. Richards, G. E. Lawrence, Charles C. Smith, E. F. Jones and Charles W. Nicodemus. The advisory board is comprised of Lincoln Bolinger, W. H. Dennis, George W. Fouse, John Hines, Amos H. Kelsey, John D. Keener, George L. Loshire and B. W. Simon. The collection of capital stock will end Saturday.

SAYS WIFE WANTED PENSION.

Anburn, Ind., March 23.—William Hedrick is the plaintiff in another divorce case filed Wednesday against his wife, Sarah Hedrick. They were married November 2, 1915, and lived together as husband and wife until March 5, 1916. The charge is cruel and inhuman treatment. The defendant must leave her home frequently and the husband says his wife did not care for him and only married him for his pension, and would no longer live with him. The plaintiff has no personal or real property. C. W. Crooks is the attorney.

WILL SUPERVISE HOSPITAL.

Van Wert, Ohio, March 23.—N. E. Leak, of New York city, was given the contract of supervising the laboratory in the new Van Wert hospital by the hospital board of directors at their meeting last evening. Mr. Leak will have complete charge of the new laboratory after it has been equipped. He will receive any pay from the board, but all charges for experimental work will be awarded to him. Mr. Leak is a pathologist and will do all work of that nature for the resident-physicians of the city.

GETS DECREE AND BIG ALIMONY.

Huntington, Ind., March 23.—After hearing sensational evidence in the suit of Mrs. Ida Hoffman for a divorce from her husband, Jacob E. Hoffman, of Jackson township, Special Judge C. K. Lucas granted the suit and gave Mrs. Hoffman $1,500 alimony and allowed her $200 for attorney fees. Costs of the suit are to be paid by the defendant also. The contention of the defense was that actions of which Mrs. Hoffman complained, and on which she based her divorce suit, had been settled once, and that they had again lived together.

DEATH DUE TO OLD AGE.

Bluffton, Ind., March 23.—Samuel Riggs, an aged resident of Dillman, Jackson township, passed away from a complication of diseases due to old age. The deceased had been seriously sick the past three weeks and his death was not unexpected. The deceased leaves a widow and several children, among whom are Charles Riggs, of Keystone, and Clem Riggs, of Warren. The funeral will be held at Dillman this afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in the Jones cemetery.

PRAISE AMERICAN NURSES.

Hartford City, Ind., March 23.—In a letter to his cousins, Mrs. G. E. Andre and Miss Anna D'Andoy, of this city, Edgar Muldermans, who is a musician in the Belgian army, states that the Belgians are very appreciative of the work being done for the allies by American nurses. He especially asked that his relatives here extend the thanks of himself and comrades for the work of Miss Crystal Parks, of this city, is doing toward aiding in the hospitals of France. Miss Parks' mother, Mrs. Nettie Parks, resides in this city.

WARREN DESERTER CAPTURED.

Bluffton, Ind., March 23.—George M. Welton, who married a woman at Warren and departed after he had obtained possession of about $350 belonging to her, has been taken into custody at Indianapolis.

Welton wrote to his wife in Warren after he had left her, saying that he had gone to Canada. The authorities refused to accept the bait, and sent a description of him to Indianapolis. The capture followed and he will be returned for trial.

COMMENCEMENT ORATOR CHOSEN.

Hartford City, Ind., March 23.—Byron W. King, president of the Pittsburgh school of oratory, has been selected to give the commencement oration for the graduation class in this city on the evening of June 2. Arrangements have also been made for the baccalaureate services, which will be given at the high school auditorium, on the evening of Sunday, May 31.

DIES IN JAIL AT EATON.

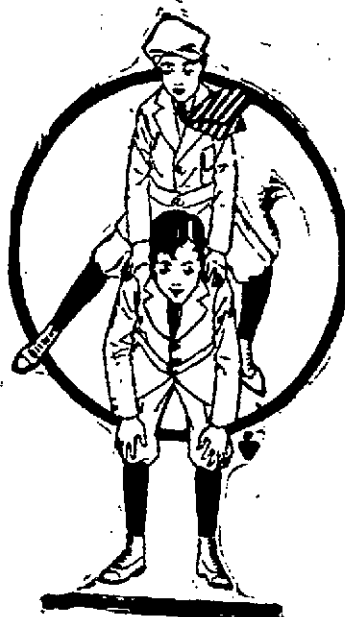

Eaton, Ind., March 23.—Abner Franzler, locked up in the town jail here last night on a charge of intoxication, was found dead by the marshal this morning. The coroner gave acute alcoholism as the cause of death. Among the relatives surviving is a daughter, living near the Delaware-Blackford county line.

Gilbert was given a severe lecture by Police Judge A. J. Rosebrough, when he was arraigned in court on a charge of having sold liquor to Lloyd Hoover, who is on the "dry list." The judge freed Gilbert on the grounds that he had not been properly warned of the ban on liquor. He was told, however, that hereafter if he buys liquor for Hoover, Cass Hoover and Grant Leverton, he will be severely dealt with.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE SOLVES A PROBLEM

Provides Way for Doing Canada's Farm Work This Spring.

Winnipeg, Canada, March 23.—An official order extending to every non-commissioned officer and man on active service in Canada leave of absence not exceeding one month to go out on farms, has solved western Canada's problem of finding help to plant this year's grain crop, in the opinion of government officials here.

Under the provisions of the order, the soldiers will receive full pay for their service in the army in addition to the payment received from farmers for their work. Free transportation from camp to farm will be provided by the government to the extent of 300 miles and operation of the military order will begin as soon as conditions permit of working the land.

Twenty-seven thousand men are under arms in military district No. 10 and the proportionate number who can go out to plant the crop should be adequate for the provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Units farthest west will take care of Alberta province.

To prevent soldiers taking unfair advantage of the order, the authorities added certain regulations, one of them stipulating that leave of absence would be given for no other purpose than to aid in the agricultural work and that the man applying for leave must present proof that the offer of farm work has been obtained.

Returning from the field, the men must produce a certificate from the persons for whom they worked; each certificate must be countersigned by the signature of a clergyman or two responsible residents in the vicinity of the land on which the work was done.

Premier T. C. Norris of Manitoba, already has begun active work for carrying out the order. He said that western provincial governments would co-operate in the distribution of men.

LAWRENCE SENT TO PRISON.

Sentenced to From One to Five Years for Passing Fraudulent Check. Plymouth, Ind., March 22.—Frederick Lawrence was sentenced to a term of from one to five years in the state prison for passing a fraudulent check drawn on a bank at Bremen, Ind. Lawrence, also known as Harry J. Noll, formerly was a railroad engineer in Texas, but after an accident entered upon a criminal career, detectives who arrested him said, during which he traveled all over the country. He is said to have married five women without divorcing any of them. After his arrest in Georgia in December, he was brought here to face the fraudulent check charge. On February 9, he escaped from the jail, and was recaptured in South Bend twenty days later.

Many friends of Miss Agnes Mahurin will be interested in the following notice, a special from Milwaukee, concerning her work as a student in Milwaukee. Miss Agnes Mahurin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Mahurin, 2902 Fairfield avenue, Fort Wayne, participated in a recent exhibition given for the sewing classes at Milwaukee. Her dress in the exhibit cost more than $12, and the girls did every bit of the work themselves. Miss Mahurin’s dress was a general favorite. The material was brown chambray, with sleeves of brown georgette crepe. The skirt was full and plain. The waist was finished with small buttons. Two ruffles, one of crepe and one of chambray, finished the waistline. The collar, of plain white georgette crepe, was hemstitched.

Miss Katherine Wagnon has an example of her work in oil on exhibition at the Horton Art Institute, Indianapolis, and the picture has been selected, with two by other artists, for a committee to decide upon which deserves the highest honors.

In honor of her guest, Mrs. Clara Parry, of Dubuque, Iowa, Mrs. Arthur L. Hadley, of Hazelton, Ind., invited a number of ladies to bring their sewing and enjoy a visit with Mrs. Parry this afternoon. There were spring flowers in the rooms and some refreshments that were another delicious example of this hostess’ unusual accompaniment in the culinary art. Mrs. Parry expects to remain a fortnight.

Miss Virginia S. Olds will leave next Wednesday for New York city, where she will continue her studies under the Metropolitan Opera ballet and under M. Chaffi, the famous master of the terpsichorean art. During her absence Miss Olds will go to Bridgeport, Conn., to visit her brother James.

Miss Nellie Wilt entertained a few of her nearest friends on Wednesday evening at the tea dance at the Anthony hotel and afterwards at the moving pictures. The party was a birthday and anniversary celebration.

Miss Celia Wertheimer, of Ligonier, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sam Wolf. Miss Bernadette Dittus is in Richmond, visiting her sister, Mrs. L. H. Loken.

Mrs. John Fawcett, of Muncie, and her little child, is visiting her mother Mrs. E. D. Hinton.

Mrs. Walter Leonard and Mrs. H. V. Blosser have returned from a few days’ visit in Chicago.

Mrs. E. H. Kilbourne, of Nelson street, has returned from a visit with relatives in Decatur.

Mrs. Tom Groke, of South Harrison street, is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Rink Mergel, of Lake George.

Miss Brookhart, of Ashland, O., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Springer, 2615 Indiana avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. T. DeWald have returned from a month’s trip to New Orleans and other southern points.

Miss Helen Peters, of West Wayne street, has returned from a trip of several months in southern California.

Mrs. Fred Elinger, of Montpelier, O., has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. D. Cleary, of Masterson avenue.

Mrs. F. H. Keller and son, Milton, of Anderson, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lackey, of Columbus avenue.

Miss Adele Friend, of Chicago, arrived in the city today to visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Freiburger, for two or three days.

Miss Marjorie Rohan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rohan, will be at home in a few days from the University of Chicago, to visit her parents.

The Dorcas Forget-me-not club was entertained by Mrs. E. M. Pfeiffer on Wednesday afternoon at her home in Bowser avenue, and a delightful time resulted. The rooms and luncheon table were prettily decorated in yellow and white.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Thomas and children, who have made many friends in the city during their few years’ residence in Garden street, left on Thursday for their new home in Schenectady, N. Y. The residence occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Collins.

Misses Sabina Roos and Pansy Ronnenman, of Garrett; Lillian Wilson and George Patterson, of Alexandria; Lawrence Jones, of Summitville; Golden Heath and Messrs. Robert Quick, Dr. Quick and Carl Billy, of Muncie, and Myron Fisher, of Marion, all pupils of Prof. Bouillet, are coming to Fort Wayne to hear the Mischa Elman concert on Friday evening.

Mrs. Mary McLellan, of Wallace street, was the pleased victim of a surprise party on Wednesday evening. A company of friends called at Mrs. McLellan’s home prepared for such fun as games, contests of a guessing character, music and a lunch will furnish. Prize winners were Mrs. J. Swartzbaugh, Mrs. A. D. Craig. Other guests were Mesdames Emma Dunlap, Al Cook, Alice Nipper, Alice Kelly, Ella Ormerod, J. H. Holmes, Fred Sperry, L. Houck, R. Craig, L. Craig and son, E. Hues, I. Phillips, L. Miller, C. E. Krider, Mr. and Mrs. Finkle and son, Miss Nora Ahern, Miss Eva Badger, Miss Babe Phillips, Ralph McLellan.

BEAUTIFUL DANCE RECITAL. Pupils of Miss Olds Danced for Invited Friends at Anthony Hotel.

A number of pupils of Miss Virginia S. Olds gave a dancing recital Thursday afternoon in the ball room of the Anthony hotel. Miss Olds closed the program, which was very lovely in costume, grace and beauty of children and expression of ideas, by a dance of the Taite Down, which she interpreted with her own individual manner and charm as well as grace. The children and their numbers were: Minuet by Ruth Anderson, Josephine and Helen Dodez, Mary and Linda Leslie; Madam Butterfly, by Florence Gruber; The Shepherdess, by Elizabeth Rowerford; Russian folk dance by Cecilia Porch; Gavotte of 1860, by Margaret Ann Keegan; the Chinese priestess, by Mary Lodie and Ruth Anderson; Spirit of Autumn, by Florence Gruber; the Secret, by Florence Gruber, Ellen Hudson, Adeline Kraus, Gladys Lyndemann, Louise Metzger, Cecilia Porch, Mervin Pidgeon and Violet Reinwald; a Cossack dance by Ellen Hudson; Quaker girls, by Adeline Kraus and Gladys Lyndemann; gavotte by William Carnahan and Bertha Wolf; Madam Butterfly, by Mervin Pidgeon; Spring song, by Cecilia Porch; Highland fling, by Violet Reinwald; Spirit of the Spinning Wheel, by Louise Metzger.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD READY. Volunteers Aid in Emergency or Calamity in America.

In view of the stand taken on the subject of “Preparedness” throughout the United States, and in order to prevent the members of the Needlework Guild from enrolling with new societies organized for this purpose, we beg to state that the Fort Wayne branch is already prepared for immediate action in collecting new garments and surgical supplies in case of any emergency or calamity in this country, and that it will gladly welcome new members for this cause.

Information may be had by addressing the president, Mrs. Robert F. Harding, 2417 Webster street.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Forbes-Robertson Tonight. In his farewell American tour, Forbes-Robertson, the distinguished English actor, will appear this evening at the Majestic in his most famous production, “The Passing of the Third Floor Back.” The event promises to be a most notable dramatic treat. He is supported by a company of unusual excellence.

Some Elman Headlines. Mischa Elman, the genius of the violin, who appears at the Majestic Friday evening under the auspices of the Morning Musical, has been delighting audiences everywhere. The following headlines were culled from criticisms in the daily papers on Elman’s last tour of America: “Elman, Famous Russian, Gives Great Concert,” “Elman Draws Capacity House,” “Young Violinist Dazzles Great Audience,” “Elman Gives Rare Enjoyment,” “Elman Takes New York By Storm,” “Elman Again Charms Music Lovers,” “Elman, the Great Russian Virtuoso,” “Elman Wins Marked Personal Tribute,” “Elman’s Work Much Enjoyed,” “Elman Triumphant,” “Elman Plays Wonderfully,” “Elman Has Great Ovation,” “Elman Gained in Poise and Maturity,” “Elman Has Gained in Delicacy,” “Turn Off Lights, But They Stay to Hear Elman.”

SPECIAL TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

We will sell eighty dozen $1.50 Manchester Shirts with soft cuffs at $1.10 each. If you expect to pay one dollar for a shirt, pay 10c more tomorrow and wear a $1.50 Manchester. Every shirt guaranteed fast color.

AT THE TEMPLE.

POPULAR FARCE COMEDY.

“Billy” Opens at Temple Theater This Evening. “Billy,” the popular farce comedy, will be the offering at the Temple theater during the remainder of the week, starting with tonight’s performance. This play was made famous by Sidney Drew, first as a vaudeville sketch known as “Billy Tombsones” and later as the present three-act comedy which has been featured in the movies as well as on the stage.

“Billy” gets more laughs than ninety-five per cent of the farce comedies and will be prescribed by most doctors as the best cure for that downcast feeling. The action centers on a boat and features a typical rab-rab foot ball player who has the time of his life, all because of the loss of his teeth, which prevents him from pronouncing the name of his sweetheart, Beatrice. The entire lower floor for Friday night has been sold out to the Masons, but seats are still to be had in the balcony.

The management of the Temple theater has completed arrangements to assist in the dress-up week celebration throughout next week when a fashion show will be held at the popular playhouse following each performance with models displaying all of the latest spring creations in the clothes line offered by the local merchants.

She’s Not Afraid of Roaring Lions

CLARA HORTON

Universal City, Cal., March 21.—Little Clara Horton, one of the juvenile movie players, oftentimes takes parts that would frighten older actors. She goes into cages with wild animals and smiles when the directors seem worried over her safety.

Not long ago she took a part in “Under the Lion’s Paw,” and had her picture taken with “Sam,” a big lion, who usually objects to intruders in his home. Lion trainers were nearby to squeeze “Sam” in case he grew rough. One look at the golden-haired miss and the big lion was as gentle as a rabbit. “I wasn’t a bit afraid,” said Clara. “I just kept saying: ‘Sam, you must be a good lion and not hurt anyone.’ I think he was more scared than anyone. I like to act with animals. If you think kind things about them they won’t hurt you. Some day I’m going to be an animal trainer, myself.”

entertainment served with black plumes and bows of crepe will find little to please them in the week-end bill that opened at the New Palace this afternoon, for this program is a good time bill purely, a layout of vaudeville simply brimming with joy. Louis A. Simon and company in the Grace Gardner comedy bit, “The New Coachman,” are heading the program, with Mr. Simon as the college student who finds himself involved in scores of perplexing situations, everyone of them a laugh in itself. Maurice Burkhardt’s singing novelty is entitled “The Thief” and is said to be the most amusing singing sketch extant. Robert Everett will present his funny Simians in “The Monkey Hippodrome,” a circus of fun that the youngsters especially will enjoy. A special matinee for Saturday is being arranged for the kiddies. There isn’t much sense to the conglomeration of stuff that Emil Dunbar and Josephine Turner are presenting under the title, “Next,” but the artists do not pretend there is any sense to it. El Cota, the world’s great xylophone player, also is on this bill in an arrangement of popular rags and selections from favorite operas. Cumina and Seaham have invitational names and the reason is evident when one has enjoyed their eccentricities. The bill closes Saturday night.

JUDGE HENCH IN NEW PLEA FOR DAVIDSON

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—G. M. Naber, of Columbia City, and Samuel M. Hench, of Fort Wayne, appeared before the state board of pardons today to ask clemency for Thomas Davidson, sentenced in 1890, for life for the killing of an uncle. Naber, who said he was the superintendent of the schools at Columbia City at the time and who was foreman of the jury which tried the case, said a question existed as to whether the killing had been done in self defense.

ADDITIONAL COURTS

COMMISSIONERS TO COUNT ‘EM.

Beginning at 9 o’clock Wednesday morning, April 5, the board of county commissioners will begin a recount of the ballots cast in the recent primaries for Christian G. Vonderau and Allen Hursh, democratic candidates for the nomination for county recorder. There were about 7,000 democratic ballots cast in the primaries and the task will be tedious and prolonged. The contest suit filed by Mr. Vonderau against Recorder Hursh was transferred from the circuit court late Wednesday afternoon to the commissioners’ court, where it was originally filed, and where it will be determined. County Auditor Will Johnson will act as clerk to the board. County Clerk D. C. Stout has been ordered to deliver the ballots to the commissioners. Either contestant can appeal to the circuit court if the recount does not satisfy him.

STORM DAMAGE MAY REACH $1,500,000

Casting Up Results from Indiana Tornado on Tuesday Night.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—While estimates of the property damage in Tuesday's storm in northern Indiana vary widely, it appears from reports received here that the figure would be near a million and a half dollars. Estimates of the damage in the principal counties affected follows:

Newton, $40,000; Grant, $200,000; Cass, $500,000; Blackford, $200,000; Wells, $100,000; Miami, $100,000; Wabash, $50,000; Huntington, $50,000; Jay, $20,000; White, $45,000.

The four deaths reported were: Clarence Wilson, 21, of near Logansport, who was burned to death in the wreckage of his home.

Milo Ricketts, 16, of Logansport, crushed to death by roof from factory being hurled against his home.

Silas Williams, 71, killed in collapse of his home at Jalapa.

Gertrude Alsop, 4, daughter of a farmer near Montpelier, crushed to death in wreck of home.

James Rector, Monon, suffocated in wreckage of home, which was carried fifty yards by storm.

Some Severely Injured. Among the more seriously injured are the following:

Mrs. John Hoffman, 70, suffered internal injuries when her Wells county home was wrecked.

Mrs. Jerry Carter, of St. Louis, Mo., who was a passenger on the Clover Leaf passenger train that was blown from the tracks into a ditch near Marion.

Benjamin Ricketts and wife of Logansport, parents of Milo Ricketts, who was killed when the home was crushed.

Mrs. A. H. Nethercutt, of Trimmer, who was buried under a stove, receiving serious burns and bruises, when her home was blown down.

Infant child of Arthur Erwins, of Monon, which was blown a distance of 100 feet and probably fatally injured.

John L. Alsop and wife, parents of Gertrude, who were burned and bruised when their home was blown down, the wreckage taking fire.

John Fulton and wife, who suffered internal injuries when their home was wrecked.

Hundreds With Minor Injuries.

It is estimated that hundreds of persons, including a score or more who were passengers on the overturned Clover Leaf passenger train, suffered minor injuries in the storm.

Telephone and telegraph companies report hundreds of poles down in the storm area and several places in northern Indiana were without communication of any sort. Many roads were made impassable by uprooted trees being blown across them. For these reasons it may be days before news from some of the rural districts will be received. It is known that many farm houses and barns have been destroyed and there was a heavy loss of live stock.

The path of the destructive part of the tornado varied from ten to twenty miles in width, with the brunt falling on White, Cass, Grant and Blackford counties. The storm was felt in other counties also, but much less severely, according to the meager reports from the affected districts.

The death of Clarence Wilson in Harrison township, Cass county, was one of the most tragic of the storm. Wilson went to his wrecked home and rescued a younger brother, but was himself pinned under a flying timber. The wreckage caught fire and Wilson was slowly burned to death.

MURDERERS ARE SENTENCED.

Walter Murphy to Hang and Milton Armstrong Gets Life Term.

Danville, Ill., March 23.—Walter Murphy was sentenced by Judge Brewer to be hanged on Friday, April 14. Milton Armstrong was sentenced to ninety-nine years in prison for the same crime. Murphy and Armstrong were found guilty of the murder of Louis Roumas. At a former trial, held three weeks ago, both men were found guilty of the murder of George Roumas, a brother of Louis, and their punishment was fixed at ninety-nine years in the penitentiary. Efforts are being made to save Murphy from the gallows. It is planned to take the case to the supreme court, and to make an appeal to the governor. The murder of the Roumas brothers was brutal.

TRAINING HARD FOR GO WITH EM-ROES

LYCEUM CROWD WORKING DAY AND NIGHT TO CONDITION ITSELF FOR SATURDAY GAME

With the best coaches obtainable and every man on the squad laboring hard to prepare himself for the ordeal, the Lyceum Federals are training every minute for the go with the Indianapolis Em-Roes at the Concordia gym Saturday night.

The seat sale will be a regular one if indications now are not misleading, and the game will be one of the best goes of the winter. The Em-Roe crew realize that they have a tough proposition on hand, and are coming loaded for bear.

The big gym will be so arranged as to accommodate at least 1,000 people comfortably, and the Em-Roes feel that they have enough drawing power to push out the walls. At that it will be a rattling good game and, however, basketball, whether or not they are Fed fans, should not miss the opportunity to see the fellows in action.

The Em-Roe players put up the same brand of game that is dished out by the Chicago West Side Y. M. C. A. Browns, who beat both the Feds and St. Mary's.

HERE ARE SOME REGULAR HARBINGERS.

W. J. Boxberger, Lester Dunn, Eugene and John Burres are the richest tennis fans in Fort Wayne. They scraped snow from the Willowood park court the other day and went out and played a set.

MORAN HAS IT DOPED THAT HE CAN'T FAIL

Will Knock Jess Out—So—Just Like That.

New York, March 23. At both camps this morning the trainers of Jess Willard and Frank Moran announced that the heavyweight pugilists were "on edge and ready." All the heavy workouts have become a memory and light boxing only will be permitted today. Tomorrow the champion and challenger will post. Confidence is the keynote of the Moran camp regardless of the fact that Willard is an overwhelming favorite both among the pugilistic experts and the average followers of boxing.

Reports of the champion's size and prowess elicit nothing more than a smile from the man who is to try and wrest his title away on Saturday night. In fact Moran's confidence in his ability not only to outbox Willard but to knock out the gigantic Kansas, is little short of an assertion. All Moran has ever asked was a chance to meet Willard in the ring and he has repeatedly stated that he expected to make his big money after his victory over the title holder. He admits that he has never seen Willard out of the "movies," but claims that this is no prospective since he has been able to study every move of the conqueror of Jack Johnson at his leisure. Moran contends that he is fully as clever at boxing as Willard, can hit equally as hard and is able to stand a greater amount of punishment than his prospective opponent. He appears to have absolute confidence in the knockout power of his right hand swing and also claims that he is no longer a one-arm boxer, having developed a strong left hand swing and straight drive.

Confidence is one of the greatest assets that a fighter can take into the ring with him and in this case Moran appears to be brimming over with it. Whether it will carry him to victory is a mooted question, but there can be no doubt that it will make the bout far more interesting from the spectator's standpoint, than the average heavyweight contest. Moran will be constantly trying to land his haymaker and he will undoubtedly score hard blows from time to time. Under the sting of punishment Willard will probably respond in kind and only the ponderous fighting machine gets into action it is not stretching the imagination to believe that the contest will pass beyond the stage of scientific boxing exhibition.

TEXAS LEAGUE TO RISE FROM GRAVE

Dallas, Tex., March 23.—It will be a rejuvenated Texas league that opens its season in the seven cities of Texas and Shreveport, La., on Wednesday, April 12. Physically speaking the league failed to weather the storm which swept the Texas coast in August, 1915, and the homes of three clubs—Houston, Houston and Galveston—were demolished in the fury of the wind and rain. The 1915 season was automatically closed with this disaster.

This year, however, new parks and grandstands have been built in each of these cities and an abundance of new material, under new management, has been in the front ranks in the early spring training. These Texas teams as well as Shreveport, have been getting much valuable practice this year in the pre-season exhibition games with the five major league teams training in Texas.

The new managers who will pilot the Texas league this year are well known in southern baseball circles. They are Harry Welch, at Dallas, four years with the Atlanta team in the Southern league; Migue Flinn, at Beaumont, former Southern league star. The old managers are Jack Smith, Shreveport; Ed Hardy, Waco, 1915 pennant winners; George Lloyd, San Antonio; Pat Newman, Houston; Paul Sortell, Galveston, and Jake Atz, Fort Worth.

HAS EIGHT CHILDREN
Mrs. P. Rehkamp, 2404 Herman St., Covington, Ky., writes: "I have been using Foley's Honey and Tar for nearly two years and can find no better cough syrup. I have eight children and give it to all of them. They all were subject to croup from babies on." It is a safe and reliable medicine for men and women as well as children. Don't let the cough that follows grippe hang on and weaken you. It is easier to get rid of a cough or cold than of its consequences. Drier Drug Co.

MUSKOGON'S BALL PARK BIG ENOUGH

Room for All Residents and Their Visiting Relatives.

Muskogon, Mich., March 21.—Plans for the grandstand and bleachers at Marsh field as drafted by Harry Boyle, of Evansville, have been accepted by the Muskogon club directors. The plans call for a semi-circular grandstand seating 2,500 and two bleachers on each side of the field seating 500. This brings the total seating capacity to 3,500.

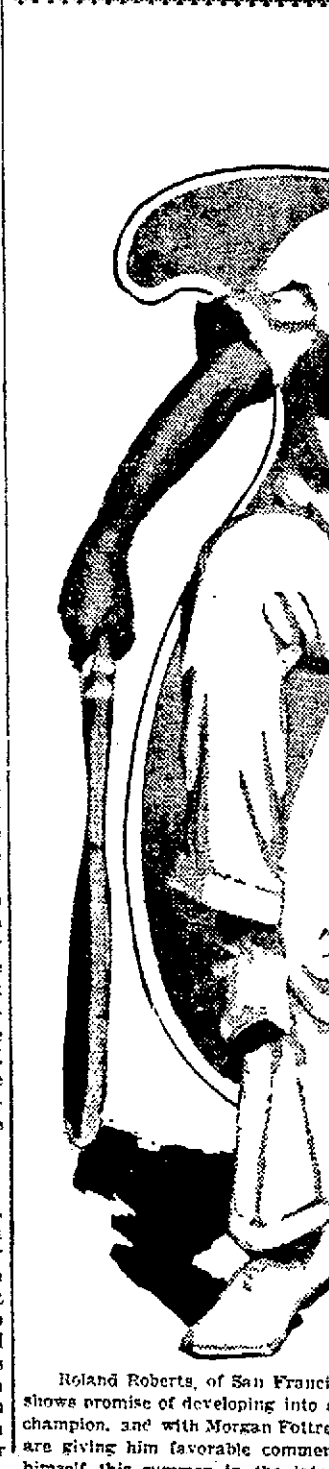

Plans are now under way to sell season tickets. The directors are getting the books to the printers and they will be placed on sale in a few days. It is expected about 400 will be disposed of.

Despite the limited number of rooms and hotel accommodations here Manager Bode Myers has secured enough rooms in one block to accommodate his entire team during the season. Everything is now about completed for the training season which will open April 5. There will be a few pre-season games played here, Manager Myers taking his men into southern Michigan and Indiana for these games before he opens the season at Evansville.

A. L. Randall, of the Randall Motor Sales company, has gone to Detroit to attend a convention of Packard automobile agents.

Clothing for the poor of Fort Wayne will be received at 1029 Fairfield avenue, and distributed to worthy people through the Fort Wayne Mother's club and the various charitable organizations.

CALIFORNIA YOUTH IS TENNIS STAR.

Holand Roberts, of San Francisco, Cal., clever junior tennis player, 18, who shows promise of developing into a national star. He is southern California singles champion, and with Mexican Fottrell holds the state doubles title. Eastern critics are giving him favorable comment. He is expected to make a good showing for himself this summer in the interscholastic championships.

SPORT DOPE

Ray Brubaker and Pitcher Hart, of last year's Central league club, are really the property of Bode Myers and the Muskogon club as the result of a ruling by the baseball commission, according to Grand Rapids dispatches. There has been considerable dispute concerning the players and for a time it threatened to develop into a regular battle.

Mr. Metherell is in a fair way to stand second best among old-timers. Bode Myers announces in carbon tones that he, personally, himself, will hold down the first corner job with Muskogon.

Bruce Noel, old time Dayton standby, has written the Vets that a new arrival in his family will hold him down at Oshkosh, Wis. this summer, and that he will play semi-pro ball.

Lincoln, Neb., March 21.—Joe Stecher, champion wrestler, and Henry Ordeman, of Minneapolis, to whom former champion Frank Gotch awarded the American championship upon his retirement from the mat, are matched to meet in this city on March 31.

Ordeman has been in more or less retirement for the last two years, owing to illness, and is making a supreme effort to get into proper condition to defeat the Nebraska. Ordeman has suffered but two defeats during the campaign as a wrestler, one at the hands of Frank Gotch and the other by Stanislaw Zyzko, and should be able to return to his former condition is expected to give Stecher a stiff match.

The Bethels won from the Cavalier Juniors 18 and 7 last night.

Detroit, Mich., March 21.—Pitcher Raymond Pagan, of the Detroit Americans, must spend another season in the minors. Dispatches from local baseball writers with the Tigers at the Waukegan, Tex., training camp said that Manager Jennings has decided to leave Pagan with the Beaumont, Tex., club when the Tigers break camp. Pagan last season established a record, pitching thirteen games for the Oklahoma City club of the Western association, and winning them all. He recently pitched part of a practice game for Detroit and Manager Jennings after looking him over, decided he needed more experience.

Jess Willard is credited with eighteen knockouts in his ring career, and they range everywhere from the first to the twenty-sixth round. However, the average required for him to put an opponent to sleep is 6 2-3 rounds.

HERE'S ANOTHER GREAT DISCOVERY

According to a Spanish paper published in Cuba Jess Willard is none other than Signor Jose Villar, member of a prominent Spanish family who came to Cuba from Taffall, Navarra, Spain. The paper then continues with a lifting lay concerning the revindication of the latin race in sports.

The color magenta is named after a battle which was fought in the year of its discovery.

HARKENRIDER GETS INTO THIRD PLACE

Rolls Away Over 200 in All Games and Tops Local Men.

Rolling in great form, Eddie Harkenrider ran into third place in all events at the Toledo tourney yesterday. Harkenrider and Bill Boehman ran into a tie for second place in the doubles with a total of 1,275. Harkenrider scored 615 in singles and although he counted only 553 in the five-man event, his average is so far in the air that he ran into third place in all events. He rolled over 200 in each of his nine games.

FIRE DAMAGE IS $5,000,000

Flames Sweep Over Thirty Blocks at Augusta, Georgia.

SIX HUNDRED HOMES PREY OF THE FIRE

Flame-Swept Area Covers One and One Quarter Square Miles.

Augusta, Ga., March 23.—One of a series of fires which have caused millions of dollars worth of damage in the past few days in the south and southwest, swept through ten business blocks of Augusta and twenty adjoining residential blocks last night and early today, and before being got under control had caused damage which was conservatively estimated at not less than $5,000,000.

No lives were reported lost in the Augusta fire, although there were scores of narrow escapes, and several firemen were severely burned. The flame-swept area covers something like one and a quarter square miles, and in it were the city's largest office and business buildings on the north side of Broad street; warehouses on historic "Cotton Row," containing thousands of bales of cotton and some six hundred homes, many of them in the city's most exclusive residence section. Among other structures destroyed was St. Paul's Episcopal church, built 135 years ago.

Estimating Losses.

Loss early today was apportioned as follows: Business and office buildings and contents, $2,000,000; cotton warehouses and contents, $1,500,000; residences and household goods, $1,000,000; various other structures, $500,000.

Today local militia companies were on duty, having been called out early in the night. None of them, however, had reported a case of looting and the police said there had been no disorder.

Hotels and homes in the sections of the city not reached by the fire were thrown open to those whose residences were burned and steps were being taken by local authorities to give relief to the 3,000 persons who lost their homes.

Warm weather saved them from suffering last night, as it did several thousand more who moved their belongings into the streets, fearing the flames might reach their homes.

The area that was burned was chiefly on the north side of Broad street and between that street and the Savannah river, although several blocks on the south side of Broad street were burned.

Second Blaze Starts.

Just as the fire was being got under control, another fire caused $12,000 damage in the southern section of the city, burning several houses and a grocery store. Chief among the structures destroyed were the following:

Dyer building, Hearst building, Masonic Temple, Chronicle Union Savings bank, Augusta trunk factory building, Commercial club and the Y. W. C. A. building, Postal Telegraph company, Western Union Telegraph, John J. Evans wholesale and retail hardware, Tubman high school building and Horton grammar school building.

FIVE THOUSAND HOMELESS.

Lighted Toy Balloon Cause of Big Fire at East Nashville, Tenn.

Nashville, Tenn., March 23.—Citizens, civilians and church organizations of Nashville today were caring for 5,000 persons made homeless by the fire that swept East Nashville late yesterday, destroying 600 residences, causing one death and a property loss of $1,500,000. National guardsmen, called out by Governor Rye, patrolled the burned area to protect property and prevent looting. The one fatality was that of a negro. Many other persons were injured, but none seriously.

The blaze started from a lighted balloon thrown into a grassy vacant lot by a boy. A planing mill first was destroyed. The flames quickly spread to an extensive negro settlement, where, fanned by a high wind, every house was consumed. The conflagration then broke into two distinct blazes, one flowing east on Seventh street and the other down Fifth avenue. An area of thirty blocks was swept clean, which included many of the costly residences of Nashville, several churches and one charitable institution. After paralleling each other on separate streets, for many blocks, the two fires again joined.

The fire department worked desperately, but the gale rendered their efforts useless. Streams of water turned toward burning houses were blown aside. The dirge of the wind, falling walls and screams of frightened women and children made a terrible din. Appeals for additional fire apparatus were sent to several nearby cities, but none could get here in time to keep the fire under control. Bucket brigades were formed and tons of water were thrown on buildings at important places in an effort to check or divert the fire. Men and ambulances were dashing about picking up persons hurt by falling walls or objects thrown from windows. The fire was brought under control after the wind died and it had partly burned itself out.

RELIEF WORK IS SWIFT.

Funds Rushed to Paris, Texas, to Succor Fire Sufferers.

Paris, Texas, March 23.—Work of relieving the 8,000 persons made homeless by the fire of Tuesday night was carried along swiftly today. Large sums of money, raised in Paris and in cities near by, were distributed by the relief committee. Hundreds of persons slept on lawns and in public buildings last night. Railroad stations were turned into dormitories for women and children. The death list remained at three, with one person missing.

STATE SCHOOL BOARD WANTS LAW CHANGED

More Rigid Qualifications Asked in Resolutions Recently Passed.

Local school officials are in receipt of a letter from Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, calling attention to the resolutions passed by the state board of education at its last meeting asking that the general assembly amend the qualifications of teachers in the state. The resolutions are as follows:

"1. Resolved, That it is the sense of the state board of education that the Act of 1907 requiring that after August 1, 1908, all new teachers in the public schools of the state should be graduates of high schools and should have not less than twelve weeks' training in a school accredited for the training of teachers following such graduation in order to receive a twelve months' license, should be amended as to require a period of not less than one school year of thirty-six weeks in an accredited school for applicants to be eligible to receive a twelve months' license. Also that to be eligible to receive a twenty-four months' license such graduates should be required to spend a period of not less than two school years of thirty-six weeks each in an accredited school for the training of teachers; be it further

"Resolved, That school trustees, boards of school trustees and school commissioners when employing teachers follow the above recommendation in so far as possible.

"2. In order that pupils in the grade schools may be better prepared for taking up the work in certified and commissioned high schools, we recommend that grade teachers in the elementary schools, where the high schools are certified or commissioned, be re-

CHINA WILL AGAIN BECOME REPUBLIC

Yuan Shi Kai Rejects Emperors and Resumes Presidency.

Peking, March 23.—A state department mandate issued last night announces the abandonment of the monarchy and resumption of the republic.

The mandate says the revolution shows that the demand for a monarchical form of government is not unanimous and that therefore Yuan Shi Kai rejects the emperorship and resumes the presidency.

Yuan Shi Kai was elected president of China in October, 1913, after centuries of Manchurian rule. His term originally was to run for five years. Yuan immediately began to rule the country with a strong hand. Some prominent reformers were compelled to flee from China, the opposition party was expelled from parliament, district councils were abolished and confusionism was restored.

In August, 1914, the first talk of a return of the country to a monarchy began. It continued until December, 1915, with much agitation against it. Then it was decided to re-establish the throne.

Japan, Russia and Great Britain protested strongly against a change in government and Yuan indefinitely postponed the time for ascending the throne.

Almost immediately after the announcement that the monarchy would be restored there began a rebellion in the south, similar to that which caused the downfall of the Manchurian dynasty and the election of Yuan as president.

WESTERN UNION MEN TALK BETTER SERVICE

For the purpose of devising means to improve the service and to serve the public with greater dispatch and promptness, officials of the Western Union Telegraph company met the managers of the offices in northeastern Indiana Wednesday evening at a meeting held at the Commercial club.

Among those who spoke were A. R. McGrath, Chicago, division commercial agent; C. J. Eldridge, Chicago, division cable manager; and J. C. Nelson, Indianapolis, district superintendent.

Besides the above officials those who attended the meeting were:

S. V. King, H. Hassinger and F. D. Walker, district commercial managers, Indianapolis; C. L. Yulite, Kendallville manager; H. A. Gossett, Auburn; J. C. Patterson, Decatur; D. C. Vollmer, Bluffton; F. J. Rohrer, Marion; H. Haug, Huntington; W. L. McArthur, Wabash; F. M. Andrews, Peru; W. A. Moesman, Muncie; Mrs. A. E. Haselmir, Portland; M. A. Ryan, Richmond; and Manager F. B. Bradley and Clerk E. W. Carey and Lee King, of Fort Wayne.

A recent census disclosed twenty dogs to eight babies in a fashionable colony at Palm Beach.

YOU PAY MILKMAN; STAND OFF ICEMAN

Anyhow, That's the Charge Made by Ice Dealers' President.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—That the public had the habit of making the ice man wait until it pays the milk man for his ticket in advance was the statement made by the president of the Indiana Ice Dealers' association, which is in session here today. He said the reason was psychological, due to a long standing habit. He thought the public would be more inclined to pay if it could appreciate that it takes an average of three and one-half calls to collect for an ice book valued at $1.50.

H. L. Dittmer, a local dealer, outlined a plan of advertising for the association which he recommended as offering a means to educate the public to the service that goes with every chunk of ice. Other speakers on the program were George Sheppard, of Toledo, Ohio, on "Salesmanship in the Ice Business;" E. W. Micker, of East Chicago, on "The Motor Truck in Ice Delivery;" George H. Balfe, of Lafayette, on "Ice vs. the Small Refrigerating Machine;" and Mark A. Brown, on "Service in the Ice Delivery." Frank E. Coulter made a report on "Ice in Storage, Natural and Manufactured."

BRANAMAN WOULD BE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Indianapolis, March 23.—John C. Branaman, of Brownstown, has announced that he would be a candidate for the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor before the state convention which will meet here April 26 to nominate candidates for state offices and adopt a platform. He is the first to announce himself for the position.

Mr. Branaman has served three terms, 1911, 1913 and 1915, in the legislature, and was the democratic floor leader in the last session.

Mason J. Niblack, of Vincennes, and Leonard B. Clore, who was defeated by John A. M. Adair for the democratic nomination for governor in the primary, also were being talked of for the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. Clore's attitude has not been ascertained, but it is understood that Niblack will decline to make the race for the nomination.

FORT WAYNE MAN IS NOT WORRYING

August Freese Says He Has Very Little in Fire Insurance Concern.

"I have so little stock in the First National Fire Insurance company that the outcome of the litigation started in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, is causing me no concern," August Freese, 615 West Creighton avenue, stated Thursday. Robert W. T. DeWald, 1830 West Wayne street, disposed of his stock in the company over a year ago, and is not in any way interested in it at the present time.

WIFE AND CHILDREN LOCKED OUT OF HOME

Declaring that last Saturday she and her two little children were thrust out of their home, 503 Holmes street, by the husband and father, Mrs. Stella Akor on Thursday swore out a warrant for the arrest of Cleveland G. Akor for child neglect. Mrs. Akor told Deputy Prosecutor John C. Hoffman that her husband drove herself and the children from the house and locked them out and had since then refused to permit them to return.

ACCIDENT RESULTS IN LOSS OF FOOT

Winfield L. Grable, Hurt a
Amputation.

Winfield L. Grable, the Pennsylvania employee who had a leg badly injured last Thursday when a belt broke and the severed end struck his limb, had to submit to amputation yesterday. The leg was taken off near the knee, the operation being performed at the Lutheran hospital by Dr. Budd Van Sweringen, the company's surgeon. It was necessary because of the character of the fracture of the bone and infection, caused by a piece of the metal coming ining hooks lodging in the flesh. Mr. Grable was employed in the boiler department of the Pennsylvania company's power plant and the belt broke as he was passing the part of the machinery to which it was connected. The injured man is married and resides at 231 French street. He is said to have passed through the surgical operation in good shape and gives promise of rapid recovery.

INTERURBAN AGAIN ON JOB.

Repairs Storm Damages and Resumes Operation.

General Manager S. W. Greenland and Supt. of Transportation James Brennan, of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, have returned from the scenes of Tuesday night's storm, west of Peru, where they went yesterday afternoon to direct the work of repairing the damaged line. Big forces of men have been at work day and night since the storm and this afternoon succeeded in getting it in shape so that traffic was resumed and the first car from west of the storm center reached Fort Wayne about 4 o'clock. Mr. Greenland says that Tuesday night's storm was the worst in its effects since the floods of three years ago.

PENNSY ORDERS LOCOMOTIVES.

Supplements the Lima Order With an Order for 25 More.

The Lima papers announce the placing of an order by the Pennsylvania with the Lima Locomotive works for twenty-five locomotives of the Mikado pattern in addition to the order placed some time ago. This additional order, the Lima paper states, will involve the expenditure of a half million dollars. These engines are for 1917 delivery. The Lima works, which employ 1,400 men, is making arrangements to add 300 to the list, bringing the working force up to 1,700.

MOVING TO UPPER SANDUSKY.

After a residence in this city of nearly a third of a century, J. L. Pollanous, Pennsylvania engineer, is about to become a resident of Upper Sandusky, O. He has closed his home here and is now preparing to ship his household effects to that place. In the meantime Mrs. Pollanous will visit with her parents and other relatives in Decorah, going to Upper Sandusky as soon as her husband secures a house and is ready to install their furniture therein. As previously stated Engineer Pollanous has been transferred to the work train, with headquarters in Upper Sandusky.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns
Gray, Faded Hair Dark
and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

SOME SHOPMEN ARE INJURED.

M. L. Hastings, of the Lath-e department of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty with an injured knee. Machinist A. Collins had a finger cut and bruised last evening; E. Gallo, a machine operator, bumped against a projection on a cab and hurt his nose when he attempted to dodge a big pipe which was being carried by a fellow shopman, and J. C. Madison, of the erecting shop, received a blow on his left cheek which cut and bruised the flesh painfully. All these accidents happened yesterday.

OVER 100 PRESENT.

The social session of Fort Wayne Lodge, No. 135, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, at Unity hall last night, was attended by over 100 and was a pleasant affair. The features of the evening were cards, dancing and short talks by members of the brotherhood. The trainmen give an affair of this kind every month or so and they are always most pleasant events.

MOULDER HAS FOOT HURT.

Alex. Boedner, a moulder in No. 1 wheel shop at the Bass foundry, was injured painfully last night. While at work a heavy "chill" fell upon and bruised one of his feet and possibly broke some of the bones. He was attended by the company's surgeon and then sent to his home, 2211 Weiser Park avenue.

HURT IN FALL FROM CAR.

Benjamin Mchuskie, an operator of one of the electric welding apparatus at the Pennsylvania shops, sustained a bruised breast and side and possibly a fractured rib or two at 10 o'clock last night, when he fell from a car while at work. He is being attended by the company's surgeon.

WILL ADDRESS RAILROAD MEN.

E. Q. Landman, pastor of the First Evangelical church, will deliver a sermon to the railway men of Fort Wayne next Sunday morning. Arrangements are now in progress for the meeting, which will be one of the largest of its kind since the Lyon meetings a year ago.

MR. WOOD TO GO EAST.

J. J. Wood, factory manager of the General Electric works, left this afternoon for Chicago on business for the company. He will return Saturday and the following day will leave for New York on business for the company.

WABASH PAYMASTER SATURDAY.

George Francisco, Wabash paymaster, will be here Saturday morning to distribute the wage checks among the employees. The pay roll is larger than for several months because of the busy times on the road and in the shops.

Three of the high steel stacks at the Wabash round house and shops at Peru were prostrated by the storm Tuesday night. No other damage to the property occurred, so far as learned.

Chief Clerk W. L. Wilt, of the Pennsylvania motive power department, returned from an eastern business trip last night. He says business of all kinds is very good in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Grosch left at noon today for Monterey, Ind., where they will attend the funeral of their niece who died yesterday. Mr. Grosch is foreman of the Wabash erecting shop.

Ben McCloskey, a Pennsylvania shop employee, fell from a car in the yards at 10 o'clock last night and fractured a rib. He was removed to St. Joseph's hospital. His condition is not serious.

Leo Schallenberger, apprentice at the Bass machine shop, left the St. Joseph hospital Tuesday and is now at the family home on Lafayette street. He was operated upon for hernia two or three weeks ago.

Earl G. Langard, bookkeeper at the Berghoff Brewery, who underwent an operation two weeks ago at the Lutheran hospital for relief from appendicitis, was removed to his home yesterday. He is improving.

Passenger Engineer Emil Jamey and Passenger Foreman W. Stuhlert, of the Pennsylvania, are sick and off duty. Engineer J. B. Louse, who had been off duty several days looking after private business, reported this morning.

Frank H. Hilleman, the real estate agent, who has been in poor health for some time, left today for the south, where he will remain several weeks in the hopes of receiving physical benefits. Mr. Hilleman is of the firm of Hilleman & Schmit.

The force at the Pennsylvania round house has been slightly crippled by accidents and sickness. A Binder, a machinist's helper, had one of his feet injured so as to incapacitate him last night, and Machinist K. Braun and Machinist's Helpers William Melikowski and H. Skiles are sick.

General Foreman Chris Kees, of the Pennsylvania freight house, is recovering, though still unable to walk, and he will not be at the warehouse for several days. Mr. Kees had some of the bones of one of his feet broken last week, when a pipe dropped on the member while he was at the warehouse.

Harry Griffith had the flesh covering the second joint of the index finger of his left hand painfully cut this morning when the digit came in contact with the emery wheel on which he was sharpening a tool. Dr. F. J. Schulz stitched and dressed the wound and the injured man pluckily resumed work afterwards.

F. E. More, assistant road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania, has returned from a visit with his father, W. C. More, on the farm near Columbus, City. He reports his father in good spirits and slightly improved in health. Mr. More, sr., is one of the substantial and well known farmers of Whitley county.

There is sorrow in the hearts of the members of the family of William Peck, of the Bass foundry, and particularly the children. A French poodle which was the pet of not only the members of the Peck family, but of the entire neighborhood, was run over by an automobile and so badly injured that it was chloroformed to put it out of misery.

O. J. Ramey, the N. Y. C. brakeman, who had a foot injured at Ypsilanti several weeks ago, when the member was caught between the drawbars, is now in a fair way to recover. The surgeons have succeeded in reducing the swelling to the point where it is possible to set the bones and this will be done in a day or two. Mr. Ramey is at the St. Joseph hospital.

CROSS, FEVERISH
CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

WAR STOPS ALL TALK IN JAMAICA OF ANNEXATION TO UNITED STATES, SAYS ROBERT BABSON.

The war hasn't made any difference in woman's lot in Jamaica; they have always done men's work here as our picture shows. They are helping prepare cement for Kingston's roadways.

This is another story in a strikingly interesting and remarkable series of travel papers by Roger W. Babson, famous writer and economist. Babson has set out for Central America to tell American readers of this little-known land of romance, of untapped resources and ancient civilization that lies at our very doors. On his way he will make several stops at points of interest. An article telling how the great war is affecting Jamaica is printed here today. Others will follow in rapid succession.—Editor.

By Roger W. Babson.
Kingston, Jamaica, March 17.—The principal city of Jamaica is Kingston. It is on the south side of the island, and its harbor is the finest in the West Indies, having a total area of 16 square miles.

The original town was Port Royal, which stood on a neck of land separating the bay from the ocean. Port Royal in the old days was a rendezvous for Morgan (not J. P.) and his buccaneers, but in 1692 there occurred one of the worst disasters in the world's history. There was an earthquake and the whole town was swallowed by the sea. When the sea is exceptionally calm I have even seen some of the buildings deep below the surface of the water.

The new Kingston was built on the main land. In spite of this it suffered a severe earthquake in 1907, but this time the buildings were shaken down, but not engulfed. Kingston has excellent electric car service, fine hotels, and all modern conveniences, including good stores for shopping. The markets, as in all West Indian cities, are interesting, so is the old parish church, now badly damaged by the earthquake, but still standing.

The people of Kingston are now sad and solemn. Jamaica is an English colony and Kingston is an English city. The income of the people has declined since the war and their taxes have been increased. The war has hurt Jamaica, as it has hurt every other foreign country, and as it will ultimately hurt our own country.

Yet the Jamaicans are loyal. The press is very enthusiastic over the war. The women are working for the soldiers, and the men are even enlisting. Really, I find the Jamaicans more enthusiastic over being a British possession today than they used to be before the war broke out. Then annexation to the United States was a popular subject, but now any such talk is considered treachery.

War or no war, the fact still remains that both Jamaica and the United States would be better off to have England sell the island to us. It may some day be a serious complication to have Jamaica and the other English possessions between us and South America. The best thing for all parties would be for us to buy these possessions of England or else trade them for the lower part of Alaska, which extends down along the west coast of Canada. Think it over!

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, Ohio, March 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sullivan have gone to the finance, where they will make their home with their daughter, Mrs. Lewis Wanner and family.

The many friends of Mrs. Jane Champion, wife of R. B. Champion, living north of town, were startled and shocked by the sad intelligence of her death, which occurred Tuesday. The deceased was a life-long resident here and well known by everybody, a woman whose personality endeared her to all. Her sickness was of short duration, she having suffered an attack of pneumonia from which she was not able to recover, although the night previous to her death she was thought to be much improved. Funeral services will be held Friday at West Union U. B. church.

Mrs. John Knapp, accompanied by Master John, Jr., were passengers to Fort Wayne, Wednesday, where they visited her daughter, Edna, who is a patient at the Lutheran hospital.

J. C. Culbertson, owner of one of the largest farms in this vicinity, and who farms on a big scale, was a business visitor at Defiance, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Dysinger went to Fort Wayne Wednesday, to visit their daughter, Hazel, who has been a patient at St. Joseph hospital.

J. H. McCalla has gone to Allegheny, Pa., called there by a telegram announcing the death of a niece.

T. G. Foster and W. H. Wilkins were visitors at Dunkirk, Ind., the fore part of the week.

If nothing unlooked for prevents, the Antwerp flouring mill, which has been thoroughly overhauled and new machinery installed, will commence grinding flour the first of the week. The mill will be of 75 barrel capacity.

Warner Cottrell, of Fort Wayne, was a visitor in this vicinity the past week. Charlie Perkins and family, north of the river folks, enjoyed a trip to the Summit City in the family auto, one day the past week.

Mrs. William Hertel, of Paulding, who has been spending a few days here, the guest of his mother, Mrs. Phillip Hertel, returned to her home Friday.

Mrs. R. E. McNally and Mrs. Lewis Luessenhop and son, Arthur, of Fort Wayne, were Antwerp visitors Monday.

Mrs. Thomas Barber was a passenger to Fort Wayne, Tuesday, where she spent the day, the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. C. Haveland and family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Winder and daughter, Vera, among our former folks of the corporation line, were Fort Wayne callers Tuesday.

DRESS-UP WEEK

Dress Up Week March 27 to April 1

Merchants and others interested in the development of the Spring Dress Up—to be observed in Fort Wayne March 27th to April 1st, are welcoming a chance to visualize, if that can be done, even in a small degree, with a movement so tremendous in scope, something of the spread of the Dress Up idea.

In fact, so many feasible ideas have been brought forth that the Fort Wayne merchants will carry out the Dress Up idea into every channel and will conduct the campaign in a wholesale fashion, omitting nothing that can be of help to bring out the ideas of Dress Up to the public.

Each merchant will give special attention to the decorating and trimming of his windows, the repainting and remodeling of his store, both on the interior and exterior. A special emblem will be made, which will symbolize the Dress Up idea, and cards of this emblem will be on display in the window of every participant.

"EVERYBODY DRESS UP" will be a very good slogan to use, and everyone is urged to dress up in their best clothes during this week. In fact, the idea can be heartily received in every household, shop, factory, etc. To dress up also conveys the idea to clean up, to clean up the back yard, "to dress it up," as it were, to clean up everything from the streets, to brighten up, clean up, and dress up everything.

That the merchants intend to make this event more of a holiday week is thoroughly evidenced by the fact that Band Concerts are being arranged for every afternoon in the Court House Square. This will be only one of the many ideas to be carried out.

And to top it all, the Spring styles of each class of merchandise will be given a wide display and will be shown to the public in the most tastily dressed windows Fort Wayne has ever witnessed.

AND SO IT'S UP TO YOU, MR. AND MRS. PUBLIC, TO DRESS UP AND EACH HELP TO PUSH THE CAMPAIGN ALONG.

GENERAL STAFF IS BRAINS OF THE ARMY

And Gen. Hugh Scott is Real Brain Center of Whole Thing.

By Frederick M. Kerby

Washington, D. C., March 23.—Where is the brain center and nervous system of the United States army? Who takes charge when military moves start?

GEN. HUGH L. SCOTT

Who are the men responsible for the clocklike regularity of troop movements, supply trains, lines of communication, and all the strategy and planning that is part of the great game of war? Comparatively few men bear this responsibility.

Nominally, the president is the commander-in-chief of the army and navy, and under him the secretary of war is supposed to direct military operations.

In reality, this is work for experts. The president and secretary can adopt policies and order them carried out, but the work of carrying them out falls on men trained for years to do just that.

The brain center of the war department is the general staff corps, first organized in 1903. And the brain center of the general staff corps itself, is the chief of staff.

The man who holds this responsible position is Major General Hugh L. Scott. For the time being, he outranks all other officers in the army.

Gen. Scott graduated from the Military academy in 1876, and went immediately to stirring service in the Indian wars. For 15 years, until 1891, he was engaged in fighting or pacifying Nez Perce, Cheyenne, Kiowa, Comanche and Apache Indians; and was in charge of Geronimo's band of Chiricahua Apaches from 1894 to 1897. He succeeded Gen. Leonard Wood as chief of staff.

The general staff corps is divided into four divisions: (1) mobile army; (2) war college; (3) coast artillery; (4) division of military affairs.

At the head of the mobile army division is Maj. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss. He served through the Porto Rican campaign in the Spanish war and was on the Mexican border in Southern California in 1911, during the Mexican insurrection of that year. Under his mobile army division comes the detailed work of planning for field operations in wartime.

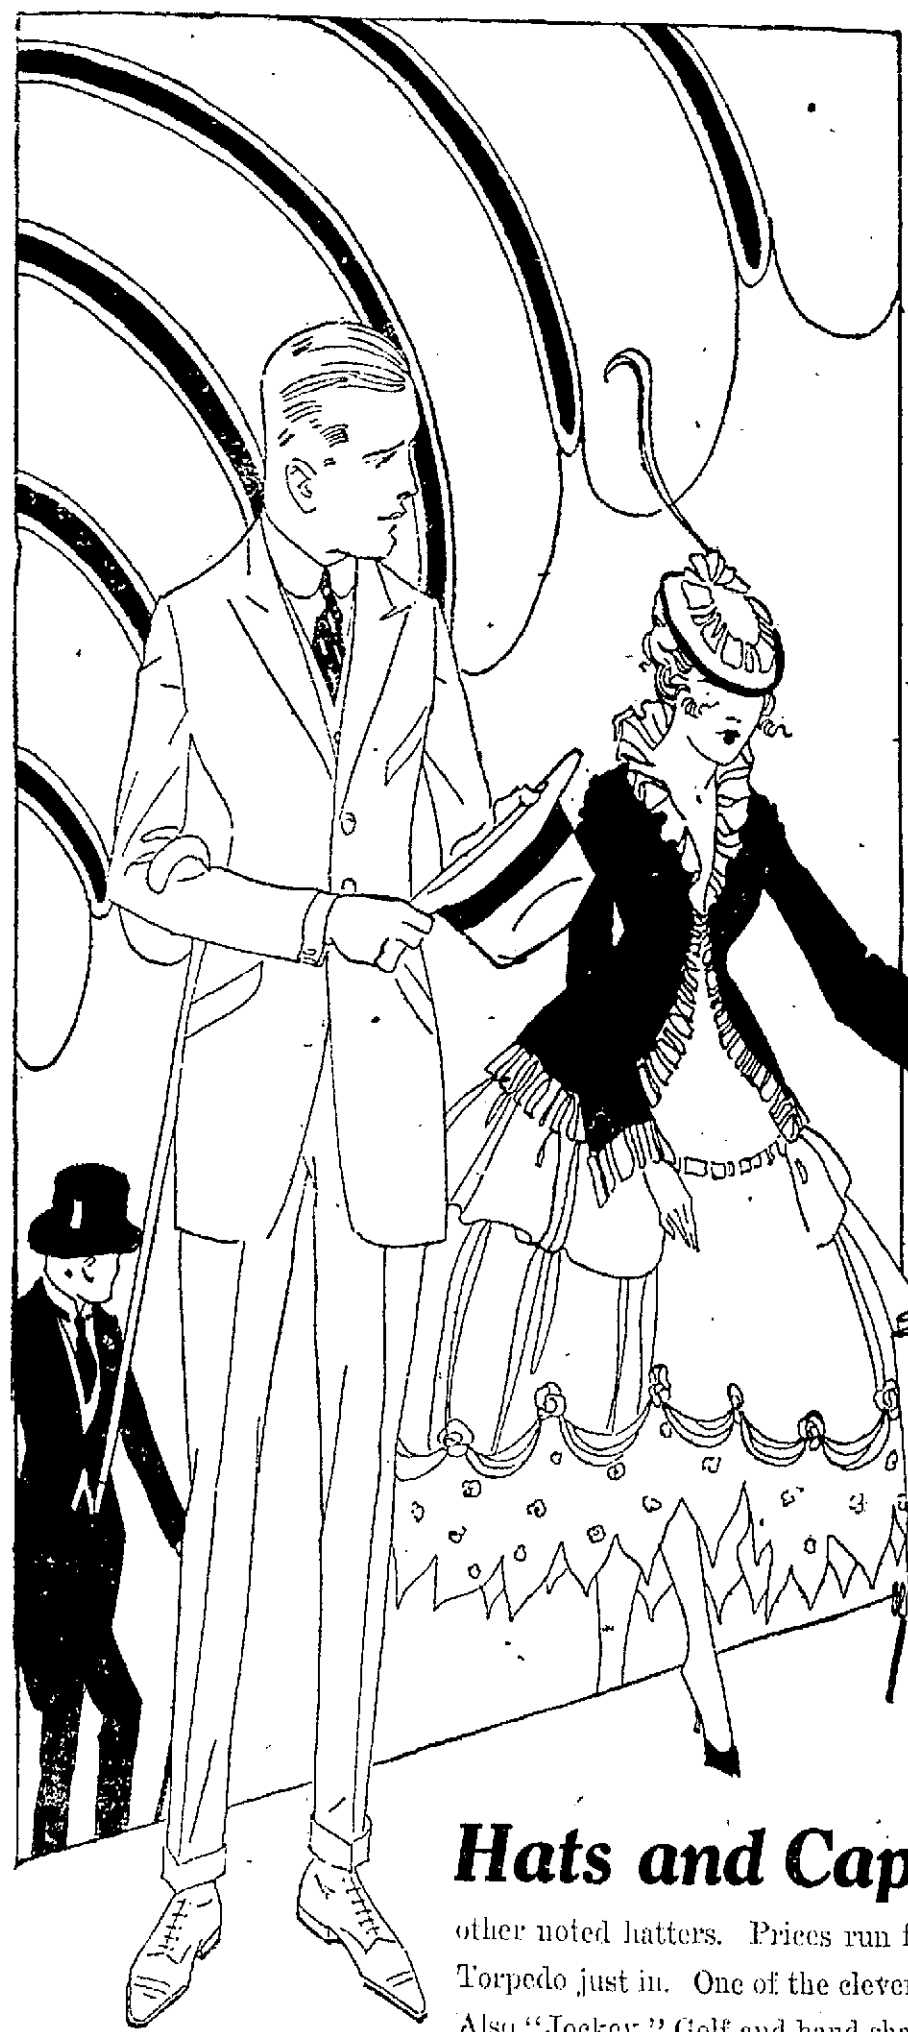

Brig. Gen. M. M. Macomb, president of the army war college and head of the war college division, is the second officer on the staff. His division is concerned with planning, in advance, strategy of campaigns. Under him the whole of northern Mexico was mapped for the "punitive expedition" months and even years before the force crossed the border. The coast artillery division is under Brig. Gen. Erasmus M. Weaver, an artillery officer of long service.

The division of militia affairs is under Brig. Gen. Albert J. Mills, the fifth number on the general staff.

Under the general staff are placed the adjutant general's office, the inspector general, the judge advocate general, medical and ordnance departments, the quartermaster corps, the corps of engineers and the signal corps.

For these departments the general staff constitutes a supervising military bureau—a nerve center from which flashes the orders, instructions, plans and specifications for moving, feeding, clothing, nursing and caring for, as well as directing the fighting, the strategy and the planning for the mobile forces of the United States.

The men who head the departments make up the general staff corps and act as the assistants to Gen. Scott.

COWGIRL IS DISAPPOINTED.

Comes From El Paso to Rushville to Marry, But Man Is Missing.

Rushville, March 23.—The romance of Miss Eulalia Frans, a Texas cowgirl, of El Paso, and Derby Kiser, formerly of Rush county, but later a railroad man in Texas, which began at El Paso, has been shattered, temporarily at least, by Kiser's failure to come for the wedding. Miss Frans came from El Paso alone to meet Kiser here and marry him. Kiser became acquainted with the girl while working on a railroad running through El Paso.

Miss Frans says that she owns a ranch in New Mexico, not far from El Paso, and that her parents live in California. She visited Kiser's relatives and found that none of them had heard from him for two years and did not know that he expected to return home in marriage. She had been informed that Kiser had property here, but found that it was in litigation and that he did not possess a clear title.

TO FIRST COMPLETE LAFAYETTE STREET

Board Asks Pennsylvania
to Come on With Plans
and Estimates.

With a view to a prompt beginning, and an early completion of track elevation work at Lafayette street and the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads the board of works on Thursday addressed a letter to R. Triebel, chief engineer of maintenance of way for the Pennsylvania, informing him that the board has fixed Monday, April 17, as the time within which his company, together with the Wabash and the city of Fort Wayne shall file their detailed plans and estimates for grade separation at that thoroughfare. The board says that it has carefully investigated the Pennsylvania's profile plans for track elevation at that street and that while they do not show all that the city desired, in consideration of conditions as they exist at this time, the board is reluctantly satisfied. The board note that there never have been submitted any detail plans of the superstructure or specifications and expects them. Because it is not desired to have operations at Lafayette and Hanna street proceeding at the same time the board will let the work at that thoroughfare remain in abeyance until the work at Lafayette street is so far along as that there will be no necessity for closing both streets simultaneously. It is expected that the way will be cleared for beginning operations at Lafayette street at an early day.

MUCH INTEREST IN BIDDING.

Flock of Material Men Here for Pavement Lettings.

The fact that the board of works will open bids, Thursday evening, for the paving of nineteen streets, aggregating four and one-third miles of improvements, has brought a flock of paving material men to the city to urge their wares. Untried block men predominate with a sprinkling of crosscut wooden block representatives. It is expected that five concerns will submit bids—the Grace, Brooks and McQuerry Construction companies of Fort Wayne; the Putnam & Schuffer company, of Findlay, Ohio; and one other outside company. The streets to be improved are as follows:

Clinton, Murray to Wallace; Creighton avenue, Calhoun to Lafayette; Crescent avenue, Columbia to Lake; Erie street, Francis to Hanover; First street, Harrison to Wells; Harrison street, First to New York Central tracks; High street, St. Mary's to Rinnion; Home avenue, Broadway to the alley west; John street, Pontiac to Eckert; Lillie, McCutlock and Ohio streets, each from Maumee to Hayden; Maaterson avenue, Lafayette to Hanna; Pape avenue, St. Mary's river to St. Mary's avenue; Packard avenue, Fairfield to Broadway; Prospect avenue, Spy Run avenue to the west line of Snyder's subdivision; Scott avenue, Broadway to a point 215 feet east of Thompson avenue; Webster street, Grand to Butler; Van Buren street, Main to St. Mary's river.

WATER PERMIT NO. 20,000.

Water service permit No. 20,000 was issued Wednesday at the waterworks office to Philip Zuber, 1623 Barthold street. While this is the serial number in the records it is not evidence that there are 20,000 services in the city. There are many reserve services installed in new additions, where connections were made in advance of street improvements. It is estimated that there are about 17,000 connections in actual service.

WOULD MEET LAKESIDERS.

Mayor W. J. Hovey makes repetition of his wish to meet the people of Lakeside in a mass meeting for a discussion of their grievances. The mayor expressed a doubt that there are enough dissatisfied residents of that district to hold a mass meeting. "I am ready and anxious to meet them if there are any considerable number. But I want to meet the people, not a bare handful of kickers," said his honor.

Clyde Hunter, of Gary, grand exalted ruler district deputy of the Elks of this district, was the guest of Henry Jordan, 915 Union street, Thursday. Mr. Hunter is making a tour of inspection of the various lodges under his jurisdiction.

Mr. Hunter was nominated for the office of prosecuting attorney of Lake county at the recent primary.

THE DEATHS.

Emrick Conklin, aged 28 years, a chiropractor, died Wednesday evening at a local hospital following a brief illness. The deceased was well known among the young professional men of the city and his demise is mourned by a host of friends and acquaintances. Besides the widow he is survived by two sisters—Mrs. Burdette Jones, of Danbury, Conn., and Mrs. Ethel Harmon, of Waterbury, Conn., and two brothers, Ovid Conklin and George Conklin, of New York city.

Funeral services Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's Catholic church. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

HOUSE.

The body of Mrs. Louise House, who passed away at her home in Bloomington, Ill., several days ago at the age of 75 years, arrived in Fort Wayne Wednesday night and funeral services were held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at Kluehn & Melchling's chapel. The deceased's husband was a former engineer on the Wabash, but the family moved away from here thirty-two years ago. Four children survive her.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

McDougle.—Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret McDougle will be held at the late residence, 1221 East Lewis street, Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. D. H. Guild officiating, after which the body will be shipped to Pleasant Lake for services at 1:30 o'clock.

Rodemeyer.—Funeral services for Mrs. Lizzette Rodemeyer will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence, 923 Washington boulevard east, and at 2 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Rev. Jacob Miller officiating; interment at Concordia. Kindly omit flowers.

The services will be private and friends may view the remains until Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

Baade.—Funeral services for Mrs. Christine Baade will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence and at 2:30 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church; interment at Concordia. Kindly omit flowers.

Six grandsons of the deceased will serve as pallbearers.

Wefel.—Funeral services for Frederick William Wefel will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 714 High street and at 2:30 at St. John's Lutheran church. Interment at Lindenwood.

Plan "Spizzerinkum" Party.
On Friday evening the Christian Endeavor society of the Third Presbyterian church will give a "spizzerinkum" party in the church parlors. The young people with the assistance of the Ladies' Aid society have planned a number of unusual and novel events.

TO BUILD NEW ARMORY.

Lafayette, Ind., March 23.—Purdue university's board of trustees will hold a special session Tuesday of next week to complete plans for a new armory. It was stated positively today by President Stone, of the university, that a new armory to take care of the cadet corps and the Purdue battery of the Indiana national guard will be built as soon as possible.

President Stone recently was in communication with the state authorities, including the governor and the attorney-general, on the subject of a state appropriation to help pay the cost of erecting the armory, but the replies proved unsatisfactory, and it has been decided to go ahead and build the armory with Purdue money only.

Christian H. C. Kayser, 2425 Lillie street, has received a letter from his sister, Mrs. William Oberhelmen, of Salisbury, Neb., stating that her husband died March 19. Mr. Oberhelmen will be remembered by older residents of Fort Wayne, where he formerly resided. He went to Nebraska to reside forty years ago.

The Greatest Time and Money Saver

We think of railroads, telephones, the telegraph, the wireless—but how about want ads?

They are in the same class. It used to be when a man wanted help he had to ask among his friends where he could get a good stenographer, bookkeeper, etc. TODAY he puts in a want ad and tomorrow he has only to choose from a dozen or more.

He has furniture to sell—a want ad brings many buyers.

He has a house to rent—a want ad rents it—he has a house to sell—a want ad sells it.

PRAYER

By J. W. Hedgepeth.

There is no subject in the Bible that has been given more emphasis than prayer. The Master, the only begotten Son of God, was given much to prayer—heart-to-heart talks with the Father. Prayer is one of the most vital factors in the development of a Christian life. The soul needs nourishment as well as the physical man. It is universally accepted that the physical man must have food to sustain life. Let an individual lose a few meals in succession and he becomes weak; prolong this condition and he is exhausted. So it is with the immortal soul. God in His infinite wisdom not only gave us a moral code for spiritual growth, but a code for the physical life. But there is a craving from within which demands something other than physical nourishment. It is the soul seeking its affinity—the God-part of man soaring above the physical, upward into the ethereal and still onward and upward into the spiritual realm, where the spirit of man meets the spirit of God in holy communion and where fellowship is mutually enjoyed because of the oneness of spirit and purpose.

Take the young Christian fresh from the mercer-seat where he was happily converted and let him at this point begin to neglect the nourishment of the soul, and soon he becomes indifferent, lukewarm and before he is conscious of the transition he has degenerated into old ways and habits and embraces follies of former days. Old habits of sin are just as alluring and the companions of vice are as congenial as ever. Investigate his case and see wherein the trouble lies. He has absented himself from his church; he has neglected Sunday school and prayer meeting and has become a stranger to the religion he professes and a foreigner to the saving grace of Jesus Christ, and in many cases such a man becomes skeptical, and wonders in his own mind if he was ever really converted. The prayer meeting is one of the best services for soul-food possible. It is there we meet with the faithful of God's followers; it is there we are forefully reminded that we are in the presence of God, that the Holy Spirit is directing the service; it is there the hungry soul which is always thirsting for spiritual nourishment is fed from the bountiful table of Jehovah; it is there the soul responds to the pleadings of the Holy Spirit and is strengthened with God's grace; it is there we become better acquainted with the boundless mercies, limitless love of God. Too many fail to fully appreciate the importance of prayer. The non-praying church member is in a dangerous condition. He is deprived of communion with God; he is robbed of God's help, guidance and assistance. In short, he is thrown upon his own resources which mean failure unless he reconverts himself by prayer through faith in Jesus Christ to full fellowship with the great King of Kings. The soul must be fed or else the soul will become weak, dwarfed, susceptible to sin and finally sink to ruin. Let us learn wisdom by taking every opportunity to pray, and we will grow in grace and knowledge and progress in the religious life until we shall grow to the full stature of a well-rounded Christian character.

Prayer is the hope of the sinner and the strength of the Christian.

What Was Your Greatest Blunder?

Everybody blunders now and then; some more and worse than others. A study in blunders ought to be profitable, if made with a view to evading or correcting them. Five hundred men were once asked what was the greatest blunder they had made. Here are fifteen of their replies: "Reading worthless books." "Did not stick to my trade." "Did not take care of money." "Careless about my religious duties." "When I left my church and mother." "Not saving money when I was young." "Refused a steady position with a good firm." "The greatest blunder of my life was gambling." "Wasted away my time when I was at school." "Thinking that my boss couldn't do without me." "Would not hearken to the advice of older people." "Not keeping my position, but grew slack in my work." "When I left school before I was ready for the fourth grade." "The greatest blunder was when I first learned to smoke." "The greatest blunder of my life was not accepting Christ, and thereby avoiding many sorrows caused by serving Satan."—Biblical Recorder.

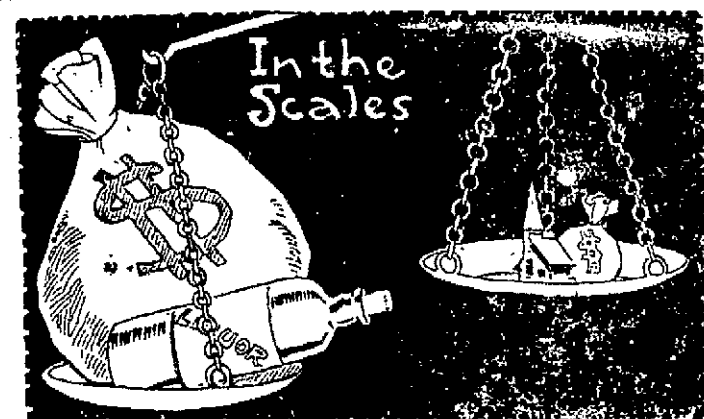

MOTHERS

When was there a generation since boys were born that women did not go to war? Never a bayonet lunged into the breast of a soldier that had not already cooled its hot wrath in the heart of a mother. While the soldier has fought through one battle, the mother has wandered over a score of slaughter fields looking for his mangled body. He sings and plays the rough games of outdoor men in camp for a month, and then goes out to fight on a skirmish; and every day and night of the thirty the mother has waked through a hundred alarms that never wake her. She has watched on the lonely picket post; she has paced the sentry box before his tent; she has prayed beside him while he slept; the throbs of her heart have been the beads of her rosary. If a mother should write her story of the war, she would pluck a white hair from her temple and dip the living stylus into the chalice of her tears to write the diary of her days upon her heart.—Robert J. Burdette.

WHAT WE NEED

It is said of David's mighty men that they were right and left-handed. They were wholly consecrated; they could use their left or right hands for the king. That is what we want. Men who are right-handed and left-handed for the King of Glory. Men who can use their eyes, and tongues, and ears, and everything for the Lord Jesus.—Moody.

Two Billions for Drink, One-Eighth as Much for Churches, is Report

What has become of the old-fashioned church worker? Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, is seeking enlightenment on this problem. After long study Dr. Eliot has prepared a table on expenditures not classed as necessities of life. It shows that in this country every year nearly three times as much money is spent on drink as for the next highest luxury mentioned. Intoxicating liquors, except mentioned, except tobacco. The table: Drink $2,200,000,000 Tobacco 1,200,000,000 Jewelry and plate 800,000,000 Automobiles 500,000,000 Church work, home 250,000,000 Confectionery 200,000,000 Soft drinks 120,000,000 Tea and coffee 100,000,000 Millinery 90,000,000 Patent medicines 80,000,000 Cheating gum 13,000,000 Foreign Missions 12,000,000

"YES, YES, I KNOW"

TWO PROBLEMS TO SOLVE

A devoted servant of Christ was nearing the end of life's journey. Though he had no fear of the future, so far as he was personally concerned, he was much troubled about the spiritual state of his only son.

Though the young man had been surrounded by Christian influences, and had heard the Gospel told out clearly, earnestly, and tenderly, he procrastinated. As the father reflected on the cause of his son's indifference and carelessness about spiritual concerns he concluded that the cause of it was this—he would not take time to think. He wandered from book to book from paper to paper, from amusement to amusement, seemingly determined to hinder God from speaking to him about his state. And today there are many young men and women (and older ones too), who seem bent on banishing from their minds thoughts of eternity. In Isaiah's day the Lord complained of His people Israel in the following pathetic words: "The ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib; but Israel does not know, My people doth not consider." (Isa. 1:3).

As the father of the young man felt that his life on earth was drawing to a close he summoned his son to his bedside, and told him that his time of departure had arrived, and expressed the desire that he would fulfill his dying request. The son was deeply affected, and with tears in his eyes promised that he would do as his father desired him. "I want you," said the dying parent, "to promise me that every night for twelve months after my decease you will retire alone, read no book or paper, and ask yourself two questions: 'What is eternity?' and 'Where shall I spend eternity?'"

The evening after his father's death the young man withdrew into a quiet spot to consider the questions that had been proposed for his consideration. But the quarter of an hour seemed like an hour. Night after night he sacredly kept his promise until he became thoroughly alarmed about the questions: "What is eternity?" and "Where shall I spend eternity?" He was led to see that if he continued the course he was pursuing he must spend eternity in hell. As a poor guilty, undone sinner he believed on Christ, the sinners' Savior, and passed from death unto life, from darkness into light (John 3:30; 5:24). By accepting Christ as his Deliverer from the penalty and thralldom of sin he was enabled to say:

"There is no condemnation; There is no hell for me; The torment and the fire Mine eyes shall never see."

Let us for a few moments consider the two questions.

1. What is eternity? Eternity is a short word, easily uttered, but difficult of comprehension. The dictionaries define it as duration without end. A deaf and dumb boy declared that it was the lifetime of the Almighty. That, however, does not help us much. One says, "Eternity is a depth no geometry can measure, no arithmetic can calculate, no language can express, no rhetoric can describe." If all the blades of grass in the world, all the leaves of the trees of the forests, every particle of sand on the sea-shore, and every drop of water of all the oceans, rivers and lakes on the globe were multiplied a millionfold, each representing a century, or millennium, when that vast evel of time is exhausted, eternity will be no nearer its termination.

"Days, weeks, and months shall have an end; Eternity has none; 'Twill always have as long to spend, As if twice but begun."

2. "Where shall I spend eternity?" The second question is of the deepest importance to each of us, and ought to be seriously considered. The question is not "Where shall the heathen spend eternity?" but "Where shall I spend eternity?" God's Word reveals the fact that we must spend it in ceaseless misery in the prison-house of hell, or in ineffable joy with Christ in the glory. See not that "no one knows where he will spend eternity." If the Bible is to be our guide, it tells us that the early Christians had no doubts as to where eternity was to be spent by them. The Apostle Paul, writing to the Corinthians, said: "We know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." "We are confident." "We are always confident." (2 Cor. 5:1-8)—are the words of holy writ. All who truly believe on Christ have the assurance of a glorious eternity. Is the reader safe for eternity? The way to be saved and know it is to believe on the Lord Jesus and obtain "everlasting life" as a free gift (John 6:47). Though "the wages of sin is death" we are assured that "the gift of God is eternal life" (Rom. 6:23), and you can have it as you read these lines: "If thou believest on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him." (John 3:36).

Where will you spend eternity? There are but two classes of persons in God's sight—the saved and the unsaved—two families—children of wrath and children of God—two states—justified and condemned—two roads—the broad and the narrow—two destinies—heaven and hell, eternal bliss and eternal misery. Those who despise, reject, or neglect God's "great salvation" will, after the judgment of the great white throne (Rev. xx), be "cast into the lake of fire." God's long-suffering will have an end. It is salvation to the perishing. And oh! how dreadful for the Lord of life and glory to say to you: "Depart from Me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels!"

To be cursed by Him who was your truest and tenderest Friend! To be cursed by Him who loaded you with untold blessings, mercies, and favors! To be cursed by Him who has been beseeching you to be reconciled to Him! To be cursed by Him who groaned, suffered, bled and died to save you from everlasting misery, remorse and despair! How terrible! And you might have been saved! And no one was to blame but yourself.

Where will you spend eternity? Among Africah's dry wastes, where these "Give no more laudatum, that I may not think of eternity and of what is to come." As you are, and where you are, believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and be eternally saved. "To him that worketh not, but believeth on Him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness" (Rom. 4:4). God gives salvation to sinners who believe on the Savior. Forgiveness of sins can be obtained by this reader at this very moment. "Prepare to meet thy God." "Escape for thy life."

"Tonight may be thy latest breath, Thy little moment here be done, Eternal woe, the second death, Awaits the Christ-neglecting ones! Thine awful destiny foresees, Time ends and then eternity."

False Measure of Value

In these days we are altogether too likely to get a man mixed up with his bank account, or his farm, or his store, or his clothes. Let us put first things first. The man who lives in a cottage may be worth more than the man who lives in the brownstone front. The man who mends shoes may be worth more in Heaven's sight than the man who sits at a mahogany desk.

In other words, a man is worth what he is. True values are character values. I know a man who is very poor in this world's goods and very poor in health. Yet his pastor says he is the best soul-winner in a church of several hundred members. Scarcely a week passes but the pastor receives into the church some man or woman or young person who has been won to Christ through this humble servant of God. He is one of God's princes, and the chariots and horsemen of God wait on his going.

I knew a woman. She kept a boarding-house. She said that she kept boarders to pay expenses, but her business was to win souls to Christ. It was nothing unusual for her to say to her boarders at the close of an evening meal: "Let us kneel and have prayer together before you go to your rooms." And then she would pray for each one about the table by name. Every man and woman who came to that woman's house to board, if they stayed any time, would go away converted. In Heaven's sight she was a princess royal, and angels camped about her, and God's morning stars sang her praise. What need had she of the applause of the world? Eternal values are real values.—Exchange.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Four per cent. of the inhabitants of certain sections of the south have malaria? The United States public health service has trapped 615,744 rodents in New Orleans in the past eighteen months?

The careless sneezer is the great grip spreader? Typhoid fever is a disease peculiar to man?

Measles kills over 11,000 American children annually?

There has not been a single case of yellow fever in the United States since 1905?

There is no federal institution in the continental United States for the reception and care of lepers?

Plague is a disease of rodents? Malaria is spread by a special mosquito?

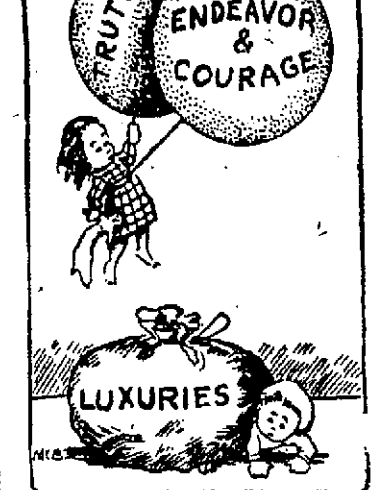

House screening is a good disease preventive? Fingers, flies and food spread typhoid fever?

The United States public health service believes that the common towel spreads trachoma, a disease of the eyes?

Children from sanitary homes advance more rapidly in school than those from dirty premises?

Christian Influence.

Christ says: "Even so let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven." (Matt. 5:16). The world is quick to detect the failures that are apparent in the lives of Christians. In a certain New England town there lived a rich and prominent deacon who was known to be hard at a bargain, close-fisted, forcing wages down and prices up. As he passed a crowd of men one day, one said: "There goes the founder of the Atheists club." The life of such a man makes it hard for some people to believe the Bible. They hold the Bible responsible for the vicious conduct of hypocrites. Hypocrites seek to establish themselves with the people at the expense of the Bible. Christians should be as "wise as serpents and as harmless as doves." The Spirit admonishes through Paul: "Do all things without murmuring and questionings; that ye may become blameless and harmless, children of God without blemish in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, among who ye are seen as lights in the world." (Phil. 2:14-15). If we trust him and follow him, the spirit assures us of Christ: "Who shall also confirm you unto the end, that ye be unrepovable in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ." (1 Cor. 1:8). It is comforting in the conflicts of life to know that his grace is sufficient for us and that he will not allow any temptation to come upon us which we are not able to bear.

verified motto: "It is a moral truth built solidly into one's life. A truth realized by the mind, but not made part of daily living, is of very little use. Jesus called men to follow, as well as believe. To learn the Beatitudes by heart is only a beginning. Then comes the living of them out, which results in solid, enduring Christian character. Young folk do not always understand the force of habit. They often build up a habit carelessly because they are sure they can get rid of it at will, just as they could take down a motto from the wall if they were tired of it. But habits have roots that strike deep. The only safe way to allow for a day are the good ones.—Home and school.

STRONG IN OURSELVES

We must be strong in ourselves before we can be strong for Christ. A decided character is a first requirement in him who would help push outward the borders of God's kingdom. If we are to count for Christ and righteousness in the world, we must first count as men. Cupidity only complicates the problem of life. We who are the sons of God, princes of the blood royal, should live the strongest, completest and the most powerful life. For it is by our strength, by our power, and by our attractiveness, that the gospel of our Father is to be commended to the world.

WHO CAN DENY IT?

Who can deny that the liquor traffic is driving men and women to work in factories, workshops and wash-tubs who ought not to be there and boys and girls into industrial life who should be in the school or on the playground? The liquor traffic tends to decrease wages, never to increase them. The use of alcohol makes men less skillful and drives men to lower scales of employment and reward. Every cent spent in the liquor business is wasted. There is no redeeming feature in the saloon to anywhere where its influence is felt and you see the demoralization it brings. The saloon is the enemy of the people. I am against it and will do all I possibly can to put it out of business.—John R. Lennon, treasurer, American Federation of Labor.

Delight Thyself in God

God expects us to be whole-hearted with Him. The slightest reservation is fatal to full consecration. A silken cord may hold the latch upon the door of the heart. Not until we open wide every portal will He in His fullness come in. The completeness of our surrender qualifies and controls the fullness of our blessing. God searches us with jealous scrutiny, and claims complete surrender and a living sacrifice. It is when we are Christ's that all things are ours. It is one thing to say, Christ is mine; it is much more to say, I am Christ's. Let us be whole-hearted with God. For God is whole-hearted with us. The reason He asks a full surrender is that He may be free to give us infinitely more in return. Like Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, He gives us back all that we gave and His own royal bounty added. He wants us to believe in His perfect love. It is a great thing to take the place of John on the Savior's breast and count ourselves the disciple whom Jesus loved. We are invited to delight ourselves in the Lord; and if the Lord delight in us, He will bring us into our full inheritance "with His whole heart and with His whole soul."—Alliance Weekly.

LIQUOR CONSUMPTION LOWER

The total expenditure for alcoholic liquors in the United States for the past seven years is estimated at $10,105,271,679. Receipts from internal revenue and duties for the same period amount to $1,642,462,428. This leaves a net loss to the nation in seven years of $14,462,809,251—an average of $2,068,115,364 a year. It is encouraging to note, however, that the consumption of liquor is decreasing. Statistics recently compiled show that our drink bill was $285,717,772 less in 1915 than in 1914.

Plenty of Fresh Air Will Keep Us Well in Changeable Weather

VENTILATION

From now until summer, individual as well as public health will depend largely upon our modes of living.

With the coming of warm and dry weather, natural influences will more largely rule; at this time we are still heavily clad in winter clothing, one day building around stoves or radiators, the next plowing through thawing slush.

So we must do our utmost to keep in good condition physically. We must get plenty of fresh air so that our bodies weakened by winter do not succumb to the constant attacks of disease germs.

We can control the supply of fresh air in our homes, and to some extent, in our offices and shops. We should try to compel others to control them in public places.

Schoolrooms, theaters, street cars and other closed-in spaces where many people are crowded need fresh air and light. See that your children get plenty of both at school.

If you know of public places that are poorly ventilated or without proper light, notify the health department.

Obesity is an abnormal increase in the body weight due to deposits of fat in the tissues. It may be due to over-eating, to eating too largely of one kind of food or to faulty changes in the food within the body.

This condition is favored by heredity, by insufficient exercise and frequently by the use of alcoholic beverages. Obesity lowers the resistance of the body to disease. The fat tends to accumulate around the heart and weaken that organ, causing palpitation and shortness of breath after exercise as well as interference with the functions of the body generally.

There are two types of obesity, the fat, full-blooded type and the pasty, anemic type.

The anemic becomes fat because of lack of the natural "burning up" process of fat-producing elements contained in food. This condition calls for treatment by a physician.

The full-blooded type becomes obese through an inherited tendency to stoutness, overindulgence in food or drink and insufficient exercise and a careless way of life when the period of youth has passed.

Remembering the quantity of fluid taken into the body will help to reduce corpulence. But the weight should be reduced gradually, no matter what method is employed. Anti-fat remedies which destroy the appetites should be avoided.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF THE FARMER

Diversity of Farm Enterprises

In most cases where studies on the profits in farming have been made, particularly in our oldest agricultural districts, such studies indicate that the most successful farms are those which have from two to four major sources of income; i. e., they have a well-balanced and diversified business. In certain instances it may pay better to have only one enterprise, but usually when one crop pays much better than all others, the production of it increases rapidly and soon the price falls to the point where other crops or products are equally as profitable. Diversified farming is often confused with farming where there is a little of everything and not much of anything. Either extreme lessens the chances of success. When the price of certain crops is very low then live stock usually becomes desirable. However, if the returns per animal are poor, cash crops even at a low price are essential. A well-balanced business insures against losses and provides a much better utilization of the labor and equipment.

Straightening Crooked Trees

Young trees with crooked trunks, either from wind pressure or from distortion in the nursery may be straightened easily, as follows: Before the sap starts in the spring make about three parallel slits, lengthwise of the trunk on the concave side of the trunk. This will arrest the flow of sap at that point, causing the bark to thicken. This in turn will produce a gnarled spot in the wood, like a wedge, exerting its force at right angles to the trunk, straightening out the most obnoxious deformities. But this must be done while the tree is young, or the bark-wedge cannot exert sufficient force to bend the crooked trunk. This scheme is particularly useful in straightening up the Hove and other pear trees, which are, for some unknown reason, almost always deformed by nature.

FARM-CLUB NOTES.

A Kansas mother-daughter canning club, consisting of 11 mothers and 11 daughters, canned 2000 quarts of home-grown products last season, according to a report from the State agent.

A Wyoming club boy is reported to have produced 70 bushels of potatoes on one-eighth acre. He made a net profit of $80.65 and also earned the State championship.

A boys' corn club in Minnesota last year sold between 200 and 300 bushels of seed corn at $4 a bushel.

The champion potato-club boy of Montana is reported to have produced 65 bushels of potatoes on his one-tenth-acre plot, at a cost of $15.63. His net profit was $47.27.

Several fruit-growers stated at a recent Minnesota horticultural society meeting that they were able to get top prices for fruit sold through commission men. Inquiry showed that these men have established a reputation for good packing and good fruit, and the commission men are anxious to get their fruit.

Those who are starting with turkeys should order their stock of some one who is known to be honest and reliable and not too far away.

BEAUTIFYING THE FARM ADDS TO ITS PROFITS

Knowledge of How You Can Get 100 to 1000 Per Cent Profit, in Five to Ten Years, From a Few Dollars Invested in Planning and Planting, By Increasing the Cash Value or Salability of Your Farm, to Say Nothing of the Added Health, Comfort and Beauty, is Being Disseminated By the University of Illinois in a Most Practical and Helpful Way.

The appropriate use of trees, shrubs, vines, and herbaceous plants in the adornment of city, village, suburban or country home grounds gives a charm and beauty which are interesting and pleasing to the passer-by as well as to the occupant of the home. Plants are a means of expressing restfulness and beauty. Their gradual changing aspect with the succession of the seasons heightens their pleasing effect and relieves monotony. The changes which occur in the life of vegetation during the year have caused man to speak of the stages of Believing that the time is ripe for the dissemination of knowledge on this important subject, and in order to urge all Illinois farmers and suburban dwellers especially, to make immediate progress along the lines of home beauty, the University of Illinois has prepared, at considerable expense, circulars which are veritable works of art. Copies of these are sent free to anyone in Illinois who will sign a promise to do some permanent ornamental planting within a year. The following is from circular 170, "The Illinois Way" of beautifying the Farm," by Wilhelm Miller.

"What we want in this State is an 'Illinois Way' of farm architecture and gardening. We want something better than the type we see everywhere—the wooden cliffed house, that is loaded with gingerbread, painted in a half-dozen gaudy colors, and without a single tree or shrub to reconcile it with its natural surroundings. Our first job is to build houses that will fit the prairie climate, soil, labor conditions, life and landscape.

"The Illinois farmhouse must be better adapted to our climate than the tenant house of the Corn Belt, for the winter winds sweep right through such a shell, and during our hot summers it is a regular oven. We want a house that is warm at twenty below zero, and cool during corn weather, by reason of its sleeping- or dining-porch and its overshadowing eaves or trees.

So, too, with planting: we want an 'Illinois way' of landscape gardening that will be like an old-fashioned ship—every line for use, and not a single dollar for mere show. Let us plant only what is necessary, profitable or reasonable, and the result cannot help being beautiful.

"The greatest enemy of the farmer," says Theodore Roosevelt, "is the wind." Clearly the first step then is to provide shelter from the biting winds of winter and the drying winds of summer.

"An Illinois farmer wanted to sell his farm, but could not find a buyer. The reason for this, which no one realized, was the ugly, bad-smelling barnyard right across the road from the house. One night the barn burned down, and after that the farmer sold his farm for more than he had asked before. The reason was two-fold: The unsightly barnyard was removed, and a fine view of the prairie which no one had ever seen was revealed. Can't you arrange your windbreak so that it will also act as a screen—hiding some barnyard, outbuilding, telephone wires, billboard, or advertisement-covered building? The humblest renter can at least cover the outhouse in a single season without cost, by the aid of wild cucumber vines. Wild grape or trumpet-creeper will do a better job; and anyone who has two hands, a wheelbarrow, and a spade, can dig up enough elder and sumach from the roadside to make the outbuildings decent without delay. Evergreens make ideal screens because they are effective the year round. If these are not thrifty in your locality, try lattice. This may cost something for material and labor, but it is worth it, because it hides that outbuilding or ash-heap without delay, both summer and winter.

"The salability of a property is often influenced by the first impression which the public gets of the house. If you see a house too far away, it seems mean or small; if you turn a corner and are suddenly confronted by the house, the approach is too abrupt. A house should be first seen from the point where it appears to the best advantage. Remember this when choosing a site for your new house. If the location is fixed, can't you rearrange your drive? For instance, if the house is visible too far away, curve your drive and plant the curves, so that the house will be hidden until you come to the best place for revealing it.

"A background makes all the difference between a house and a home. Your house will be twice as easy to sell if it is seen against woods or orchards rather than empty sky. If your house is already located and has no background, plant some tall-growing trees behind it. Why not plant some of the trees that reach their greatest height in the State of Illinois, e.g., the sycamore, the Linden, the sweet gum, and the tulip tree, which has gorgeous cup-like flowers, four inches across, of yellow marked with orange?

"Many of the old farmhouses in Illinois are very poor architecturally. The ideal is a new and better home; the next best thing is remodeling; but

What We See Too Often on Our Farms. A wooden building covered with meaningless ornamentation and gaudy paint, and with a single tree or shrub to make it look at home. To fit the country, a house should be long and low; this is tall and narrow—a total misfit. Country houses should not be built on city models. (This cliffed sham and firetrap cost over $15,000.)

human as the "spring," "summer," and "autumn" of life. The leaf, the branch, and the flower, as well as the general form of the plant, manifest a grace and beauty which art endeavors to copy. While art cannot take the place of Nature, it nevertheless plays an important part in teaching us to see and appreciate the beauties of Nature. After the eye has been trained to see and the mind to interpret the beauties which the eye beholds, then association with Nature produces its greatest effect.

In the artificial adornment of grounds by means of plants, Nature is our best instructor. From her we learn the uses of grass, flowers, vines, shrubs and trees, and how to combine them to the best advantage. By growing together for ages, the various classes and species of plants have developed forms, habits and requirements which enable them not only to live and thrive in harmony, but actually to assist one another.

Man should first provide for his necessities, then for comforts, and finally for pleasures. In a new country such as ours, the expenditure of time and means for the adornment of grounds has naturally received too little attention. The people have been concerned with acquiring lands and buildings. But a stage of development has now been reached when Americans should give more attention to the embellishment of their home grounds.

A Winnetka, Illinois, Residence. This house is built on horizontal lines, to repeat the great horizontal lines of land, woods, crops and clouds, which are the peculiar glory of the prairie. The hawthorn at the right is planted for the same purpose. Over 90 per cent of the plants are permanent and native to Cook County. This is the work of a new and virile school of western art, which believes in "local color." Its theme is the Cliff Dwellers' Club, in Chicago. These men no longer fear or despise the prairie; they love it, and are opening our eyes to its true wonder and beauty. Among them are Lorado Taft in sculpture, Hamlin Garland and Nicholas V. Lindley in poetry; Louis H. Sullivan and Frank Lloyd Wright in architecture; Frank C. Leyraud and Charles Francis Browne in painting; O. C. Simonds and Jens Jensen in landscape gardening.

Washing and Leaching of Manure

Farmers have been so accustomed to throw the manure from the stable in a pile in the barnyard, and leave it until it is convenient to haul it to the fields, that they do not give the matter of loss by washing and leaching any consideration. Usually but little of the value of the solids of the manure is lost in the stable, but great losses occur after it is thrown in a pile. The manure in the stable, saturated by the urine contains more than 50 per cent water. The moisture in the manure holds in solution the greater part of the plant foods which the manure contains. When the rains fall upon the manure and the water from the melted snow soaks into it, the leaching process carries away much of the soluble plant foods and it is lost beyond recovery, for it is either carried away in the water as it flows in the surface to the streams, or sinks into the ground where, for all practical purposes, it is wasted.

The Apple as Medicine

A modern scoffer has recently asked whether it would be possible that Eve yielded to the serpent because he told her that apples were good for the complexion. Whether this argument was needed or not, there is no question that it is a true one. Nothing in all our varied and fascinating range of fruits holds quite the same quality as the apple.

A raw, ripe apple at its best is digested in 35 minutes, and the malle acid which gives it its distinctive character stimulates the liver, assists digestion and neutralizes much noxious matter which, if not eliminated, produces eruptions of the skin. "They do not satisfy like potatoes," some people have said to whom they have been recommended as food; but the starch of the potato, added to the surplus of starch we are always eating, renders it undesirable as an article of too frequent consumption.

MILK PRODUCTION IN THE UNITED STATES.

The production of milk in the United States in 1915 is estimated at about 11,590,000,000 gallons; this figure is obtained by applying an estimated yield per cow of 537 gallons, as indicated by estimates made by crop correspondents of the Bureau of Crop Estimates, to the mean of the number of cows at the beginning and at the close of the year. This production is equivalent to about 115 gallons per capita, population of the United States. In the North Atlantic States the per capita production is estimated to be about 71 gallons; in the South Atlantic States 66 gallons; in the North Central States 133 gallons; in the South Central States 88 gallons; and in the far Western States 131 gallons.

nestling close to a house and making it look snug and comfortable. The common idea that oaks are slow growers and hard to transplant is true only of the white oak. The pin, the scarlet, and the red oaks are easily moved, and will soon overtake maples and other trees that are quicker at the start. They will last for centuries after the "quick-growers" are dead. Plant the trees that you know will make your property more valuable every year.

GUARDING THE WATER SUPPLY FROM CONTAMINATION

By O. M. KILE.

In thousands of farm homes, it is now possible to find up-to-date water systems, providing both hot and cold water for the bathroom, the laundry, the kitchen sink, and various other parts of the house and barn.

When a water system is once installed, the farmer and his family usually wonder how they ever managed to get along without it before, and seldom regret the cost. Yet, in spite of the comparative ease with which the average farm home can be equipped with many of these con-germs which cause these diseases ordinarily enter the water supply through surface wash or run-off following a rain.

A well can be protected from pollution of this kind by extending the tight casing or lining six or eight inches above the ground and covering with a water tight concrete curb having a slope, away from the center, in every direction. This cover should extend at least one foot beyond the edge of a dug well, and should never be less than seven feet in diameter for a driven well. A drain trough should, of course, be provided to catch the drip and convey it away to a safe distance. An open drain passing around the well at a distance of four or five feet from the curb and leading off to the drain ditch will help prevent the entrance of surface waters that wash down from a higher point.

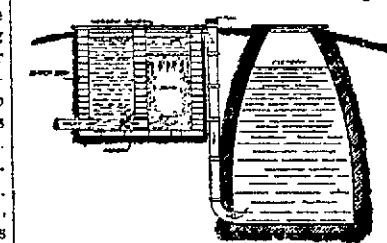

In many cases, however, the difficulty is of a more serious nature. The stratification of the clay, gravel, and rocks through which the well is sunk, may be such as to cause percolating water from a nearby source of infection to be lead directly into the well. In other instances the soil surrounding the well may become so thoroughly and so constantly saturated with polluted seepage waters that it will no longer perform its function as a filter, and germ-laden waters are allowed to pass into the well. For these reasons the location of the well is of prime importance.

Considered from the standpoint of convenience, the well should be located as near the kitchen as possible. But whenever such location would involve any danger of contamination due to surface drainage or to an inadequate kitchen sewerage disposal system, a location on higher ground and above this source of contamination should be selected. Select a site where drainage and seepage from barnyards, stock pens, and manure pits lead away from the well rather than toward it.

Driven and drilled wells are much safer than dug wells, not only because the former are usually sunk to a greater depth but because they are lined with an impervious metal casing which prevents the entrance of percolating surface waters. Dug wells, however, be lined with concrete (or brick in concrete) casing and are thereby greatly improved.

In certain sections potable underground waters are hard to obtain and cisterns must be constructed to collect and store rain water for drinking purposes. When the cistern is properly constructed and kept properly cleaned, stored rain is very acceptable for drinking purposes and certainly quite desirable for the laundry. Regarding the construction and arrangement of the cistern, a prominent authority, Robert W. Trullinger, states as follows:

"The cistern should be of water-tight construction, to prevent leakage and to prevent pollution from neighboring soil. It should have an overflow drain and a tight cover. There should also be suitable provision for straining or filtering the water previous to its entrance to the cistern.

"Concrete is probably the most sanitary and durable material for cisterns. In general, the walls and floor should be 6 or 8 inches thick and well reinforced and the concrete should be carefully proportioned and mixed. A mixture of one part cement to 2 or 2 1/2 parts of clean, sharp sand and 4 or 5 parts of clean and fairly small crushed rock or gravel is satisfactory for fairly water-tight concrete. The inside surface should be coated with a 1 to 2 cement mortar."

Fighting Moths With Parasites

Over 12,000,000 specimens of two parasites which prey on the gipsy moth and brown-tail moth were released in 201 towns in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island during the fall of 1914 and spring of 1915, according to the annual report of the Bureau of Entomology, United States Department of Agriculture.

As a result of the successful establishment of colonies of these and other parasites which feed on the gipsy and brown-tail moths, marked progress is being made in reducing these pests. Effective co-operation is being afforded by the States, which carry on as much work as possible within the infested areas, thus allowing the Federal authorities to carry on field work along the outer border of infestation, so as to retard the gipsy moth's spread.

MEASURES OF FARM EFFICIENCY.

There are certain factors on which the success of a farm business usually depends. From these it is usually possible to determine not only the good points in a system of farming but also its deficiencies. The latter being known, the method of improving the system becomes evident.

On a great majority of farms, success is primarily dependent on three important factors. These are (1) the size of the farm business; (2) the yields of the crops and the returns per animal, representing the quality of the farm business; and (3) the diligence and the city, the vegetables must usually be planted as closely as the nature of their growth will permit.

WHERE INSECTS PASS THE WINTER.

The tiny black eggs on the stems and along the mid ribs of green strawberry leaves are those of the strawberry root louse. The apple aphid winters in the same way. Its eggs become found around the crotches, buds and crevices in twigs. The winter application of lime and sulphur kills many of these latter eggs.

ARRANGING AND PLANTING THE VEGETABLE GARDEN

By J. W. LLOYD.

The size of the garden will depend primarily upon the amount of land available. On the farm, where any amount of land the owner desires can be reserved for a garden, vegetables to be stored for winter as well as the summer supply, should be grown. On the village lot, space may be insufficient to grow more than the summer's supply, and it may also be necessary to leave out certain vegetables that require a large amount of space. On a city lot, the space available for growing vegetables is necessarily small, and plantings must usually be confined to those vegetables growing of some of the more exacting crops. Whatever the space to be devoted to gardening, the crops to be grown should be decided upon long before the time of planting.

In planning the garden, it is well to arrange the vegetables in the order in which they are to be planted. This facilitates the preparation of the land for planting, and makes it possible to maintain the unplanted portion in a good friable condition with the least expenditure of labor. In order that the vegetables may be so arranged, it is necessary to know the proper time for planting each crop. This depends primarily upon the temperature and moisture requirements of the particular crop in question.

The arrangement of the garden as to length of rows and time of planting, is not the only labor-saving feature that should characterize the typical farmer's garden. Field methods should be practiced in preparing the land for planting, and as much preliminary work done in the fall as is possible, for the sake of both securing an early garden and reducing the amount of labor in spring. After the land is cleared of refuse from preceding crops, it should be heavily manured, and plowed in the fall. The amount of manure to be applied will depend somewhat upon the fertility of the land, but more largely upon the truthness of the farmer's conception of the plant food requirements of garden crops. The best gardens are possible only where plant food is supplied much more liberally than is considered ample for field crops. Forty tons of manure per acre is a very moderate application for garden crops, and this amount should be applied annually, even on soils already rich, if maximum crops of vegetables are to be grown.

The plowing under of manure in the fall hastens the drying out of the soil in the spring, so that planting may begin earlier than if the manuring and plowing were deferred until spring. This is both because the soil actually dries out earlier, and also because no time is lost in manuring or plowing after the soil has reached workable condition. It often happens that early crops should be planted, the soil remains in ideal condition for working only a brief period, and then becomes so thoroughly wet by copious rains that further garden work is precluded for two or three weeks. If the manuring and plowing have been done in the fall, it is often possible to plant the early vegetables in the brief period during which the soil is fit to work, while otherwise this entire period might be expended in making preparations, and the actual planting necessarily deferred until the next time the soil was dry.

If the land has been manured and plowed in the fall, and is worked at the proper time in spring, very little labor is necessary in the preparation of a seed-bed for the early planting. Soil containing sufficient humus to grow vegetable crops advantageously, can be fitted for planting without the use of hand tools, if the precaution is taken to work it at the exact time it reaches the right degree of dryness. It will then crumble readily, and a seed-bed can be prepared by the use of a disk, harrow and plow. The use of these tools saves an enormous amount of labor, and is a vast improvement over the old method of using only a hoe and rake.

veniences, how often do we find the country household still depending upon the distant spring, the open well, or at best the out-of-doors lift pump, to supply the hundreds of tons of water required for each household every year?

Inquiry usually develops the fact that the old methods are still retained for one or the other of the following reasons: namely, the cost of sewer systems is assumed to be prohibitive, or else the possibilities of fully utilizing the existing water supply have never been carefully explained and brought to the farmers' notice.

So well it is known that many serious diseases are transmitted to human beings through the water supply, that certain of these diseases come to be called "water-borne" diseases. Chief among the diseases of this type are typhoid fever, dysentery and other intestinal disorders. The

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 23.—Rain reports from the southwest tended today to weaken the wheat market. After opening 1/2c lower to a shade advance, with May at $1.05 1/2 to $1.06 1/2, and July at $1.07 1/2 to $1.08 1/2, prices rallied to a moderate extent but then underwent another sag.

The close was weak, 1/2c@1/4c net lower, with May at $1.05 and July at $1.06 1/2.

Corn weakened with wheat opening prices, which ranged from 1/4c@1/2c off to a sixteenth up, and were followed by something of a recovery and later by a fresh decline.

The close was weak at 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 net decline.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, March 23.—Mexican affairs again projected themselves into the stock market at the opening today over night news from across the border finding reflection in the heaviness of American Smelting and Mexican Petroleum, while the balance of the active list was firm to strong. United States Smelting and Refining, a newcomer on the local board, opened with 1,900 shares at 69 1/2, a substantial fractional gain over yesterday's close in as much or more were recorded by Crucible Steel, New York Airbrake, American Zinc, Marine preferred and U. S. Steel. Bolls were inactive but generally higher.

Prices continued to improve until more urgent selling of the Mexican group caused general unsettlement. Mexican Petroleum broke sharply, falling over five points to 10 1/2, and American Smelting and Green-Cannana fell a point or more. There was heaviness also among high priced specialties, Bethlehem Steel losing four at 50, American Smelt Iron at 180 and tobacco products, preferred, 3 1/2 at 10 1/2. Munitions and equipment were only moderately affected and investments were comparatively firm. Lack of public interest constituted the chief restraining influence. Mexicans made partial recovery at midday. Bolls were steady.

HUSBAND FOLLOWS EXAMPLE OF WIFE

Mrs. and Mrs. William Hess
Both Are Relieved of Trouble by Tanlac.

Mrs. William Hess, wife of the assistant foreman at the Fort Wayne Electric Works, who lives at 725 High street, recently testified to the relief both she and her husband have gained through the use of Tanlac, the Master Medicine. Mrs. Hess said:

"For the last two years I have suffered from kidney trouble. I'd always have a tired feeling in the morning and night after I'd do my washing I'd have terrible pains in my back."

"Mr. Hess had catarrh of the head. Droppings of mucus in his throat bothered him and he also had choking spells. The tired feeling I formerly experienced each morning began to disappear while I was using the first bottle of Tanlac. I do not have pains in my back at all now and in fact, I'm feeling fine in every way."

"When I improved so rapidly Mr. Hess decided to try Tanlac and his catarrh is very much better since he has taken the medicine."

"I'm glad of the chance to recommend Tanlac because it certainly did help my husband and myself."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, and the like and is a reconstructive tonic and system purifier required by hundreds of people during the spring season.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Fort Wayne at the Wayne and Calhoun streets store of the Meyer Drug Co., where the Tanlac Man is explaining the new remedy. It also may be obtained at the other Meyer stores, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun, and Broadway and Taylor.—Advertisement.

SHERIFF CHAMPIONS PUGILIST IN COURT

A. C. Gladieux Says He is
Alleged Thief.

Sheriff A. C. Gladieux produced something of a sensation in the city court, Thursday morning, when he demanded that a continuance be granted in the case of Robert J. Dawson, of Monroeville, who was under arrest on a charge of assault and battery and confronted with the prospect of another warrant charging grand larceny.

"I want a square deal for this man," said the sheriff.

"Everybody gets a square deal in this court," observed Judge H. W. Weyland.

"There is no reason to suppose he won't get a square deal and complete justice," said Deputy Prosecutor John C. Hoffman. "What is it you want?"

"I want a continuance and an opportunity for the man to get a lawyer," said the sheriff.

Thereupon, the hearing was continued until Friday morning and Dawson's bond was fixed at $200.

Dawson, who is 24 years old and describes himself as a pugilist, has been more or less in the limelight for two weeks as a result of his marriage in the court house here, March 4, to Lucile Taylor, a 15-year-old girl of Monroeville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Taylor, of that town. A few days after the marriage Mrs. Taylor came to Fort Wayne and sought to have Dawson arrested and he was under police detention for a time, but no occasion could be found for placing him under charges. It was thought that a charge either of criminal assault or perjury might be established, but it was found that his young bride had represented herself to be 18 years old. Dawson was said to be wanted in Monroeville on a warrant sworn out by another young woman charging perjury, but it was learned no such affidavit had been filed and Sheriff Gladieux, into whose custody Dawson was given, turned him loose.

On Wednesday Mrs. Bert Taylor, mother of the young Mrs. Dawson, and Joseph Karker, father of the other Monroeville girl whose name is connected with Dawson's, came to Fort Wayne. Mrs. Taylor in another attempt to get her daughter to return home, and Karker to take steps for Dawson's arrest on a charge of stealing $500 from him. Mrs. Taylor and Karker met Dawson and his wife on Calhoun street, near Chestnut, and during a wordy set-to Karker sought to help Mrs. Taylor to get the girl away from her husband. Dawson struck out and landed hard on Mrs. Taylor's jaw. The pugilist says he tried to hit Karker, who dodged and let Mrs. Taylor receive the blow. Later Dawson was arrested and locked up.

Chief of Police Charles Lenz and Police Matron Fannie M. Wink had the 15-year-old Karker girl at headquarters for interrogation and after she had related her original story that a big red-headed man wearing a mask had entered her father's home and at the point of a revolver compelled her to give up the $500 that was stolen, she weakened and confessed to the chief that it was Dawson who had taken the money and that she and Dawson expected to use it to run away and get married.

The Karker girl says that Dawson told her that he cared nothing for the Taylor girl and knew nothing about it. He said somebody had duped a glass of cider with cocaine and gave it to him and that while under the influence of the narcotic he came to Fort Wayne and was wed. Dawson's wife has insisted on sticking to her husband. She was at headquarters Thursday and was a pitiful picture. She is becoming emaciated and seemed to be plunged in the depths of melancholy.

An affidavit has been filed against Dawson charging grand larceny and he probably will be arraigned on that charge directly in the circuit court. The Karker girl made a new confession, Thursday morning, to Chief Lenz, Prosecuting Attorney Frank A. Eulick and Matron Wink, stating that she and Dawson together stole the $500 belonging to her father and had intended to go to Michigan to be married. She also confessed her relations with Dawson, but refused to sign an affidavit against him for criminal assault, though her father may do so. The girl is not yet 19 years old.

During the forenoon Mrs. Dawson and the Karker girl, rivals for the affections of the precious roughneck who appears to have with tolerable completeness wrecked the lives of both, were brought face to face at police headquarters, but had little to say to each other. Young Mrs. Dawson was in a state of utter dejection, but refused to return home to Monroeville with her mother, saying she had provisions in her room to get along for awhile. Her cash assets consisted of one dime, but her room-rent was paid for two weeks, she said.

Other City Court Cases.

John Lee, not the eminent Mr. Xaver Sweet Lee, was fined $5 for drunkenness. Tom Fitzgerald, another drunk, was turned loose.

The case against Henry E. Hill for assault and battery on Ed Hanly, who was struck by Hill's jitney six weeks ago at the transfer corner, was continued until April 29 and he was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

The charge of disorderly conduct against William Rayburn was dismissed by the prosecutor. It was lodged two weeks ago when Rayburn, whose case produced a sensation, was arrested as an insane person. He has been declared sane by the circuit court and is now en route to the home of a son in California.

GARRETT NEWS.

Garrett, Ind., March 23.—Word was received in this city last evening that Mrs. Gustaf McDonald, wife of Dr. Gustaf McDonald, had passed away at noon Tuesday at their home in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. They were formerly residents of this city. Mrs. McDonald having spent the greater part of her life here and will be remembered by many as Miss Gustaf McDonald. Dr. McDonald was an employee of the B. & O. for many years, but after the death of his first wife, Mrs. Lillian McDonald, he entered the Indianapolis Veterinary college and after graduating located at Wabashville. Dr. McDonald and Miss McDonald were married four years ago and he took his bride to his new home at the latter named place. After residing there three years he concluded to go to Iowa in hopes that the climatic change would be beneficial to his wife's rapidly failing health. However, they have been there but one year, and her decline was rapid after the change. Besides the husband Mrs. McDonald leaves two step-sons, Kenneth and Howard, aged 13 and 11, respectively, to whom she had been a most devoted mother. She also leaves an aged mother, one sister and two brothers. The body will be brought to this city Thursday evening and will be taken to the home of Mr. McDonald's sister, Mrs. W. E. Black, of North Caven street, and the funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Methodist church, of which she was a member in Cedar Rapids. During her life in this city Mrs. McDonald was very active in church and lodge work and her death has been a great shock to her innumerable friends.

The fifteenth anniversary of the Athena club of this city was celebrated in a most fitting manner Monday evening when the ladies entertained their husbands at a banquet at the Ueber hotel. Places were laid for fifty and the affair was carried out as all of this club's excellent entertaining affairs are. The committee in charge of the banquet were: Mesdames H. W. Mount, J. H. Zook, Abbie Lynn, Kate Snyder and L. B. Hart and they left nothing undone that would add to the pleasure of the occasion. The following toasts were given: "Club Foremost," Mrs. J. F. Thomson; "reading," Mrs. A. F. Haller; "libraries," D. B. Van Fleet; "Ear Marks of Literature," Mrs. B. A. Byers; "Dickens as a Humorist," Mrs. L. S. Zerkle; "The Doctor in Literature," Dr. M. E. Klingler; monologue, Mrs. H. L. Whelley; "John Ruskin," Rev. W. A. Wilson; "Art in Literature," Mrs. N. A. Preston; Attorney J. D. Brinkhoff and Rev. Charles Tinkham were allowed to select their own subjects. Each and every number was excellent and it was indeed a delightful "anniversary."

How To Make The Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better Than The Ready-Made Cough Syrup

This homemade cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds, is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough quickly. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma, and winter coughs.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), put it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 54 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50. Mix in a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

You will be pleasantly surprised how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in vitamin, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and don't accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system which maintains it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and acts in the blood. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle. Mailed in Family Pills for the cure.
